THE LION AND THE MOUSE

One summer day, a great lion lay asleep under the boughs of a shady tree in the forest. A mouse that was playing near him happened to run over his face, and woke him up. The lion was so angry that he was just going to kill him; but the mouse begged to be forgiven, and said, « If you will only let me go now, I may be able to do you a kindness some time or other. » The lion laughed, because he did not think a mouse could ever do him any good; but he let him go. Not long afterwards, the lion was caught in a strong net. The mouse heard him roaring, came quickly and with his sharp teeth gnawed the ropes of the net: till at last the lion was able to break them and get away. And thus it was a very little beast helped a great one.
