Everything But Rail, Brother-in-Law Says

Gin Limited to One Bottle—Manager of Hearst's Film Service Describes Function
Which Preceded the Hirsch Shooting.

(New York Times)
Hearings in the action for criminal libel brought by George B. Van Cleave, brother-in-law of Marion Davies, film star, of 331 Riverside Drive, against The New York Herald, Evening Telegram and The Daily News were begun yesterday before Magistrate George W. Simpson in the Tombs Court. By agreement of counsel the testimony adduced related to the alleged libelous article in The Daily News describing a party at the Freeport, Long Island, home of Reine Davies at which her sister Marion was not present. It was recalled that following the party Mrs. Oscar Hirsch was charged with having shot her husband. William Harmon Black, counsel for Van Cleave, said that objection was made to the characterization of the party in The News as a riotous one and the comparison to Hollywood affairs. Complaint was also made in the headline on the story—"Complicated Shooting Brings Davies Girls Into Spotlight."

Van Cleave, an advertising writer, with homes in New York and Miami, Fla., said he had been general manager for the International Film Service, owned, he testified, by William Randolph Hearst. Marion Davies, he said, "has been and is" a star identified with the International production. He would not agree to the suggestion that Reine Davies was a star nor even a prominent actress, but just one who had received a good salary.

Draws Line Between Star and Player.

There was as much difference as between lawyer and process server when one considered stars and just players, he added. Therefore, he reasoned in his testimony, the headline in The News was libelous in bringing Marion Davies into the spotlight. Asked by McDonald DeWitt, counsel for The News, to define spotlight, the witness replied: "I should say, as used in the article, it was what The News wished its readers to understand."

"The complicated shooting" didn't bring the Davies girl into the spotlight, but The News' story did," interrupted Mr. Black.

De Witt tried to get Van Cleave to agree that if every paper mentioned Marion Davies in connection with the Freeport party and the aftermath it proved that the Davies girls were in the limelight. The counsel also sought to gain an admission from the witness that every account he had read in the local papers mentioned the fact that Marion Davies was a sister of Reine.

As supporting the truth of The News' version of the party, De Witt offered evidence the alleged libelous article appearing in The Evening Telegram, the headline of which read: "Millionaire Strangely Wounded Following Party at Screen Star's Home." It was in this connection that De Witt tried to show that Reine was also a screen star.

Asks If List Was Not Censored.

Examining Van Cleave on events leading up to the party, De Witt established that Marion had been invited to attend under a group invitation for "the whole family." Van Cleave explained that he had just returned from Europe with Mrs. Van Cleave, Mrs. Bernard Douras, wife of Magistrate Douras and mother of the Davies girls, and Ethel Davies. He was questioned closely as to the personnel of the guests at the Reine Davies home and asked why he had not included in a statement he issued following the shooting certain names which Mr. De Witt mentioned.

Van Cleave brought in the name of Sime Silverman, publisher of Variety, and asked if the name had not been left out of the list of guests made public intentionally because of unpleasant notority arising out of an automobile accident in which Silverman and Reine Davies were participants. Van Cleave disavowed any such implied intention.

"Don't you know that after spending the night at Tumble Inn and leaving at 8 o'clock in the morning, Silverman and Reine Davies had an accident on the way back to New York?" De Witt asked.

"I didn't know about it," replied the brother-in-law.

De Witt also asked if the names of three men who were present at the party had been omitted for the reason that one of them became so intoxicated as to require the assistance of his two colleagues to carry him home. Van Cleave said he did not know that such was a fact.

Gin Served Before Dinner.

"Were any intoxicating liquors served?"
"Yes, before dinner. Gin and orange juice," replied Van Cleave.

"Not one-half of one per cent. stuff but real, old pre-Vostoid goods, wasn't it?" De Witt inquired.

Van Cleave admitted that the gin was the "real stuff," of which there was only one bottle available. He explained that he refrained from drinking himself, performing the duties of mixer with Reine Davies. "We also had some home brew," Van Cleave added, and explained that the beer was served in a rathskellar equipped with a bar, wooden tables and chairs but without a bar rail.

Van Cleave said that he noticed Mrs.
Hirsch in the rathskellar.

