"The War Summary"

Almost from the very day the great European war began in August last, the outstanding feature in Canadian journalism covering the conflict has been "The War Summary" daily on page 1 and 2 of THE GLOBE. In the concise form the writer has given his readers a picture of the developments in all parts of the world. While the details of the movements along the extended frontiers have not been overlooked, the readers of THE GLOBE have been enabled to follow intelligently and with confidence the general outlines of the stupendous conflict. "The War Summary" of THE GLOBE is reproduced daily by several papers throughout the Dominion.

The Editorial Page

THE GLOBE on its editorial page has given to place before the public in proper perspective the broad background of the titanic struggle. This series of articles has attracted the attention not only of the Canadian people, but of leading newspapers and journals in all parts of the world. The causes leading up to the war, the elements entering into its conduct, and the results likely to flow from the cessation of hostilities have been dealt with in that bold and clear-cut form characteristic of THE GLOBE's editorial page.

News Service

The above features, in addition to a cable and letter service from the front unobscured in Canada, have placed THE GLOBE far in the lead of Canadian papers, and partly explain the phenomenal increase of 331.3 per cent. in THE GLOBE's circulation during recent months.

Other Features

The sporting pages, the financial and commercial pages, the women's pages, etc., etc., with the additional pages of Wednesday's issue devoted to "Farm and Country Life," are maintained at a high standard of excellence, a standard that has justified THE GLOBE in its title of Canada's National Newspaper, and has given it by many thousands the largest circulation of any morning paper in the Dominion.

Local and City Papers

By all means take your local paper, but in the field of metropolitan newspapers THE GLOBE unquestionably offers you the greatest value to be had in Canada. Order it to-day, 3 cents per month—one dollar for four months—three dollars per year.

P.S.—According to Lord Kitchener, the big war has only begun.

THE GLOBE, Toronto.

Coalition and Conscription

Various circumstances, and particularly the formation of a coalition government, point to an early call to the colors of every man of military age in the United Kingdom who is not needed in the armament and munition factories. The conviction is deepening that the country cannot, in this crisis, rely on the old voluntary system, whether in military matters or in the field of labor. Great as are the manufacturing resources of Britain, and earnest and patriotic as the employers and the majority of the workers have been, it is evidently recognized that what is needed is organization and direction, requirements that mean a form of government intensely repugnant to the British spirit of individualism. Such a revolution could not be accomplished by a ministry representing only one of the political parties in the state. But it can be done by a government that represents the nation.

Germany not only organized a vast military machine, but it organized the whole labor of the country. There are no shirkers in Germany—there can be none. Even if the German were not the intense patriot that he is he would none the less be compelled to give the last ounce of his strength as he does the last drop of his blood, towards the duty of the hour. Above him is the might of the military arm, controlled by one man—the emperor, to whom personally every soldier has sworn allegiance as the ruler of Germany by divine appointment, whose ally is God Himself. The German workman knows that refusal or failure to do his part would meet with short shift. So from the professor through every grade of service down to the common laborer, each and all stand of the sources of supply must be established. The feeling, too, is rapidly growing in Britain that it is not fair to let all the burden of the war rest on the shoulders of the volunteers, who felt and obeyed the call of duty. This is a national war, and all who are physically fit and not required in the workshops or in the transportation service must do their part. Those who will not accept that obligation will have it thrust upon them. That, we think, is one of the reasons for this coalition government.

Hats Off to Italy

(Toronto World).

Italy comes into the fight like a brave and gallant knight who champions a worthy cause. The Italians are fighting for themselves, but always under the banner of liberty and freedom. That's what they have inherited from Garibaldi's red shirt. No other nation has quite the same glad banners, such excellent mottoes, the same freshness and air of the knight without fear, above reproach. The spirit of the court and the days of Arthur has renewed itself in Italy. Blue seas, blue skies, blue mountains. It is a great thing to live in the presence and in sight of a nation which is being reborn to greater things. A new and brighter Italy, an Italy full of glorious color and great promise, takes up the cause of Belgium and France in their hour of trial. Hats off to Italy! Down-trodden Belgium picks up the notes of the hymn of hope that floats up from the land of Garibaldi and the waters of the Adriatic.

Pro-German Neutrality

The efforts of the Chicago Daily News to be neutral are pathetically German. In a recent cartoon John Bull is represented as reading with great indignation a report on "Atrocities in Belgium," while a figure marked "Civilization" points to a report on the other side of the sheet, headed "London Mobs Attack Unoffending German Citizens." This is the never-failing German method of countering a charge of murder and rape with an allegation of "drunk and disorderly," and crying "Now we are quits!" It involves the total absence of a sense of proportion and a sense of humor, and consequently there are not many American papers that will stand for it.

The Oil for the Athlete.

In rubbing down, the athlete can find nothing finer than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

Obligatory Service For Men and Women

Condon, June 3.—There was adopted at a mass meeting held in London this afternoon, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, a resolution reading as follows:—"That we, men and women, here assembled, ask the Government to establish obligatory war service for both men and women."

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that at least half a million German women were engaged in making munitions of war, and she urged all British men and women at Government agencies for such service as they were fitted to perform.

The Foe of Indigestion.

Indigestion is a common ailment and few are free from it. It is a most distressing complaint and often the suffering attending it is most severe. The very best remedy is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken according to directions. They rectify the irregular action of the stomach and restore healthy action. For many years they have been a standard remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion and are highly esteemed for their qualities.
