that where thousands of suits are being made the cost of the individual suit can be reduced to the minimum.

That is where the clothing house has the advantage over the small tailor. But, while cost is a prime consideration, there is all attention paid to fit and finish. We aim not merely to get trade, but to hold customers, and that cannot be effected if we neglect any detail in the fashioning and making.

To-day our suits are seen on most of the fastidious men in town. The proof of the clothing is the wearing thereof.

The teams on the fast, true diamond of the Eastern Leaguers put up a remarkably clever game, and they are all four so evenly matched that there is but little to choose between them. Reid and O'Brien will work for St. Mary's against Humphrey and Graham for the Mariboros at 2 o'clock, and Evans and Archer, who did such good work for the Wellingtons against St. Mary's last week, will be in the points again to do or die against the Queen Citys.