"Was she a little oiled?" asked De Witt.

"Slightly intoxicated," replied Van Cleave.

Van Cleave said he noticed Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch just after the dinner which preceded the party. In answer to a question by counsel, Van Cleave recalled that Mr. Hirsch had "something on the hip."

"Did other guests have anything on their hips?"

"Undoubtedly, but they didn't offer any," Van Cleave answered with a smile.

Van Cleave told of hearing a shot and of assisting Hirsch, whom he described as "sober but badly scared," into the house while Magistrate Douras phoned for doctor. Van Cleave charged that The News version of the shooting was incorrect, in that Hirsch was not wounded in the manner described. He asserted that many of the readers of the paper believed the shooting occurred at the home of Marion Davies, and not that of Reine Davies. He promised to produce witnesses and letters to prove his assertion.

The hearing will be continued tomorrow.

ROAD IN BAD CONDITION.

The Spruce Lake road leading from Fairville is seriously in need of repairs.
This road was in fine condition but was badly injured when the new water main from Spruce Lake was put down, and has been left uneven and full of holes which make driving most unpleasant.
Those who use the road are complaining bitterly about its roughness, and declare something should be done at once to put it in shape.

Commissioner Wignore said last night that the contractors crossed the Spruce Lake road in more than one place. They would be responsible, he said, for putting the road in as good shape as they found it. The pipe was laid alongside of the highway.

There is Strength in Every Tablet

One often feels helpless and weak. One feels that one's blood is not strong. One feels that one's strength is failing.
It is so prepared that it will not harm the stomach. It is ready for almost im-

and assimilation by the blood while some physicians claim that iron tablets are not absorbed at all. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the fol-work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two or three tablets of this iron. Then test your strength again after meals for two weeks.

Then test your strength again.
You will find that you have gained strength and energy. If you do not

WAS FORERUNNER OF OCEAN FLEET

800 Ton Brig Brought First C. P. R. Cargo from Orient 35 Years Ago.

(Montreal Gazette)

Thirty-six years ago, on July 26, 1886, the 800-ton brig, W. B. Flint, five weeks out from Yokohama, sailed into British Columbia waters. The last spike had just been driven, linking, despite the formidable natural barrier, the Atlantic and Pacific with hands of steel. The full cargo, consisting of 17,340 half chests of tea, carried across the western ocean by the small sailing ship was the first Oriental cargo handled at Port Moody, the Pacific terminus of the newly-completed Canadian Pacific. From that humble origin has grown in less than three score years the world-wide traffic of the Canadian Pacific today, with its great fleet of steamships.

In 1887 the first regular trans-Pacific service was established with three chartered vessels brought from the Atlantic—the Batavia, the Parthia and the Abyssinia. Three years later, in July, 1890, the Canadian Pacific concluded a contract with the British government providing for a mail subsidy of £60,000 a year for services of three twin-screw steamships between British Columbia, Japan and China, and the following year the first of the three Empresses reached Victoria, B. C., on her maiden voyage. From that date to this the Canadian Pacific has held the leadership in Orient traffic on the Pacific. The Empress of Japan, the last of the trio in service, ended her career on the trans-Pacific run, with her arrival in Vancouver last week from the Orient, after having covered 18,000 miles in the service of the Canadian Pacific. The Monteagle recently concluded her splendid career on the Pacific Ocean. She was added to the Pacific fleet in 1906.

For thirty years the Empress of Japan has been in constant service without a day's interruption. Her record, Although in her day she was considered the finest of her type afloat, and for two decades was "Queen of the Pacific," she relinquished that honor only when the speedier and larger Empress of Russia and Empress of Asia, 16,800 tons each, were added to the Canadian Pacific fleet in 1913 for service between Vancouver and the Orient.

Within the past few weeks the two new liners, the Empress of Canada, 22-000 tons, and the Empress of Australia, 21,600 tons, have joined the Canadian Pacific fleet in the Orient service. The Empress of Canada, starting on her second voyage will leave Hong Kong today and the Empress of Australia, on her first trans-Pacific trip, will leave Vancouver tonight for the Orient.

