

EXHIBITION IS OPENED

Lieutenant-Governor and Premier McBride in Attendance at Inauguration of Provincial Fair Yesterday

Under conditions that cannot be described as other than ideal, Victoria's annual exhibition opened yesterday. The Lieutenant-Governor and Premier McBride, accompanied by a large number of dignitaries, were present at the ceremony which, in a formal way, set the wheels in motion. The crowd was not specially large, but it was quite good as is expected on a first day. President Toimie and Secretary Hanger, are confident that, with a continuance of the glorious weather which ushered in the event, the grounds will be thronged every day and night until the gates are closed on Saturday and Victoria Island 1911 show has gone down into history.

With a splendid lot of exhibits, of an agricultural, industrial and commercial character in the different buildings, a plethora of side attractions, among which might be mentioned especially the horse, boating, and other sports, a parade of exceptionally fine stock, to say nothing of choice musical programmes furnished by the Boy Scout and Fifth Regiment Band, these present did not lack for entertainment.

Normal Opening
At about 2:30 o'clock the Boy Scouts, in which are represented corps from different sections of the city, formed a guard of honor for His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Paterson, Premier McBride, Hon. Price Ellison, minister of agriculture, His Worship Mayor Morley, Dr. S. Toimie, president of the British Columbia Agricultural Society, and Alderman H. M. Fullerton, a member of the board of management. The distinguished party was escorted through the exhibition grounds and buildings by President Toimie and Doctor Fullerton, the Lieutenant-Governor, the Premier, and the others expressing themselves as delighted at the excellence of the displays, especially commenting on the district exhibits, which were characterized as of astonishing quality in view of the earliness of the season.

Walking to the grand stand the dignitaries passed between the lines of the Boy Scouts, inspecting the various corps and remarking on their smart appearance. The band meanwhile played "God Save the King." The arrival at the stand, where had assembled a large number of spectators, was the signal for a few bars of the National Anthem from the Fifth Regiment band. The Lieutenant-Governor, the Premier, and the others were delivered, Dr. Toimie, as the association's president, first introducing the Lieutenant-Governor.

Governor's Address
In his opening remarks Hon. Mr. Paterson referred to the fact that as he was identified with the local agricultural association for a number of years, he was in a position to appreciate that what was contained in the buildings had not been assembled easily. The show, he thought, taking it all round, was one of the best of which Victoria had ever been able to boast. It represented, he knew, months of hard work, and he wished to take the opportunity to congratulate those responsible. The exhibitors also should be given their share of the credit. Many of them were in the habit of coming to Victoria year after year, and their faithful patronage should be acknowledged. He stated that it was up to the people of Victoria to evince their appreciation of the time and money expended in the preparation of the fair by attending in large numbers; by making it a point to swell the gate receipts to such an extent that it would be possible for the officials to declare a surplus—something which they had been unable to do for some years.

The exhibition, he affirmed, meant to Victoria than many appeared to realize. He took occasion also to congratulate the Boy Scouts on their attractive appearance, referring to the sentiment as one that was worthy of the devoted support of the community, because of the good that it was working among the growing generations. He then formally declared, amid applause, the Victoria Exhibition of 1911 to be open.

Premier's Remarks
There was little more to be said, Premier McBride declared, after the observations of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. As one of the city's representatives in the provincial parliament, however, he thought that he might be permitted a few minutes. He dwelt on the show's educational value. Frequently such events were instrumental in laying bare latent mines of wealth. Some of those who lived in the centres in which such exhibitions took place were apt to look upon them as mere perfunctory performances. In his opinion they should not be considered. They more than repaid the time exhausted in their preparation and the money expended in the same way. There was no place which lent itself so readily to the collection of an exhibition of an attractive nature than British Columbia. Its resources were so diversified. There were the mines, the lumber and the farms. Besides, the people were intelligent and hard working. Therefore there was everything essential for the assembly of a show worth while.

From what he had seen he wished to observe that the show measured well up to what had gone before. All that was required to ensure success was that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor had referred to, namely, the sympathy and the support of the public. He wished to appeal to the people to turn out in record numbers, thereby showing their appreciation of what had been prepared for them and assist the officers in achieving the goal which they had set for themselves—a real financial success.

