RAILROADERS IN SESSION.

Adjourned Yesterday to Attend Funeral of Comrade.

Frank B. Sears, a conductor on the Boston and Maine Railroad, and a delegate at the railwaymen's convention now sitting in Occident Hall, was an intimate friend of the late Chas. F. Clark, the C.P.R. conductor, who was killed in Hanover on Thursday last, and buried in Prospect Cemetery yesterday.

"We had intended to do some business to-day," said Mr. Sears to The World last night, "but when we heard of the death of poor Clark, I simply bowed us all over, and business was confined strictly to the verification of the men's credentials. I at once moved a resolution expressing sympathy with his family, which was passed unanimously. Then I passed around the hat, and in less than five minutes we had about $10, so we went right out and bought a floral hearse, a great big one, made of lilies and roses and all kinds of flowers. We all attended the funeral, and there was a carriage load of flowers."

Mr. Sears is a Boston man. Last year the convention was held in New York City, and he returned to nominate Toronto for this year.

"There were two of us to put thru that deal," said he. A Canadian railroad, an old friend of mine, Pete Steel—he's dead now, too, killed last January at West Toronto—to back me up, and when we came over here Pete was to nominate Boston for next year. He's gone, but I reckon we'll all be back in old Boston next year," he concluded.

In the convention, attended yesterday by 110 delegates, all the Canadian railroads east of the Rockies, and those in the United States, east of the Mississippi, and the Ohio, the Ohio River, were represented. There are two organizations—conductors and trainmen. A. B. Garretson is president of the conductors, and P. H. Morley is grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Both of these gentlemen are natives of Toronto.

Painful Runer Flourished. Within ten minutes last evening three enquirers, one of them, The World for information as to a collision of trolley and train at the East Queens street crossing. The enquirers were genuinely concerned, and were greatly relieved when informed that the runer was baseless.

G.T.R. INDICTED.

Assizes Grand Jury Bring in True Bill, Alleging Negligence.

The grand jury in the criminal assizes yesterday afternoon brought in a true bill against the Grand Trunk Railway Company, charging them with criminal negligence and conducting a common nuisance. This case arises out of the fatal accident on Front-street on Oct. 7, when a Bathurst-street car and a Grand Trunk train crashed together at the intersection.

The jury also suggested that the street railway company be also charged.

Prosecutor Emerson Coatsworth, C. C., said last night that the case would be brought on for trial as soon as possible. The indictment has not yet been served on the officials, and it may be necessary to go to Montreal to do this.

"As far as I am concerned I am going to go on," said the crown prosecutor, "but the railway men will likely crave delay."

Dr. Samuel May. May died at his residence, 514 Parliament-street, yesterday morning, in his 80th year.

May was born in Cornwall, 1828. During his residence in Canada, since 1853, when he became connected with the department of education in Upper Canada, under the direction of the late Dr. Egerton Ryerson. Dr. May took a very active part in the building of the Ontario Art School and in the museum there and lecturer in pharmacy and microscopy. From 1880 to 1903 he held the office of superintendent of the Ontario Art School and inspector of public libraries. For the last three years Dr. May had lived retired on account of failing health. He is survived by a widow, who has been confined to bed for several months, five sons and three daughters. They are: Jack, Samuel, C. F. H. E. and A. and Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Cline, wife of Judge Cline, and Mrs. Kimball of Parry Sound.

RAIN TO QUENCH FIRES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The clearing news that the end of the drought was now raging in the east is in sight, as announced by the weather bureau to-night. Along the southern edge of the Rocky Mountain States, a storm is scheduled to appear to-morrow morning, and it will move northward, attended by rains in the valleys of the central states Thursday and in the Atlantic states Friday or Saturday.

J. G. O'Donoghue addressed an open meeting at the corner of King and Portland-streets at noon yesterday, from a wagon. About 200 employees of the various factories near congregated for the discourse on independent political action and loudly applauded the independent labor candidate, J. H. Kennedy. W. Glocking and G. Sangster were the other speakers.

HOW TO CURE A HEADACHE

To attempt to cure a headache by taking a "headache powder" is like trying to stop a leak in the roof by putting a pan under the dripping water.

Chronic headaches are caused by poisoned blood. The blood is poisoned by tissue waste, undigested food and other impurities remaining too long in the system. These poisons are not promptly eliminated because of sick liver, bowels, skin or kidneys.

If the bowels do not move regularly—if there is pain in the back showing kidney trouble—if the skin is sallow or discolored with pimples—it shows clearly what is causing the headaches.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure headaches because they cure the cause of the headaches. "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the three great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep the system free of poisons. "Fruit-a-tives" come in two sizes, 25c and 50c. If your dealer does not have them write to Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

MACKENZIE AFTER FUNDS

TO BUY ELECTRIC LIGHT?

Large Shareholder Says That This is Magnate's Mission in Britain.

"It is understood that if Wm. Mackenzie's scheme is carried thru successfully it will prove a great thing for shareholders of the Toronto Electric Light Co. The company's charter will not permit of its being absorbed by any other company, but with Mr. Mackenzie in control its position would be greatly strengthened. There is no Canadian whose credit stands higher in Great Britain than his and there is no reason to believe that his presence trip abroad is with the object of raising money for the venture."

This statement was made last night by a prominent shareholder of the company, who is a well-known financier and a member of the board of directors.

WHITNEY AT MASSEY HALL

none of the evil doings on earth, but he had better turn his gaze towards earth, where worms and other creeping things were to be found.

