SECOND RECTOR

Rev. John Hale Took Charge.

The outposts of a century ago, changing into the centers of today, have left further room for development. In nothing is that more evident than in a study of the churches of the city. Every large city church has behind it the history of a mis-sion, and a circle of small mission oosts about the city now is evidence greater development to come as city passes its present borders still wider expansions. Today's double-header starts at 2:30 It may mean the Tecs getting off the delivery of Lefty Woo Flint profited by 14 straight wins against the Kazoos. Nobody should be of 10 to 2.

Two smart double plays discouraged possible Kazoo rallies yesterday. Make no mistake, the Kazoos are in their fighting, no matter how bad the start.

Jim Pierce lost a passed ball yesterday in the 5th, but it didn't mean anything. He broke a thumb here the last time out and played with it, so it doesn't mean much. Becker is the mainstay of the Kazoo outfield. He's there hitting and he's in there all the time trying to inject pep. He didn't inject hits yesterday but he was robbed on two occasions, especially when the chief dived after his liner and then rolled over twice coming up with the ball while Becker blew bubbles.

Incidentally, the Kazoos don't look so awful defensively around the infield. Naleway should strengthen the inner works up.

It looks as if there as a lot of ball players around the Kazoo camp suffering from first series hangover, and once they get going they'll be a ball club.

made things more interesting. Jack Ryan, who backstopped for the New York Giants, Washington Senators and other major league clubs during his long career, is planning on bolstering the Muskegon Anglers, who come here Monday, for the second half dash. Up Monday, for the second half dash to the present he has been acting scout for the St. Louis Browns, a connection there will enable him the players he wants without trouble. He intends to insert a third baseman in place of the a Stutz, a new pitcher and a new nodder into the line-up at once.

Muskegon has already announced the release of two players, Bob Banker, University of Illinois pitcher, who was sent to the Anglers from the Chicago White Sox, and Fowler, a catcher, from semi-pro ranks, who found the Mint a little too classy. Pitcher Sam Wernke, who was reported released and signed by Grand Rapids, has been ordered to report back to Muskegon, it appearing that he was let out by Pisher after he had been deposed as leader. Therefore the release was illegal. Wernke is a good pitcher, and will probably go well for the Anglers from now on. release of two players, Bob Banker.
