Christian Endeavor Convention.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Society of Christian Endeavor at Cleveland, Ohio, closed on Sabbath night July 15th, in a wave of Christian enthusaism. It has been the greatest convention ever held by the society both in point of number and in the interest manifested in its meetings. The total registration reached 40,000, of which 18,790 came from points outside of Ohio. The total registration at the Montreal convention a year ago was 18,500. Among the movements started at the gathering are plans for a world-wide union of Christian Endeavor and for systematic missionary extension.

Motions fixing the name and objects of the Co. were passed without discussion.

The third motion, which was to reduce the capital stock from $50,000 to $25,000 was the cause of a long and, at times, quite sen-sational discussion.

Dr. Hidden explained that United States capitalists would be unwilling to invest until they were in a position to receive stock certificates, which, of course, could not be until a Co. was legally formed. He therefore proposed that for purposes of organization the capital be placed at a lesser figure, and that it be afterward increased to the sum originally named.

A YOUNG MAN COMMITS SUICIDE ON HIS LOVER'S GRAYE.

An account is given in the New York papers of the romantic suicide of a young man named Aquilin Filler, upon the grave of his sweetheart, Mary Michaels. She was the daughter of a well-known German in Poughkeepsie, 20, and beautiful. Aquilin Filler came to America two years ago. They met soon afterwards, and just a younge Filler bought an engagement ring and it was not the same to the

Then he stepped back. His face told nothing. Aquilin Filler was making his last journey. He had written his farewell and put it in his pocket with his revolver. And they soon knew that it was not the usual rambling, incoherent letter of a suicide either. Many watched him narrowly as the