Referring to the military appearance of the Boy Scouts, he said that he had seen their fellows on parade in the Old Country, the occasion being a review by Lord Roberts, and it had been one of the most impressive sights of the Coronation ceremonies. While there he also had had the honor of renewing acquaintance with General Baden-Powell, the originator of the movement, who had been a visitor to this city a few months ago. He had told him that it was his intention to tour Australia this winter and that on route he would pass through Victoria. Premier McBride felt sure that here he would find the banner corps of the Dominion. (Applause.) He concluded by expressing appreciation at the opportunity given him to speak on such an occasion and of again bespeaking a generous patronage from Victoria's public. (Applause.)

Credit to Island
Hon. Price Ellison, Minister of Agriculture, was glad to see that Vancouver Island could do in the preparation of an exhibition. While inspecting the various displays he had paid particular attention to the fruit and was agreeably surprised to note that despite the earliness of the season, the fruit was in such good condition that the show this season was so early in comparison with previous years, this department was well represented by splendid high-class assortments. He ventured the opinion that if what was on the benches here were shown in other parts of Canada it would cause amazement among the fanciers. He drew attention to the sensation made by the small collections of fruit, entered by British Columbia at the Royal Horticultural show. If such exhibits had such an effect in the old land, he felt at a loss to imagine how the fruit shown here would be received if it were possible to transfer it. He commended the display of the Vancouver Island Development league, declaring that it was remarkable index into the island's resources. Concluding, he, too, spoke of the necessity of public support being accorded the show. It was just what the people made it, then, he said. He hoped that there would be large attendances throughout the week and that the management would have good news when the gates were closed on the last day.

Dr. Toimie Complimented
His Worship Mayor Morley devoted the major part of his address to a reference to the fact that there had been a new departure, brought about to some extent through his efforts, in the personnel of the agricultural association. In the past the mayor had been president ex-officio. He had realized that this should not be, that there was one individual who was better entitled to the office, by virtue of years of unremitting service. He referred to Dr. Simon Toimie. He had long been considered as the backbone of the exhibition. In making this statement he did not wish to detract in any way from the efforts of the various secretaries, especially to those of the present occupant of the office, Mr. George Sangster, than whom there could not be found a more efficient officer. (Applause.) But still it was Dr. Toimie who spread the news of Victoria's fair from east to west and it was to him that a great deal of the credit for what had been accomplished would have to go. Therefore, Dr. Toimie had been elected president and he was confident that the innovation would be found to work to the benefit of the association and of the district which the exhibition represented. He wished Victorians to rise to the occasion and to give the new president and those associated with him the support which their efforts warranted. (Applause.)

His Worship Mayor Morley said that he usually had difficulty in delivering an address in public, but that the mayor had "fixed him altogether." It was pleasing to note that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier McBride, Hon. Mr. Ellison, and His Worship Mayor Morley, who had been so pleased with what they had seen, the agricultural association, he said, always endeavored to make a feature of the agricultural and the industrial end of the fair. In his opinion there was no doubt that the district displays of this year were among the progress which the farming districts around Victoria have made during the past few years. He was sure that they would be held earlier than usual because of the bad weather experienced in previous years and also because it was the desire that the local show should come immediately after that of Vancouver. The stock was not as large as usual, there were not enough entries to ensure keen competition. The horse races, he said, would be the best in the history of the show, and in this connection, he remarked that in deference to the opinion of some, a betting had been prohibited. This had been done at considerable financial loss and he hoped that the people would show their appreciation by turning out in numbers. (Applause.)

High Grade Stock
An outstanding feature of the exhibition is the superb showing of all kinds of high grade stock. The Victoria exhibition is always noted for its horse show, and exhibition of high grade horses, and this year it will not fall down in this respect. There are all sizes and breeds of the equine, from the smallest of Shetland ponies to the big Clydesdale horses, which fairly shake the ground. It would be folly to endeavor to pick out the best animals among the horses. This is left to the judges, but from a spectator's point of view, every pound of horse flesh, exhibited for judging yesterday, "looked good." There was not a really poor horse in yesterday's showing, and the judges were heard to pass favorable comments as the various breeds of horses were brought before them for inspection.

The judging of the heavy horses was commenced by Dr. J. Standish of Georgetown, and Mr. W. Elliott, of Galt, Ontario, and shortly after 1 o'clock, the parade of prize winning horses passed along the track in front of the grandstand. This was viewed with apparently much interest by a large number of people, who occupied the seats in the stand.

A noteworthy fact of the horse-judging is, that every medal offered was won by a Canadian bred horse. There was a particularly good showing of heavy horses and the Clydesdale class, the Galtchop stock farm of Ladners,

B. C., was an outstanding winner, having captured 11 first prizes with 11 horses entered the competition amongst the general purpose and draught horses was keen, and in these classes several excellent specimens were shown. Practically all the heavy horses were judged yesterday and the standard bred horses will be judged today, commencing at 11 a. m.

