STRESSES VALUE

Rev. P. J. Howard Concludes Forty Hours Devotion Service at St. Martin's Church.

The forty hours devotion services held in St. Martin's Church, South London, closed on Friday night, when very large congregation heard the v. P. J. Howard of Assumption Colge, Sandwich, speak on "The Value of

The world, he said, was never more material in its outlook than at the present time. He noticed in the young ople especially a tendency to boast a lentific viewpoint. The philosophy of today is one of coolly reasoned materialism, which he pointed out was more a fault of the rich than of the The Bible has become a book of fairy stories from ancient history, ife after death is hardly believed any longer, and even the divinity of Christ himself largely discredited.

The preacher voiced the belief that the remedy for this state of things lay in the strengthening of all the best in ces of the home. Home, he said, is the origin of all character, the boy is father of the man and the finest ideals are those taught at the fireside of a good home. The supreme influence in the home is the veman. A good wife is to a home what the sun is to the earth; under her kind ly spirit the young lives grow and blossom, and he urged every husband to love and cherish the dear woma who was the queen of his home.

Father Howard pointed out that was the natural thing for a wife to want to hold her husband's love, and that she should endeavor to do so retaining all her fascination, and by keeping herself well and neatly dressed. ousy he deplored as one of the nost unfortunate signs of the times. an extremely unnecessary passion, and ne that could only lead to unhappiness. happy home is the basis of all true Christian life. It is the duty of everyone, fathers, mothers and children, to do everything in their power to pre their home as a palace of love. Father Howard thanked the congregation for the kind hospitality shown him during his stay in London.

Rumor Turkey Dinners To Be Scarce For Thanksgiving

IN YEARS of yore each and every turkey in the length and breadth of Canada, shivered in his boots for weeks before Thanksgiving Day as he dread-ed the national emblem of that day-the axe; but this year for some reason, the noble gobble has been spared this ignomin ious end; and very few of his fellows have been slain to feed the homes of the country on Thanksgiving Day. Less than 100 turkeys were on the local market this morning due to the farmers' thinktoo early to kill these birds for consumption.

The price of turkeys is high, and perhaps this is a reason for a poor demand. A large wholesale dealer in poultry reports that the supof turkeys for Thanksgiv ing Day is exceptionally small this year, and considers this as an indication that on Monday the good people of London will London Teachers Greatly Impressed With Visit to Windsor.

Special subjects, such as music and art, can be taught more effectively by special teachers, as in the Windsor schools under the rotary system of classification, according to the majority of London teachers who inspected the Border City schools Friday. The local teachers, more than 200 in number, are unanimous in their opinion that their visit to Windsor, as a portion of the program of the annual fall gathering of the Lon-don Teachers' Institute, was a most profitable one. They were afforded an excellent opportunity to view the rotary system of classification at it's best and in full operation.

The big feature that impressed itself upon the delegates was, Inspector V. K.
