US INTERESTING RAIL-WAY MATTERS.

sting conversation at noon yesterday with eral Manager Joseph Hickson of the ad Trunk Railway, who, in a fifteen min-talk only finished as the train to which car was attached moved westwards, gave a pleasant manner his opinious on various ay matters. With him were seated Local lager Edmund Wragge, Solicitor W. B. furrich, and Mr. John C. Bailey, one of Company's civil engineers. Mr. Hickson ed from Montreal yesterday morning and also were west.

have you to say regarding a between this city and Hamilton, in to-day's World?" was the first ed of Mr. Hickson.

a amount of traffic justifies it we louid one, but at present the strong all that is required. The flicient as possible, and we hear ints—do we, Mr. Wragge?"

Mr. Wragge replied that there ints and shas the service is all ar, Hickon I are the station and the Esplanade, I be the station and the Esplanade, I be the city authorities. The agree-sich was made with the Grand Trunk e Canadian Facific early this year of favorable for the city. Your took the greatest care to protect To-interests in every possible way. But resement has not been given effect to, so of certain Esplanade landholders reag the Council by legal proceedings actions are still pending and I can only at if the City Council of Toronto is unated to the city will have an opportunity in making such favorable terms."

The latter tunnel was referred to the first council of the work was a vigorously pushed forward and that the timery for it was now in.

about a loop line north of the city the Esplanade?" was the last ques-i, but Mr. Hickson laughed and re-Mr. Wragge as President of the Loop Line, who also laughed, but no to say.

R. KERBY'S STRANGE DREAM, e a strong and abiding faith is, especially when the belief is upon them by demonstra-Mr. Joseph Kerby of Montreal, ive of an English mining synof the old Kerby family of being his brother James who rby House in that city. Mr. ere a few days are and in the unversation he told a remarkable 1863, when the American war was ght he, went south from Chicage to the some cotton business. At Nash-Tenn, he was captured by the Conste forces as a spy and thrown prison. After a few months there is transferred to Libby Prison, and for a bowards the officer in command to black hole with a single of the night his comrade in misery and heard him sobbing, and waking up, asked why he was crying. He said dreams that his mother had died in trond, Canada, that night; and what partly impressed him was that she had in lupon dying upon a certain bed and in a in room which she had never before

Some weeks after this Mr. Kerby was reseased and several letters handed to him. Among them was a black-bordered one from home. Before opening it he told the officers hat he knew it would contain the announcement of his mother's death. Relating his ream he opened the letter, which fully bore must the strange presentment, his mother having died the night in question. Mr. Kerby resurned home; and before allowing anyone to ell him the circumstances of his mother's ecose, he related graphically the death bed cene, naming those who were present, including Dr. Reginald Henwood, who still practices in Brantford. The circumstances attending he death and those that he dreams were alike a every particular.