Today the successors of the little brig, the W. B. Flint, carry the flag of the Canadian Pacific on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, on the Mediterranean, Caribbean, Adriatic and South China Seas, and along the coasts and on the inland waters of Canada. The brig's 800 tons have increased to over 465,000 tons, and that one service across the Pacific has grown into those numerous and important routes by which Canada is now linked with four continents and the Canadian Pacific has become the world's greatest transportation system by water and by land. In contrast to the passage made by the W. B. Flint across the Pacific in 36 days, the record for the fastest trip across the Pacific was made by the Empress of Russia in 8 days, 18 hours and 31 minutes.

SHIFTING OF THE STRIKE ISSUE

When the railway shophen voted to strike, they gave reasons of all which they have since abandoned. They were to resist the cut in their wages ordered by the Railroad Labor Board. But now they say they will accept it, in view of the promise of a re-hearing of their case should altered conditions warrant it.
They also struck against the contracting out of repair work by the railways. But this practice has been almost completely given up, partly by action of the company, partly by direction of the Railroad Labor Board.

The net result, therefore, is that the shophen are remaining out on an issue which did not exist when they originally struck. This is the issue of their seniority rights. Apparently, they would go back to work if these rights were unequivocally restored to them. The difficulty is plainly of their own creating.
If they had stuck to their jobs, it never would have arisen. And if what they now assert is true, namely, that the roads have not been able to get men to take their places, the question cannot be practically very acute. If there are no new employees to speak of ahead of them, they could go back with no substantial loss of privileges.

This statement of the case shows, to be sure, how foolish and needless the strike was at the beginning, but it also leaves the impression of a pretty small difference between the railways and the shophen. The latter still speak of bringing the companies to their knees, and some railway executives talk of "fighting to a finish," but neither side could really maintain that the facts, and the sole issue growing out of them, are important enough to justify a struggle to the last extremity. Both sides have in their hands good bargaining material—some would say bluffing material—but the inference from this is not that they should stand apart indefinitely in hostility, but should meet soon to make the desired bargain.

If the president declares to be letting

CLOGGED INTESTINES BREED POISONS LIKE A SWAMP BREEDS MOSQUITOES

And these poisons are absorbed straight into the blood, says Alice Landies, rendering you easy prey to any ailment or disease.

Advices drinking alkaline medicinal water for quick results. Gives prescription the liver and thoroughly wash out the intestines.

Acids and poisons from the sour fermenting mass with which the intestines become fouled are absorbed straight into the blood as surely as though injected by a hypodermic needle.

Thousands of tiny intestinal glands which should be absorbing nourishment commence to throw virulent poisons into the blood stream.

The liver and kidneys are unable to take care of all these rank bowel poisons, and therefore soon become clogged and deranged. With the nervous system and vitality depressed, the body deprived of sufficient nourishment, and the disease-resistance reduced far below the danger point, any ailment, from a common cold to influenza or pneumonia, is possible and even probable. Mental dulness, physical languor, coated tongue, bad breath, rheumatism, neuralgia, catarrh, dizziness, headache, backache, skin disorders, bladder trouble and stomach complaints are only a few of the easily recognized symptoms of constipation and the various organic derangements it causes. To correct such conditions you need not irritate the bowels with strong salts or grease them with oils. These processes are all very weakening and mean harmful reactions afterwards. Instead, try washing out the intestines, flushing the kidneys and gently stimulating the liver with a mild and pleasant tasting, but astonishingly effective alkaline medicinal water such as you would drink at one of the world's famous hot alkaline mineral springs.

There is no need of traveling to the springs, however, as you can get the same essential medicinal constituents in a safe compound in the form of refined Alka-Salts, which any chemist can supply at slight cost.

I had dull pains all over my body.
I suffered agony with headaches. My the doctor told me afterwards that it was only because I had a strong heart that I managed to pull through.

By the time I was out of danger, I was so weak and tired that I had lost interest in everything. I tried several preparations to build me up but none of them did me any good. One day a friend who had been very ill called in to see me, looking the picture of health. I asked her what she had been doing with herself to look so well and fat.
She said that Carnol had done won-it counts upon the shophen also coming cannot be denied that all this optimism may prove to have been but only for dwellers in a fool's paradise. The actual
