LOCAL MARKET.

London, Monday, July 17. The majority of the farmers are busy t their hay, and will be all week. There fore those who are in want of hay and oats will find it a difficult task to secure a supply, at least for the balance of the Six loads of hay were on the stand: all were new hay; sales were brisk, at 7 per ton; about a dozen or more loads of both old and new could have been sold had they been offered.

A couple of leads of straw sold at $550 per ton. load of oats were offered, which Mr. D. McIntyre purchased a deek load of live hogs, paying $6 per cwt for selects.

It is expected there will be a good supply of raspberries at the market tomorrow, and it is expected that there will be a good demand.

There is however, absolutely no reliable in is, however, absolutely no reliable information that any larger return will be made to stockholders. The Harriman stocks, such as Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, continue to be moderately active, and display a very firm underton. Sentiment in Steels favors higher prices, all advices in regard to the steel trade condition being very encouraging. That money will work somewhat higher in the near future is more than probable, but rates are not expected to advance sufficiently to cause liquidation in the stock market. Sales to noon were 25,000 shares.

KITCHEN ECONOMY

There is triple economy in using Strong's Baking Powder: 2. It goes about twice as far.
3. It gives uniformly good results.
The amount of money lost in one "spoiled" baking, through the use of impure powder, would pay the entire cost of Strong's Baking Powder for several months. This powder is always pure, fresh and full of strength, hence you can always depend upon it producing uniform results. Price, Zc a pound.

ELMER STEWART FETHERSTON the Boyle memorial medal offered for Princess avenue school at the high school entrance, is a son of Mr. J. W. Fetherston, of Queen's avenue. This is the second time a Boyle medal has been won by a member of Mr. Fetherston's family, Howard having taken it in 1901. It is a coincidence also that both Eimer the Barber agent, the witness replied. "I am representing the ratepayers on the street, not the Barbers," said Mr. Judd. "This voluntary information from you doesn't look good." Mr. Fallahe had not been to his house more than twice. It is a coincidence also that both Elmer and Howard won the medal at the close

BOTH WRISTS BROKEN

Workman Meets With a Serious Accident This Morning.

A painful accident of a peculiar nature befell David Greenside, of 99 Clarence street, at the McClary works at the foot of Adelaide street, this morning. He was employed in the building operations which are in progress, and was working upon a roof. Leaning over a little too far in the course of his operations, Greenside lost his balance and fell into the basement, two stories beneath.

"Did you ever meet Mr. McKendrick?"
"Who's he? The Barber agent?" the witness asked.
"Now, now, don't go too far with your innocence," Mr. Judd sarcastically warned the witness.

What He Wanted.

In spiral for bitulithic he said the his balance and fell into the basement, two stories beneath.

Since the basement is paved with cement, it is a wonder that the man is still alive. Dr. W. J. Stevenson was called, and found that both wrists were broken, and that Greenside was badly bruised on the body. The man was partially unconscious. He was removed to his home, however, and is now getting along all right. The fact that the man landed upon his hands doubtless saved his life.

In signing for bitulithic he said the people wanted a roadway similar to that on Talbot street, as they liked it. They wanted the best possible pavement for the least money.

"If you could get a roadway built like this $19,000 cheaper than the Warrens would build it, that's the road you wanted." Mr. Judd queried.

"Yes," answered the witness.

Mr. Meredith then questioned Mr. his life.

He had not represented to the people that the $2.20 per yard would include the cost of the curb and gutter. He had not mentioned the curb and gutter except at the meeting of the ratenayers. at the meeting of the ratepayers which was held in the Western Hotel.

Mr. H. M. Douglass was chairman of this meeting. At this meeting he had told the people that the roadway alone would cost not more than $2 20 a yard. would cost not more than $2 20 a yard. would cost not more than $2 20 a yard.
As to the curb and gutter he could give no price, as he did not know whether or not his company would lay it. He had not been at Hugh Douglass' house more than five times in connection with the roadway. He wanted Mr. Douglass to do all he could to get the roadway through He Ridgeway, South London; John Paw-litsky, for a stable on McClary avenue. NEW APPOI-TMENTS.

When Mr. Fallahe approached him with the bituithic petition he had told him he was in favor of it because he liked Talbot street. He did not remember of any document from the city engineer being read.

"No."
"Did you see any representative of Mr. the Warren Company outside of Mr Fallahe?"
"No."

"Have you had any conversation with anybody in regard to any consideer being read.

Mr. Fallahe had told the people at the meeting that the pavement would cost $2 20 a yard, not including the curb and gutter.

"Did he say that?" asked Mr. Judd.

"I think he did."

"Don't think—we have too many witnesses who swear that he did not mention the curb and gutter."
"Well, I won't swear it, then," Mr. Lashbrook replied. "You are one of the men Mr. Doug-

"Do you remember what took place? "No, I do not." "Here Mr. Meredith objected.

"My learned friend, I think, is going too far. These are not antagonistic witnesses," he said. "I don't know about that," said Mr. Judd sarcastically.
"Did you ever have any talk with anyone as to the payment of your assessment for this pavement, as as to consideration of any kind?"

Mr. Meredith then took the witness in hand. "Your opinion in favor of bitulithic is an honest one?" he asked. "You have not been influenced by any consideration except that you think bitulithic pavement is the best pavement?" "Yes," replied Mr. Lashbrook. "My opinion is honest."

Other Witnesses.

The next witness was Mr. William Pudney, tinsmith, of Richmond street. He had received a notice from the assessment commissioner telling him the pavement would cost him $10 a year for 10 years. There had been absolutely no agreement indirectly with anybody in regard to the payment of his frontage. "I expect to pay it myself," Mr. Pudney said emphatically.

"No promise had been made to you, directly or indirectly in regard to compensation for signing the petition "No." Ex-Ald. O'Meara was next called. At the Western Hotel, he said, he had been told the Warren pavement would cost $2 20 a yard, but he could not say whether this included the curb and gutter. He had voted at this meeting petition being circulated. He had not signed any petition. He had favored any pavement the majority of the people wanted. This concluded his cyidence.

anyway.

Mr. Thomas Lewis had signed for bitulithic. Neither Mr. Fallahe nor Mr. Douglass had brought the petition to him to be signed. He was that the cost of the pavement before he signed for it. He had not had any best St. Marys granite. He remembered the Western Hotel he understood the the mentioning of granite from the fact that an argument had sprung up at the meeting as to whether there is any granite at St. Marys. Mr. Fallahe had not approached him in regard to promoting the pavement for the lithic brought to him by Mr. Fallahe. lithic brought to him by Mr. Fallahe. In signing the petition he had been governed by a statement of the city engineer that the pavement would not exceed in cost 46 cents a foot of frontage. He thought Talbot street a firstclass roadway and he preferred the bitulithic to asphalt.

Superintendent King was seen by The Advertiser this afternoon. "To me the matter does not appear at all serious," he said. "There is at all serious," he said. "There is no grievance on our part, and we know of none on the part of the men. The situation is simply this: Saturday the molders of the seven city shops held a picnic. All the shops, with the exception of ours, worked part of the way. We had asked some of our men to svork the morning and lay off in the afternoon, but they refused.