Exciting Incident
The judging of the tally-hos and landau took place during the afternoon on the track in front of the grandstand and in these classes much interest centered. It was a pleasing sight for the horse lover to see four foaming, prancing high spirited horses, attached to such "tally-ho," as they went up and down the track, ever on the qui vive, with heads bowed, and ears strained to catch the slightest sound which set them on edge. The tally-ho animals were all very fine horses, and drew particular attention. During the judging of the landau there was considerable excitement and alarm when one of the high strung teams took fright at the various attempts of a broncho to throw its rider and dashed wildly along the track in front of the grandstand on one side and then to the other, several times, barely evading a collision with another landau. It was at first thought that some part of the harness had broken, but it was later ascertained that the trouble lay in the fact that the driver lost complete control of his team, but although he could not stop them until they had traversed more than half the distance round the track, yet he did exceedingly well to guide them safely. When the team was brought to a standstill it was discovered that nothing was broken and no damage done. Whether or not the judges were enabled to have a better chance of seeing the good qualities of this team as they sprinted madly along the track is not known, but at any rate, when the run-aways returned some few minutes after their run, they were awarded the first ribbon.

The showing of cattle and swine was exceptionally good and many fine specimens were in evidence. One particularly fine herd of prize winning Guernseys was owned by Banford Brothers of Chilliwack, and a herd of Red Polled cattle by J. T. Maynard of Chilliwack. The cattle and swine were being judged by Messrs. A. C. Halliday of British Columbia, and W. W. Ballantyne of Stratford, Ontario. In speaking of the cattle and swine Mr. Ballantyne said that while the competition in these classes was not as strong as they might be there was still a very individual, showing in every class. All the swine were judged yesterday with the exception of the bacon hogs and these will be judged today. There were many fine hogs brought before the judges for inspection, among which was an excellent herd of Yorkshires, shown by Dr. Toimie. The judging of the horses, cattle and swine and other stock will be continued today.

Development League's Exhibit
One of the most striking of the main building displays is that prepared by the "Vancouver Island Development League," the aim of which is to illustrate as simply and thoroughly as possible the resources and the attractions of the island. Size, symmetry and significance are the keynote of the exhibit. Everything shown is so exceptionally large that it impresses the visitor at first glance and holds his attention riveted. Then the arrangement is so artistic that admiration increases while a closer investigation reveals the truth. There is nothing on view that has not a special significance. The entrance is made up of two huge pieces of Douglas fir, which makes an imposing picture. Ranged along the walls are beautiful photographs standing on panels. These are all of views of island agriculture. Underneath are sheafs of golden grain, the product of island farms. Opposite are specimens of polished woods and other exhibits. The centre of the whole is set off with a giant slab of fir, which takes one's mind back to the stories of the knights of the round table. It must be twenty-five or thirty feet at least in diameter. As a back ground there is a high green covered stand on which are hung samples of the big game to be procured on the island, two or three large pictures of the grand waterfalls and scenery available in the wilds of this section of British Columbia.

The secretary of the Vancouver Island Development league already is well repaid for the trouble taken in the museum for this exhibit for although the fair opened only yesterday already he has entertained many visitors all of whom have had nothing but the highest praise for the good work shown in the display. This had been done at considerable financial loss and he hoped that the people would show their appreciation by turning out in numbers. (Applause.)

Bracco Busting
While the first day of the bracco busting competition brought out four successful fliers, who went through their part of the programme without being dislodged from their saddles, there were several narrow escapes and for all those critical moments when a fall looked imminent, the judges were deducting points, while the large number of spectators roared with laughter. The first day's riding resulted in some excellent demonstrations of horsemanship, although each one of the cowboys handled the unbroken broncos with great ease, just managed to stay on and be madly run on one end of the arena to the other.

C. A. Alexander, who was here last year from Chilliwack, rode a "Chinook" horse; T. Grahame, of Grand Prairie, rode a "Pancie" Free horse; Bruce, of Kamloops, rode a "Soaken," and "Red" Rider, rode a fourth animal, who has not been so fortunate as to be named. The riding continues today and each day, the various riders amassing daily points for their riding and on Saturday the winners will be announced. Among the awards made yesterday were:

CLOSE RACE FOR MINTO CUP

Famous New Westminster Twelve Decisively Defeats Vancouver's Stars in Labor Day Game

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 8.—Before one of the largest crowds which ever witnessed a labor day game, which numbered over 12,000, New Westminster champions of the world, defeated Vancouver's, on Labor Day, thus tying the two teams in the race for the Minto cup, emblematic of the world's championship. The score at the conclusion was eight to five, but the final result was at all times in doubt.

