REEN WOOD BEING ISED AT THAMESFORD AS COAL SUBSTITUTE

Six Dollars Per Cord Is Being Paid for Fuel.

THAMESFORD, Jan. 17.-Many are burning green wood now for fuel, and this cannot be supplied in any great quantity. Dry wood is selling at $6 a short cord. The public school is hearly out of coal, and green wood is being used to help out.

Amos Longfield, who died in Dorhester, was well known in this vicinity. He had Miss Thompson's place on the 9th concession rented for a number of years, and from here went to Dorchester.

Some damage was done here during the storm. John Lawrence's power mill on his barn was wrecked. A large pane of glass was blown in at B. Leslie's store, and the entrance to the public telephone office was levelled. The 9th concession road was opened up today, and will soon be packed down Owing to lack of water power the Owing to lack of water power the grist mill cannot supply the farmers with ground feed.

The retiring officers of the library board gave a banquet in the Oddfellows' Hall on Monday evening. The hall was well filled. Short addresses were given by the retiring officers, Messrs. Bray, Hoskings, Galbraith, Miss McMurray and others. The officers were all re-elected.

A welcome entertainment will be given on Friday night in the town hall

The great square in front of it was heaped with broken stones and charred wood and nearby lay the broken bells, the famous bells of Ypres, which for 600 years had sounded every hour across the level fields of Belgium.

As for the cathedral one could stand inside and leok up at a roof which was like a sleve, while the interior was filled with stones, fragments of marble statues from the tombs, charred wood that had once been the wonderful carved roof, rags of burnt canvas that had been beautiful pictures, broken glass of wonderful color the property is given again rather than stand in the throng that has besi ged the office for the past few days, Nothing new has developed in the city regarding the smallpoy outbreak, all officials reporting that the situation is well in hand. Unless something unexpected occurs, it will not be necessary to close any schools, theatres or places of business. No new cases have been reported, and it is believed that the outbreak has been effectually checked; this no doubt being due to the fact that the health officers have not taken any chances, having quarantined all suspected eases, no matter how slight the contagion appeared.

time ago in a destitute condition is James Lawrence, a marine engineer, who has worked on several boats, and has lived in this city for several years. When found his physical condition was pitiful, there being hardly a bite to eat in his retreat. The Salvation Army took care of him, taking the matter up with county and city officials, who would do nothing, claiming no responsibility. Lawrence had lived in the shack for several months, eating only one meal a day. He is about 30 years of age. The Salvationists have been looking after him, and finally placed him in the House of Refuge today, where he will be taken care of.

SARNIA, Jan. 17.—The ferry service between this city and Port Huron has been greatly reduced, the company running only one boat an hour during the day, and cancelling all service after dark. This is due partly to the great amount of ice in the river, which is hindering the service considerably, but it was learned today that the main reason is lack of coal, the recent heavy fall of snow making it impossible for the railways to get coal to Port Huron. Unless the railways send a few cars of coal, the ferry company states that they will have to curtail the service still more, probably running only enough more, probably running only enough boats to take the workers to and from the two cities.
