New York. Nov. 18.—The coming of peace brought many joys, and by few was it hailed with more joy than by major league baseball owners. A feeling of optimism prevailed in all baseball headquarters. "I guess this clears the baseball skies, as well as those of the general world situation," said John Heydler, acting president of the National League. "Baseball, of course, will have some serious problems to meet before we take the field again, but things surely have a different hue from what they did when we suspended play last Labor Dav.

"As matters now stand, the only thing we will have lost will have been a month of play last September. Naturally, baseball men hail the events of the last week with great joy, not only as patriotic citizens, proud of the achievements of their country in winning a great victorlous peace, but as businessmen whose business had been curtailed 100 per cent by the war. I think there were few business had been curtailed 100 per cent, as we were. "In view of the fact that five months will elapse before the customary starting of the baseball season, there seems to be little question about whether or not we will start. By that time the been signed, and no longer will there be essential or non-essential employment. The returning armies, and men released from other lines, will take available positions, and baseball men, naturally, will drift back to the old work.
