

ONE OF PUZZLES OF NEAR EAST

What is the Ultimate Fate of General Wrangel's Army
in Exile?

Athens, Sept. 1.—The ultimate fate of General Wrangel's Russian army in exile of whom 20,000 officers and men still are encamped on the Gallipoli Peninsula still continues one of the unsolved puzzles of the Near East.

General Wrangel has held together the best of his officers and men from among the refugee army which fled from Russia before the victorious Bolsheviks. He has hoped that his forces would be again needed in Russia to maintain a new government "when the Soviet regime collapsed."

But this is a hope deferred and Wrangel's best fighting men wait in their tents and huts on Gallipoli.

Major Jean de Hoover, chairman of the League of Nations commission for the exchange of populations between Greece and Bulgaria, has visited the Russian camp and brought away a very favorable able impression of the officers and men. He knows something about the Russian fighting man for he was formerly the Belgian representative with Wrangel's army when it was the bulwark of the anti-Bolshevik strength in the Crimea.

"In this camp, besides 1,500 women and children, there are 8,000 officers, 10,000 soldiers and 2,000 cadets in the military schools. These troops have kept their military organization. Their morale is of the highest and they voluntarily submit to the most stern discipline; for in all their hardships they are buoyed up by an unquestioning faith in their chief, General Wrangel, and in the greatness of their mission.

"They encamped under canvas, or in old huts that have no doors or windows, but are always in an irreproachable state of cleanliness.

"They are fed by France. In addition, General Wrangel is paying them, from the little money he still has—about a dollar a month.

"Wrangel, who succeeded in getting employment as labor corps, in Serbia and Bulgaria for nearly all his Cossack troops, is trying to get Serbia to receive his Gallipoli Army Corps. Five thousand of them are going to be used by Jugoslavia as a frontier guard.

"As for the other regiments, the government of Belgrade is prepared to offer them its hospitality if funds are put at its disposal which will cover their upkeep for two years. The Russia Ambassador at Washington has still several tens of millions of dollars, the remnants of funds that were sent him from Russia before the Bolshevik coup d'état, to pay for the orders for war material. Wrangel is making every effort to get the few million dollars necessary for the carrying out of his scheme raised out of these funds and transmitted to the Serbian government.

"If he succeeds, what will be the ultimate role of this legion? Will it fight again as an army? Probably not. The general opinion in Russian circles is that Bolshevism must go under in an internal convulsion of the country, and will be then that elements of order, a framework of administrative and police organization will be needed by the new government to restore calm for the convocation of the Constituent Assembly. This is where the survivors of the National Russian Army hope to be of service to their country."

FARMERS ARE WIDE-AWAKE.

(Canadian Farmer, Winnipeg)
Just how keen the Alberta farmers were to achieve success in the Alberta provincial elections is shown by the fact that in the Wainwright constituency, only 25 possible voters were not polled. Several other rural constituencies had averages almost equally high.

Who will deny the right of the farmers to rule if they continue to take such an interest in public affairs? Every citizen should take a similar interest in the affairs of the community.

POPULATION OF PALESTINE LOW

London, Sept. 4.—(Associated Press, by Mail).—There are now barely 700,000 people in all Palestine, a population much less than that of Galicia alone in the time of Christ, says Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner there, in a recent report just made public. He says 10,000 immigrants arrived in Palestine in the seven months between September, 1920, and May, 1921. Sir Samuel attributes the scarcity of the population to lack of development.

The financial condition of Eastern and Central Europe, and internal difficulties within the Zionist organization of the United States, says the report, have prevented the Zionist movement from providing, as yet, any large sums for enterprises of development or colonization. As a consequence, while there had been much pressure to admit Jewish immigrants, there had been little expansion in the opportunities for employment. The water supply for Jerusalem having been found to be insufficient, the government is bringing into use some ancient reservoirs of vast capacity, named the pools of Solomon, but of unknown date, possibly Herodian, situated eight miles away.

The garrison of the country has been reduced to 5,000 combatant troops, imposing a charge of $2,500,000 on the British exchequer, or at the rate of £200 for every fighting man.