If Vancouver had won they would have taken the Minto cup, but as matters stood, however, Vancouver's new stand, two extra games will have to be played one in Vancouver and one in this city, total goals to count. So important was the game considered that the fact of the National game, was again talked over, but the referee of the game and he did so to the satisfaction of everyone. Several penalties were handed out, but they were for minor offences and rough work was conspicuous by its absence. At half time the score stood four to four in favor of Vancouver, but in the third quarter Westminster tallied six times in quick order, putting fresh spirit into the hearts of the fans.

Battle Royal
From start to finish it was a battle royal and there was one series of cheers from one half of the crowd and then by the other. The ball passed up and down the field, but the marvelous combination of the champions proved too strong.

The game was won on its merits. There is no doubt but what the best team in the country started the scoring in the first quarter after one minute of play. Keene, shooting a hot one which beat the goal tender. The ball was faced and the teams settled down for the gruelling contest. After 11 minutes, however, Adamson for the Green Shirts, slipped one in tying the score and putting the crowd on their mettle. The quarter ended one all with the play about even.

Play started in the second quarter a little slower, but after nearly 11 minutes of play, Fitzgerald for the visitors, scored and was followed by Adamson, also for the visitors, in two minutes. Westminster at this stage appeared slow and the rushes they are famous for, were lacking. Adamson for the Green Shirts, scored and the quarter ended four to one for the visitors. With the spell of defeat on them and determined to do or die, the Salmon Betties came on the field after their rest and in four minutes in six goals scored by the visitors to its feet with the last combination rushes and plays they displayed.

The first came in three minutes and it was followed twenty seconds later by another. Then in six minutes, they again tallied and added two more in fifteen and twenty-three seconds, respectively. The last one in this quarter came in 3:30 minutes, when Grump Spring took a beautiful pass and shot a hot one which punctured the net.

Red Shirts Play Hard
It was in this quarter that the Red Shirts showed their fighting spirit and the time in which it took to score the goals shows the speed with which the "ball" was sent to the end of the field. Vancouver was working hard, and the play was by no means one-sided, but they could not stand before the rushes which were to win the game for the Red Shirts. Only two goals were scored in the last quarter, one for Vancouver and one for the locals, and when the whistle blew for time the crowd swarmed on the field with congratulations for the winners.

The Teams:
Vancouver—Clarke, Griffiths, Jon. Picken, Matheson, Godfrey, Fitzgerald, Phelan, Allen, Carter, Adamson and LaLonde.
New Westminster—Gray, Howard, J. Gifford, G. Kennedy, W. Turnbull, T. Renzie, Peasey, Winsted, C. Spring, L. Turnbull and G. Spring.

Score—First quarter: First, Westminster, Peasey, 1 minute; second, Vancouver, Adamson, 11:10. Second quarter: Third, Vancouver, Fitzgerald, 10:26; fourth, Vancouver, Adamson, 4:56; fifth, Vancouver, Fitzgerald, 4:01. Third quarter: Sixth, Westminster, L. Turnbull, 2:57; seventh, Westminster, W. Turnbull, 20 seconds; eighth, Westminster, L. Wintemute, 5:59; ninth, Westminster, L. Turnbull, 5:59 seconds; tenth, Westminster, George Renzie, 23 seconds; eleventh, Westminster, G. Spring, 9:30. Fourth quarter: Twelfth, Vancouver, Fitzgerald, 8:52; thirteenth, Westminster, G. Spring, 2:23 minutes.

GOTCH RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

defeated challenger, through copious tears, avowed that he had entered the arena with a wretched body, for which Gotch worked and speedily reduced him to an almost helpless state.

In any event, it is certain that the Russian's nerves were on edge. He spent a sleepless night and was pale when he crawled through the ropes. Dr. J. J. Davis, who examined both wrestlers before they went to the mat, declared that while there might be something wrong with Hackenschmidt's knee, it was not evident during the examination.

While it took Gotch 14 minutes and 12 seconds to gain the first fall, the second fall required only 5 minutes and 33 seconds, which Hackenschmidt's friends lament, proves that his knee was in bad condition.

