THE NORTHERN CATCH.

Fewer Cases Filled With Salmon Than During Last Year.

By the Islander, which arrived last evening from the North, the Times re-ceived information about the salmon fishing industry, which shows that the catch for 1893 will be considerably below that of last year. All the canneries on the Skeena, with the exception of the Royal Canadian, have stopped fishing for the season, and the Royal Canadian people expect to haul in their nets for the last filled by the Skeena river companies is given, approximately as follows: British American, 7,000; Windsor, 6,-000; Inverness, 7,000; Standard, 7,500; North Pacific, 7,500; Royal Canadian, 10,000. The total will be about 60,000 cases, against 98,000 in 1892.

The Alert Bay cannery put up about 2,000, Price's, of Gardener's Inlet, 4,500, and Draine, near River's Inlet, 2,500. On River's Inlet the fish have been running well, and each of the two companies are reported to have from 8,000 to 10 000 cases. On the Naas the run was small, the McLellan cannery having filled about 3,-000 cases, while the other company is understood to have about the same, prob- taken. ably 2,500, cases.

RETURN OF THE ISLANDER.

Marriage of Robert Cunningham at Port Essington.

The steamer Islander returned yesterday afternoon from Alaska. She brought home a thoroughly well pleased party of On the way down they excursionists. presented the following address to Capt. John Irving:-"After a most delightful trip to the land of the midnight sun on your elegant steamer Islander, we desire to express our sincere thanks for the many courtesies and acts of kindness extended to us by you and the gentlemanly officers under your command. Alaska with all her wonders has been shown to us and upon all occasions everything for our comfort and happiness has been cheerfully provided. Assuring you that we shall ever remember with greatest pleasure the magnificent Islander and her gentlemanly commander and officers, we remain, etc., very sincerely

SKEENA SNAGS.

A Canners' Meeting at Claxton-Par

simony of Dominion Government. Claxton, July 22.-A meeting of the Skeena River cannery men was held at Claxton on Saturday, July 22nd. The following canneries were represented:-Inverness, North Pacific, Balmoral, British American. Windsor. Cunningham. Royal Canadian Packing Co., and Stand- M. S. Garnet will not be sent home to re- the show. ard. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the fishing intertion as a receiving ship. Her three 25 cents. Mr. Kirk, secretary; Messrs. Stapelton, Gus Holmes, Dempster, Skillen, J. A. Carthew and Cunningham, Mr. Woods, of the Standard, owing to the arrival of the Princess Louise from Victoria early in the day, had to go to Naas river, and left his views in writing.

Various matters of interest were discussed and the opinions of the different representatives were given. While they held different views on many matters of interest, considerable comment was made | cation from Esquimalt. on the Dominion Government's parsimo nious policy in not spending some mone to remove the snags which do so much damage to the nets in the Skeena River

The canners were of the opinion that as the Dominion Government collects between six and seven thousand dollars each year for licenses on the Skeena, that they could very well afford to spend at least two thousand of this in remov ing the snags. The canners have nets in the water which cost them in the neighborhood of sixty thousand dollars, which, owing to the many snags, scarcely last one year-in fact many of them are nearly made over new during the fishing season. If our representative to Ottawa would run against snags other than those in the Skeena River.

After the business of the meeting was over, the canners partook of a substantial lunch with Mr. Dalby, which was served up in good old English style by Mine Hostess Mrs. Kirby of the Royal Canadian Hotel, and on leaving for home they all expressed themselves very much of legal offices for Ontario, and formerly pleased with the progress that Claxton had made since its inception less than two years ago.

Quarters are Needed.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. have ot yet secured quarters for more than half of the delegates to the coming ention, the opening day of which is rapidly approaching. In this dilemma the friends and patrons of the institution and those who have been benefited by it should come forward and see that the delegates are cared for. Last year at Tacoma the delegates were all capitaly cared for, and the motto was "Everyhing is yours." Victoria has a reputation for hospitality which ought not to be endangered. Anyone able to spare room should communicate with Secretary Elson of the Y. M. C. A.

