HON. F. B. CARVELL

The impression Hon. Frank B. Carvell made upon Canada by his strong personality and eminent service is revealed in the eulogies that a number of those who journeyed far to pay last tributes to his mortal remains. To Mrs. Carvell all hearts go out in sympathy in this hour, for theirs was a singularly happy relationship through life, though they were called upon to mourn together the loss of those most dear to their hearts. To his country the loss now sustained is great, but to the share of his past joys and sorrows it is irreparable. From every part of Canada come messages of sympathy, and these will be the more highly prized because they are an added tribute to the worth of him who has gone to rest. Woodstock and the County of Carleton will especially mourn the passing of one whose thoughts ever turned from heavy tasks to the joy to be derived from old scenes and old companionship. To them he was true to the last, and his memory will be cherished as that of a gifted son who made his own life count in the life and progress of this Dominion. — Ex.

OUR MERCHANTS' INTERESTS

The Graphic understands that at the next meeting of the Town Council a large delegation of local merchants will wait upon the council with a request that the present license fee of five dollars per day for transients doing business in the town, such as representatives of clothing houses etc., be increased to thirty dollars. This request also presented at a recent meeting was refused but the leaders of the movement, it is understood, have strengthened their cause through numbers and will again present their case.

It will no doubt be pointed out that this license fee as it is at present is far too small. In Chatham, we are informed, the fee exacted for the privilege is thirty-five dollars. Considering the relative size of the two towns and the better possibilities for business here, a fee of fifty dollars here would not be an excessive charge. Every month of the year a large number of outsiders come to Campbellton, pay the paltry fee demanded of them and after a few busy days, depart with hundreds of dollars worth of business which should go to local merchants if their prices are at all reasonable. Local business houses are an important part of our community; they have incidentally played a leading role in the up-building of the town and their annual taxes aggregate to a very considerable sum which makes up no small part of our yearly revenue. In all fairness this must be given due consideration. Some purchasers may at times have cause to complain of high prices on some lines of goods here but only by encouraging home buying can our local trade be stimulated and promoted and merchants here enabled, by means of a larger and quicker turnover to sell at more attractive prices. In a lengthy article and also in an editorial the Graphic recently pointed out to the merchants of Campbellton the possible benefits of having a strong organization representing the commercial interests of this town. The case now under discussion very clearly demonstrates the need of such an association. If local merchants get together on the present issue there is no doubt that, when the matter is conscientiously considered from all angles by the council board their request will meet with prompt and satisfactory response. If success crowns their efforts in the defence of their interests, it is to be hoped that they will realize the advantages of co-operation and lose no time in organizing some kind of a commercial club or association.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE FARMERS

Those on the North Shore who are familiar with the conditions which govern dairying and other branches of agriculture as it is carried on in this part of the country do not need to be told that there is room for improvement. All those who buy farm produce at the local markets are aware of this truth. In this statement however there is no reproach directed at farmers or those engaged in agricultural activities. It is rather intended to direct the attention of these people to the great opportunity which challenges the enterprise of those who are in a position to take advantage of it.

Campbellton is a growing commercial centre with a population which is well on towards the seven thousand mark. In this town each year, great quantities of butter, eggs and milk are consumed, both by residents and through transient trade at the several hotels. Obviously there should be a large and steady market for these farm products here. They are commodities which are regarded equally as necessary as bread. One of them at least is used as an ingredient in nearly every dish, fancy or plain, which are daily prepared for family consumption. Besides this, their use as food in a direct way accounts for a large part of the steady demand for these products of the farm. Yet what a small percentage of the milk, butter and eggs used each year in Campbellton, is produced by the farmers of this district.

Last year, as has been the case for some time past, enormous quantities of butter, eggs and canned milk were imported from distant places and sold here. Why? Simply because the country about Campbellton furnishes such a small percentage of what is needed. There is no doubt but what the matter of price, if it figures at all, is something that could be arranged so as to facilitate greater production and more local trade in this respect. It appears to us that this is a matter which deserves serious consideration. Every opportunity does exist for the improvement of the situation. The Graphic would welcome correspondence in regard to this matter. Discussion of a subject, no matter how intricate, always helps.