Mr. Osier went on to suggest the necessity of good roads, so important to the farmers, the backbone of the country. Splendid roads could be built at the outside rate of $5000 a mile. This would be better than building a big canal like the Newmarket ditch.

It differed from the Trent Valley Canal which enabled the fish to pay their neighbors a visit, whereas there was no fish in the Newmarket Canal. What was spent in this way and Atlantic trading companies might have been spent in building 2000 miles of the finest roads in the world. Referring to the G. T. P. Railway he asked the audience if they would trust a man who promised to build a house for $13,000 and brought in a bill for $130,000. Loud shouts of "No" was the answer.

The One Only.

It was a tremendous indictment of the government that Hon. Mr. Fielding was single as an honest man in contrast to the other. He was a fair weather financier, however, and when the government was great and the day of the period of depression was $5,000,000 or $6,000,000, he said it was not the government, but the Quebec bridge (Laurentine) that was the trouble.

The Quebec Bridge deal had unfortunately involved the death of 95 men.

The Crow's Nest Railway deal was touched on by Mr. Osier. The Crow's Nest Railway had been involved in it, as a director of the C.P.R. That railway had bought the charter of the Crow's Nest Railway, but the deal had not got the land subsidy of $250,000 acres with the charter. That went to what Mr. Osier sarcastically described as "the most useful and prominent man in the service of his country to-day—the middleman." The C.P.R. only got 5000 acres of coal lands and the condition imposed that they should not mine coal for ten years, a period which had not yet expired. The C.P.R. Railway had been unable to complete under the conditions. There was still an unrecorded piece of news. The stock in the coal mine, which was great and vast—the greatest in the world—had been sold out by its patriotic holders to J. A. E. Kemp and American interests to the detriment of Canadians. The men who were now in control of the Crow's Nest Coal Mines were nominated by American citizens.

A Boomerang Contest.

A. E. Kemp had a fight on his hands which would only hurt the other fellow. He was a politician, Mr. Kemp wondered how many dishonest things had to be proven against a government to cast it from power. One ought to be enough. A recent one was one of dredging at Nova Scotia. It was one of $2,000,000 and another got $1,800,000 for dredging. That graft existed in these things. A recent one was one of dredging at Nova Scotia. It was one of $2,000,000 and another got $1,800,000 for dredging. That graft existed in these things.

The other day in St. John he had heard it said that when Pugsley was attorney-general of New Brunswick he did not draw any salary, but went to the treasury and took what he wanted. They had what they called a "suspense" account, a term Mr. Whitney did not quite understand, but it seemed that "down there" there was no suspense about it—everybody knew the money was in Pugsley's pocket.

As to the other matter, the Mayors did not quite understand, but it seemed that "down there" there was no suspense about it—everybody knew the money was in Pugsley's pocket.

Quoting Sir Wilfrid Laurier's advice to the woolen manufacturers to manufacture shoddy goods, the premier exclaimed, "I have already selected one, indicated his mind in Sir Wilfrid's tour thru the country, discovering Canada anew, he had not struck about Canada being the third greatest Vaple utterance, talk of discovering Canada anew, quelling civil war that had nearly broken out, and bragging about Canada being the third greatest commercial nation in the world. He arrived at this by the amount of trade per head, but two South Sea Islanders exporting $150 worth of coconuts might make an equal boast. (Laughter.)

There was a single question agitating the people of Canada on which the prime minister had said one clear word in his journey thru Quebec and Ontario," asked Mr. Foster, and the crowd could not remember one.

Publicity or Concealment.

"Are they in favor of publicity or of concealment?" asked Mr. Whitney, when Mr. Foster discussed the government's action in refusing to disclose documents in the house.

The Liberal-Conservatives might and proved their charges, and he who refused to meet these charges would find that the people demanded an answer. They were not Tory scandals, but the

There were signs that the leaders of the government of the future were to be the servants and not the masters of the people. He believed the people on Monday would say they wanted good government; that they haven't good government; that they can have good government; that they are determined to have good government, and

Yes and No.

We were here, Sir James continued, to ask ourselves, "What good government want good government?" The next question was, "Have we good government?" The answer was "No" and "We have in Ontario."

If we had good government we would solve this meeting and go home; but if we had not good government, the question was, "Are we going to get it?"

Sir James was no doubt whatever that Mr. Fielding was an honest man, but he was one of the shrewdest men in South Africa. It would be said that he was one of the "slimmest" men. Also, he would say that he believed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had no personal contact with graft.

In England, the political atmosphere was kept clean and pure and sweet by the consideration of the questions agitating the people. He proposed to discuss the political division in this country, but he was not going to take time to tell to which party he belonged.

In the Beginning.

Starting at the beginning, he said the Liberal-Conservative party was born in 1854, and was made up of the big-minded men of both the old political parties—the residuum went into the Liberal party, and in Ontario the Radical party.

In the 18 years of the rule of the Liberal-Conservative party they had established a condition of affairs, with which the Liberal party, when they came into power, dared not interfere.

The Liberal-Conservative party had denounced protection as robbery and piracy, the Liberals had "pulled down the brazen serpent of free trade" they had been worshipping, and taken to their hearts the thing that they had denounced for 18 years.

Mr. Osier had been pulled off in order to deodorize the party with which he was identified—and Mr. Fraser, who bought for $500 "lands for the settler," which he holds to be worth $150,000,