As a Receiving Ship. It was reported this afternoon that H. commission, but will remain on the staesent, Mr. Wm. Dalby, in the chair, ber, and it was originally planned to send her home then. In the event of the new scheme being followed the officers and men will go home via the C. P. R. and across the Atlantic, a plan which the few times it has been tried proved satisfactory. There is need for a receiving ship on the station, the Garnet is a good one for the purpose, and it is not unlikely that what is rumored will be done. Cleared the Corner. This afternoon the stock brokers on Campbell's corner noticed a runaway horse approaching their stamping ground at a speed indicating his intention of making a record in clearing the corner that the policemen might envy. No body attempted to dispute the passage, and the animal flew across the sidewalk and up Yates street without injuring anybody. He continued his career along Broad street and was finally captured. He had reminiscences of a former vehicle hanging to him in the shape of a pair of badly shattered shafts. Persons who witnessed the Campbell's corner was to pay this portion of his district a part of the entertainment say they never visit, there is no doubt but what he saw men so unaccustomed to vigorous exercise as the gentlemen who daily and nightly "hold down" that piece of real estate move so rapidly. When the elder sister looked for Bessie a minute after she was horrified to find that the young girl had disappeared. An alarm was quickly given, and within ten minutes two young men had succeeded in getting the body ashore. It was found in seven feet of water. Medical assistance happened to be close at hand, but despite every effort that was made before his arrival or afterwards life could not be restored. Two doctors gave it as their opinion that the young lady had burst a blood vessel in her violent exertions to save her friend and had helplessly sunk. Deceased was a student, a matriculant

The Vanishing Wild Pigeon Very remarkable has been the history of the native wild pigeon, a bird entirely peculiar to North America, from the Gulf of Mexico to Hudson's Bay. Its history s not only very interesting, but quite wonderful in some of its details. The bird tself, taken singly, as we rustics know, is elegant in form, and very pleasing in its slate-colored plumage, tinged with a pale shading of red on the breast. It is very gentle and peaceable, entirely harmless, and even timid by nature. Who would have thought it possible that gentle birds like these should have swept over the interior of the continent within century in flocks so vast as to obscure the sun at noon as though the country lay under an eclipse, while the ceaseless rapid motion of millions of wings produced a loud roar like an approaching tornado? Accurate and experienced men of science-Wilson and Audobon-tell usof vast flocks covering 180 square miles of country in Kentucky as recently as 1813. They tell us of vast breeding-places in Western forests many miles in extent, where ninety nests were counted in one tree. They tell us of roosting-grounds forty miles in length, with a breadth of several miles, the uproar from the roosting-ground being heard at a distance of three miles. They tell us of one column of these birds in flight covering 240 miles of country in length! Grand indeed must have been the movement over the continent of that vast living winged cloud, a great marvel of nature. Nothing to equal it has been known elsewhere on earth. The old pines on the hill-tops about the Otsego water some forty years ago must have been frequently over-shadowed by flocks of the wild pigeon, much less wonderful than those farther west, but still remarkable in their numbers.

On the early morning of June 8, 1847. the lake and the village lay shrouded in a summer mist. A large flock of wild pigeons became bewildered in the fog, and lost their way-an unusual incident in their history. Their naturally keen sight could not pierce the mist. They dropped on the nearest trees, in the heart of the village, on our own lawn, in the churchyard, and on the elms and maples shading the streets. With the first rays of the sun appearing above Mount Vision the mist rose and the birds took flight. In the spring of 1849 a large flock of pigeons supposed to number several thousands, selected for their breeding-place a wood in the valley of the Susquehanna, some miles to the southward of the lake The details were similar to those reported of the vast breeding-places at the Westnests carelessly built of twigs, a number in close neighborhood in the same tree; broken limbs of trees; a low murmur of wings. But the ground occupied was a narrow one.

Since those years no large flocks of wild pigeons have passed over Lake Otsego. A few only have been seen, where formerly they were numbered by the hundred. To-day you enquire if any wild pigeons have been recently found in these woods. "None that we have seen or heard of lately," shall be the answer to What a change within your enquiry. forty years! Alas for the vanished wild pigeon.—Harper's.

Then each relighted his little lantern, put out the light held in a litttle reflector on the breast (to light up the book before him), and as silently as they came they went off to their cells.

There are forty peres or pretres there and forty-four freres. The peres are the more advanced, live in their cells from week's end to week's end, except for their church services at midnight and one meal together on Sundays and church holidays. These peres never speak to each other nor to any one whatever except when out on a promenade, which they take once a week. The freres do the business of the convent and are less restricted, though they never go outside of the twelve-acre walled inclosure without permission. No woman is ever allowed to go inside that walled inclosure except by written permission from the Pope, and Queen Victoria was the last one having that permission.