Referee Smith is authority for the statement that when Gotch secured the fatal fall, which won him the second fall, Hackenschmidt cried out: "Don't hurt my leg," and a second later, "Don't break my leg," and fell with his shoulders to the mat, frothing at the mouth.

The first fall resulted from a reverse body hold after the men had struggled 14:15. That terrible toe hold for which Gotch is famous was responsible for the second fall. He disarmed it upon the last foot of Hackenschmidt and ended the second fall in 5:33. Scarcely had he gained the grip when Hackenschmidt acknowledged defeat with his shoulders.

It was the earliest world's championship ever won. "Tells the story of the bout," commented Smith in serious office at any time during the match. "Neither was he forced to fight, nor did he win. The latter got in all a half dozen dangerous holds on his antagonist."

Hackenschmidt had Gotch worried but during the first bout Hackenschmidt's hold on Gotch's leg, which brought him to the mat. But the champion was on the canvas only a few minutes. Then he was down only as far as his knees. Almost before the "Lion" realized that his opponent was in a desperate predicament, Gotch had wriggled out of the hold and was bounding across the ring to safety.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

Coroner's Jury Investigates Shooting of David T. Ferguson on Board Princess Victoria

That death was due to his own act was the effect of the verdict returned yesterday afternoon by the coroner's jury which sat to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of David T. Ferguson, who shot himself in a stateroom of the Princess Victoria as the vessel drew into the dock here on Saturday evening.

The evidence of Mr. R. P. Bibb, wireless operator on the steamer, was to the effect that as he was about to leave the boat a passenger called his attention to the strange behavior of one of the passengers in a stateroom. Bibb went to the window and saw Ferguson with a revolver in his hand which he had pointed at his head but seeing witness looking at him he withdrew his hand. Witness went to look for the steward whom he did not find. He notified the captain and then later located the steward, but by the time they got to the stateroom Ferguson had shot himself through the left breast.

Mr. Albert Burbee identified the body, stating that he was acquainted with the deceased. C. P. R. Special Constable Walter Secret told of being called to take charge of the body and of summoning the city police.

ARTILLERYMEN ON WAY HOME

Capt. J. C. Harris and Gunners, Who Won Trophies in United Kingdom, Leaving England

Capt. J. C. Harris, of No. 3 company First Regiment, C. G. A., and Sergt. Gordon and Gns. Staden and Penkett, part of the Canadian artillery contingent which won such success in the United Kingdom, including the Prince of Wales cup won by Capt. Harris and his battery in the coast defence contests and the Canadian challenge cup for field gun practice, were given a farewell dinner at the Connaught Rooms in London last night and are to leave today en route home.

The London Standard speaking of the visit of the Canadian gunners says: "It was in 1886 that the Canadian Militia Artillery first came to this country to take part in the competitions of the National Artillery association and in 1898 they were again in England for the same purpose. The present visit may be regarded as a reply to the compliment paid by Canada to our own Volunteer Artillery, a detachment of which was invited to the Dominion some four years ago. It is now hoped that this interchange of courtesies may take place at more frequent and regular intervals, and it is known that the scheme has the hearty support of the Duke of Connaught, Canada's future son to Chelsea barracks in order that it is also sympathetic. Field guns have been to Chelsea barracks in order that the troops may not be without drill and gun practice. The Earl of Staden is chairman of the reception committee in charge of the entertainment of the visitors, and among its other members are Colonel St. V. Fisher, who commanded the English artillerymen in Canada in 1907; the Lord Mayor, Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, Lord Strathcona, the Earl of Denbigh, Major H. Vane Stow, Lord of the Isles, a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and many prominent territorial officers. The detachment consists of eight officers and 41 men."

NIPPON YUSEN KAISHA TO OPEN OFFICES

Japanese Line Will Send Clerks from Japan to Seattle and Mr. F. M. Stanley Will Establish Offices

On account of the heavy business of the line and the desire to enter into more aggressive competition with other companies for the Oriental trade, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, will establish its own offices in Seattle.

The business of the company has been handled through a joint agency which represented both the Great Northern Steamship company and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, in charge of F. M. Stanley.

Mr. Stanley recently returned from a trip to Japan, where he was in conference with the officials of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, and it is reported that he will be the head of the Japanese line's agency in Seattle.

A. S. Malara, special representative of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha in Seattle, is now in the east, and with his return the new office will be established, probably in the Colman building, in Seattle, on October 1. It is planned to send a number of Japanese clerks from the offices of the company in Japan, who will exploit the advantages of the line.
