INDIGESTION AND

FREDERICTON.

eount of the great popularily of both bride and groom, was this evening isolemnized in the cathedral, when Miss Ida Kathleen Allen, youngest daughter of the late John Allen, late chief justice of New Brunswick, and A. Rainsford Wetmore, Chief Ragineer of the Provincial Pablic Works Department, and son of the late Judge Wetmore were made one, the ceremony was performed by His Lordahlp the Bithop of Fredericton, assisted by Rev. Sub-Dean Whally, and despite of the very inclement weather the the church was literally packed to the doors by a large congregation of interested spectators all anxious to get a peep at the bride, who looked very charming as she entered the church and was led to the altar by her uncle, Mr. T. Carlston Allen, Clerk of the Pleas; she was beautifully robed in a gown of white gros-grain slik with full court train and trimmings of lace and orange blossoms and wore a bridal well and carried a large shower bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Bessie Esablit as bridesmald, who wore a costume of white silk with pink chifon trimmings and carried a large shouget of pink roses and wore a pearl dagger, a gift of the groom.

Two dainty littue maidens, the Misses Lenore and Hasen Allen coesins of the bride were maids of honor, and both were dressed in white slik, with stockings and shoes of pale green and wore "Mother Hubbard" hats with crowns of pale green. They also wore gold chains and pendants and carried pink baskets of flowers the gifts of the bridegroom. The groom had the unbers were, Mr. A. R. Tubbits, J. Frank Sherman, J. A. Winslow and Mary Chestuut. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to "The Poplats," the residence of Mr. T. Cariston Allen where a reception was held, and luncheon was served, after which the newly weeded couple took the eight o'clock train for Upper Canadian cities.

The presents were on a truly ma_nificant scale: those which altracted most attection, were from members of the Government. The grooms the large.

those which altracted most attertion, were from members of the Government. The grooms with to his bride was a ring hoop of diamonds. Plowing at a Mark.

An exchange prints an amusing story of an Irish laborer whom his employer set to bold the plow.

Pat was new at the business, and the first attempt was anything but successful.

'Look here,' said the farmer, 'that kind of thing won't do. The corn will be dizzy that grows in a furrow so crooked as that. Fix your eye on something across the field, and head straight for it. That cow there by the gate is right opposite us. Aim at her, and you'll do pretty well.'

'All right sir,' said Pat, and just then the farmer was called away to the barn. Ten minutes later he returned, and was borrified to see that the plow had been wandering in a zigzag course all over the field.

on! What are you up to?"

'And sure, sir,' said Pat, I did what you told me. I worked straight for the cow, but the crayture wouldn't kape still.

How They Came to London,

How They Came to London.

The following conversation took place between two gentlemen the other evening in a crowded London clabroom. They had been talking about the condition of things when they first came to London: Said Mr. Brown:

'When I first came to London I had only a ragged coat, a knife and a few marbles in my pocket.'

'You were better off than I, then, for I had neither a coat nor a waistcoat, nor a knife, nor even marbles.'

'Noneneve, was the reply. 'How could that be?'