My trip to the convent, through a beau tiful mountainous country, and the last nine kilometers up the side of a mountain torrent. delighted me greatly. was nothing but a mule path to this convent until 1854, and their idea of living 'dens une solitude absolue' was well carried out for nearly 800 years. It is a strange idea of God and of the way to get to heaven; that you should abandon the world and all the trials and duties so that you may please him and gain a happy hereafter. I used to call this bandbox virtue, but now I withdraw condemnation till I know their individual griefs and mental makeups. It is at least better than suicide, for time is almost always curative and reflection and study bring peace and mental equanimity. will add that the freres I met were pleasant, intelligent men, charging me moderately and treating me well, and when I left the convent between 8 and 9 in the morning, a bright, intelligent brother, guarding the door with a monster key, said:-" Bon jour, Monsieur, et bon souvenir de la Grande Chartreuse," before he locked the door behind me.-Hartford Courant.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Whether or not special World's Fair rates shall be made by the roads in the Central Traffic Asociation will be decided at the meeting of general managers which is being held to-day in the Rookery building. One fare for the round trip is likely to be adopted, as nearly all the roads are satisfied that rates must be reduced if general demoralization is to be avoided. The action to-day will have a powerful influence on the western and southwestern lines that are still keeping up rates and preventing hundreds of thousands from seeing the fair.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Louisiana's homelike and cozy headquarters on the World's Fair grounds were dedicated to-day with interesting ceremonies. All the state and national commissioners and the World's Fair officials turned out in honor of the occasion, and they were reinforced by several thousand sons and daughters of the state. Governor Foster, accompanied by the members of his staff, and escorted by companies of the New Orleans militia, was given an especially hearty welcome. The exercises, which commenced at 2 o'clock, were after the usual order observed by the other state buildings, including music, speeches and the formal transfer of the keys to the exposition authorities.

New York, Aug. 10.-The market was strong and higher this morning. The market is beginning to feel the good effects of the heavy arrivals of gold and the increase in the national bank circulation Tennessee coal and iron was a marked exception and fell 1 1-8 to 10 1-2.

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 10.—Director Holden, of the Lick Observatory, has not yet received any responses to his request for drawings or photographs of the sun made by other observatories at about the time an object was observed on the sun's disc at the observatory, and if none are received the question of whether a comet was crossing the sun's disc at the time the photograph was being taken will remain unanswered. Immense spots on the sun are being closely watched by the astronomers but as yet there have been no developments. San Jose, Cal., Aug. 10.-In the examination of Brakeman Granger, charged with the murder of Ernest Lincoln, by pushing or kicking him from a train, several witnesses testified that Granger was inside the car and could not have been on the platform from which Lincoln fell. San Francisco, Aug. 10.—The proscu-

tion closed its case yesterday in the trial by court martial of Paymaster Sullivan at Vallejo, and a postponement was taken until 10 o'clocpk this morning, when the examination of witnesses for defense commenced

Advice to Wives. Lillian Lewis (nee Russell) has blossomed out in a brand new character. As as Lenora bulling the market, or as Racquin murdering Camille, or as Theran excerpt written by Lillian Lewis to a bousewife follow my example," says the only Lillian. "Man's strongest love is is in his stomach, and the surest way to keep his love is to feed him well. you want to make yourself a good house keeper, a companionable and beloved wife, don't devote all your time to your finger nails and your novel. Give the very early morning to housework. An hour in the morning is worth the whole afternoon when dirty housecleaning is being done. Wear long rubber gloves and keep a cut lemon at the sink to remove stains, and to rub your hands with before commencing to bake. Keep your hands beautiful even though you make them work. Beauty and work are easily combined. Never indulge in an exasperating way of looking slovenly on the slightest provocation; the plainest skirt and basque with a bit of embroidery in the neck and sleeves is always exquisitely neat. On: scrubbing days wear an enormous apron made of oilcloth. Always be neatly combed on sewing days: protect your hair by a cap. Don't tell your husband you are tired. A labor of love does not make one tired. After dinner get your husband a cigar and three matches, and if he don't love you after all this, get divorced.

The Largest Freight Steamer.
