ARTHUR PELKEY WAS ACQUITTED IT WAS JUST AS HE EXPECTED

Jury Took Forty-Five Minutes to Decide That He Was Not Guilty of Manslaughter in Connection With the Death of Luther McCarty.

CALGARY, Alta., June 23.—(Can. Press.)—Arthur Pelkey, the pugilist, tonight was acquitted of a manslaughter charge which was placed against him as a result of the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the Burns' Arena here on May 24 last. It was charged by the government that McCarty died from a blow administered by Pelkey.

The jury was out less than an hour before returning the verdict, although Chief Justice Harvey's charge was said to be unfavorable to the defendant. In his charge to the jury the chief justice admitted that there was some doubt as to whether or not the contest was illegal, but he said there was no doubt that death had been caused by a blow, and that the jury should consider only whether the defendant was guilty of causing the death of his opponent in an effort to win the prize placed upon the contest.

Pelkey was jubilant when he learned of the verdict and declared it was exactly what he was expecting. The jury was out exactly 45 minutes, returning at 6:15 p.m., and the verdict was to the effect that the contest was a prize fight, but that Pelkey was not guilty of manslaughter, inasmuch as the blow he struck was not intended to cause fatal results.

A big demonstration followed the announcement of the verdict, and as Pelkey stepped from the prisoner's box he was warmly congratulated. A general rush was made by friends of the accused to shake his hand and to extend congratulations.

William Derry's Sentence of Year and Ten Lashes in Abeyance.

Judge Morgan must grant a stated case for the consideration of the court of appeal in the matter of the conviction of William Derry two weeks ago for attempted assault. Such was the ruling of the appellate court yesterday. Derry's counsel had applied to Judge Morgan for a stated case and had been refused.

The ruling of the court will mean in all probability that no further steps will be taken until fall. In the meantime, Derry's counsel, R. G. Holmes, will try to obtain bail for the young man, and a cancellation for the present of the ten lashes to which Derry was sentenced.

Mr. Holmes asked for leave to appeal on two grounds. He claimed that the judge had refused to allow evidence as to the character of the prisoner, and that he had not given the jury the usual instruction to give the accused the benefit of any doubt. Justice Macge, of the appeal bench, stated that in his opinion Judge Morgan had done justice to Derry in his charge to the jury. As to the other claim there was difference of opinion.

Character Evidence.

Judge Morgan's statement is as follows: "Stripped of a good deal of what is irrelevant, the only point upon which a reserved case is asked is the suggestion made by counsel that he tendered character evidence which was not relevant. This is not the exact fact; counsel did say he could see that the accused had character evidence, but my answer was to the effect that such evidence would affect the trial, and I am told by the crown attorney that such evidence was not in court."

Will Apply for Bail.

Until Judge Morgan's statement is considered by the court of appeal it will not be known whether Derry will be granted the right to appeal. No date was set yesterday for the consideration of this statement, and it will likely stand over until autumn. Before that time Judge Morgan will have had time to re-read his trial notes, and will be able to make a more decisive statement as to his exact handling of the evidence.

In the meantime Mr. Holmes will ask bail for his client, who was sentenced to a year and ten lashes. The original trial arose from an automobile escape on the Dundas road, when Derry and a friend named John Hunter took two young girls joy riding. Upon their return to the city the girls laid a charge against both men, and Hunter was subsequently discharged.
