

MARCELLE

AN HISTORICAL NOVEL

By

HAMPDEN BURNHAM

Author of "Canadians in the Imperial Service,"
"Jack Ralston," etc.

"New France battled against a fate which her own organic fault made inevitable. Her history is a great and significant drama enacted among untamed forests, with a distant gleam of courtly splendours and the regal pomp of Versailles."—
"Frontenac and New France under Louis XIV."

—Parkman.

TORONTO
WILLIAM BRIGGS
1905