> William J. Green Gave P. C McCrae a Real Fight.

William J. Green, a plumber residing in the East End, was found guilty this morning by Deputy Magistrate Graydon of assaulting P. C. Malcolm McCrae last night, and remanded for a week for sentence. According to the policeman's story, Green's wife complained about her husband's conduct, and when P. C. McCrae went up to see Green, the prisoner said the officer couldn't arrest him. "No policeman can arrest me," said Green. "You are all a bunch of farmers working for $1.25 a day."

P. C. McCrae started to take Green away, and Green then jumped at him and fought so flercely that the constable's new tunic was completely ruined. The coat is valued at $16.50.

"You will have to buy a new tunic." said the court." In hight send.

Mexicans and Three America Were Left to Stop Federal Advance.

Douglas, Ariz., April 19.—The rebel defeat at Agua Prieta was attributed to the over-indulgence of the insurrecto soldiers in intoxicating liquors found in the saloons and stores of the captured city, according to Col. Juan Medina, commander in charge of the rebel forces, who fled into the city and surrendered to the United States troops. He says that instead of carrying out his orders to destroy the liquor in the town, the men drank it, and only 400 were really fighting. Garcia's men were in even worse condition, and only 400 were really fighting. Garcia's men were in even worse condition, and only 400 were really fighting. Garcia's men were in even worse condition, and only 400 were really fighting. He would be stated to the city to bring up horor men, but before he got back, the federals had seized his position.

"Informed of this," contigued Colonel Medina, "I gave orders for our troops to mount their horses and prepare to evacata the city. At this point a man with a shattered hip appealed to me for help, I picked him up and started towards the line. The United States patrol had been moved to the horder line. Just beyond this line American soldiers arrested metals.

Work in St. Thomas. Mrs. S. F. Glass told of the work

The price of street cleaning has been that is being done in St. Thomas. The price of street cleaning has been fixed at 5 cents in residential districts and 7 cents a foot for the downtown, or business section.

At the meeting of the finance committee last evening, it was decided to recommend this price for the work.

Deputy Engineer Wright had a voluminous report on the subject, and he explained that the work could be done for that amount of money, provided the city took care of the intersections.

There they have systematized the work splendidy," said Mrs. Glass.

"The chief of police has given every agsistance, and has recently permitted chloroform to be kept in his office, so that now as soon as any horse gets in bad shape, or a dog or other animal. plained that the work could be done for that howoms of money, provided the city took care of the intersections.

The work will be done by "white wings" throughout the whole city, or rather throughout the district covered by permanent pavements.

"It has been demonstrated beyond question that this work can be done just as cheaply and much more satisfactorily by day labor, or 'white wings,' than by machinery,' Ald, Stevenson explained, "I think we should adopt that scheme. It is done everywhere, and has been shown to be most satisfactory. Then we will have the work done properly. The people will not object to the expenditure, but they want the work done well."