A BIT OF LUMBER HISTORY

The beginning of the lumber industry of the Miramichi river dates back to the middle of the eighteenth century, but no comprehensive records have been kept. In the year 1765 Mr. James Davidson obtained a grant of 100,000 acres on the south west branch of the Miramichi; there he erected a saw mill, and in 1790 under contract, shipped three cargoes of masts and spars for High Majesty's dockyards, to Messrs. Hunter, Robertson & Greenoch. In that year he died, and the contract was taken over by Messrs. Fraser and Thom of Beaubair's Island, who in 1792 shipped two cargoes of square timber from Miramichi; this was the first square timber shipped. The following year, 1793, there were 7000 tons of square timber brought to market, of which for various reasons, only 300 tons were shipped, and the average price obtained was only 10 shillings per ton. The following is a table of prices obtained in 1793:

White pine per ton	0 10 0
Red pine per ton	0 12 0
Black birch per ton	0 15 6
White pine lathwood per	0 16 0
White pine masts, 16-23 in. diameter, per inch	3 0
Spruce spars, 16-30 in diameter, per inch	0 6

A DANGER

It is hardly fair to expect that the property-owners of Campbellton will be indefinitely "hushbugged" with town fire-alarm apparatus which cannot be depended upon to function properly in an emergency. A man may be content to put up with an automobile whose engine is not reliable in performance; a housewife may be obliged to endure the nuisance of a washing machine that goes out of kilter when the "wash" has been soaked and is all ready for the tub—these things were not made for emergencies. A fire alarm is essentially different. Its failure to properly perform the service required of it at a critical time may be directly responsible for serious loss of property. It is manifestly made for emergencies and if it cannot be depended upon it is useless.

Monday morning's fire again demonstrated this danger. An alarm was rung in from two different boxes but both these attempts to arouse the brigade proved futile. Such a condition, dangerous and, moreover, it does not give the firemen who are always prompt in getting to the scene of a blaze, a fair chance to do effective work.

Evidently it would not be right to blame any one for the frequent misconduct of our fire-alarm system. Neither would we seek to saddle the blame upon the town council. The fire siren was secured in good faith, but that does not help to solve the difficulty. Its failure to give reliable service means lack of adequate protection in the event of fire and constitutes a very grave danger. Where damaged is apparent delay is hazardous and often disastrous. The cause should, if possible, be promptly removed.

THE GASPE ROADS

During the past week several complaints about the bad condition of the roads on some sections of the Gaspé Coast have been made to the Graphic. It is claimed by several motorists who have been down that side of the bay as far as Carleton Place certain portions of the road between there and Cross Point are extremely rough and full of holes. This, of course, makes motoring rather unpleasant in spite of the scenery and many other things there that the visitor may admire.

As far as local motorists are concerned, those who are responsible for the up-keep of the highway through Bonaventure and Gaspé Counties may feel inclined to pay little attention to these protests. But this by no means concludes the case. Of late considerable advertising has been done in our enditions of this territory to prospective summer visitors. A large number of tourists have this year made the Gaspé tour a part of their holiday trip but if those who have gone over this route return home disgusted with the condition of the roads, the benefits of this advertising will be enormously lessened. Holiday visitors even though they be blessed with the spirit of adventure will not consent to be jostled over miles of rocky road to behold Percé Rock; they will forget the salmon and trout in York River if they are obliged to drive through rivers of mud; they will surely balk at bumping through an endless succession of holes and pitches and ruts in order to see the moon rise over a country landscape and they will certainly not force their cars through a bog just to hear the birds sing.

The Graphic is trying to do its share to boost the Gaspé Peninsula. It is a great country whose resources need advertising. The hotels are doing their share. It is to be hoped that farmers, merchants and everybody will join their forces and that the road makers will do all they can to help. On the success of their efforts much of the future prosperity and development of this rich territory depends.

From 1793 until 1814 the timber exports were valued at $500,000 tons, and never exceeded 6000 tons. About the year 1814-15 the timber trade in New Brunswick became a very profitable one, and upwards of one million sterling was invested in mills, wharves, booms, etc. For most of the timber sent to England in 1824, the shippers did not receive on an average, more than 9 shillings to 9 shillings 6 pence per ton.

Magistrate Henderson of St. John has sentenced two automobile drivers to jail for seven days without the option of a fine for operating cars while under the influence of liquor. He said that drastic action must be taken to put a stop to that sort of thing. He is right.
