Jim Corbett's Advice To The Boilermaker

Hard Work Needed to Perfect Endurance--Says Actual Fighting Is More Benefit Than Boxing--Jeff Declines to Leave Old Handlers, Ryan and Delaney--His Success Due to Former.

New York, Feb. 6.—"I don't say that Jeffries will have a cinch with Johnson," said James J. Corbett the other day, "because nothing is sure in pugilism, and I don't know whether Jim can recover the old speed and stamina. Furthermore I've made a careful study of the negro, and I am convinced that he will be hard to beat in a long fight, but if Jeffries is as fit as when he beat me at Frisco I am willing to say that he'll stop Johnson inside of a dozen rounds. It is all a question of condition with the boilermaker. He knows how to fight and has thought little of boxing of pugilism. He has a wonderful constitution though and he told me in London recently that he was sure he could come back. In fact he said he did not make up his mind to fight Johnson until he had satisfied himself that he could get into best condition.

"I have agreed to spend the last five weeks at his camp to help him speed up. I intend to box with him ten or fifteen rounds every day at top speed so that he can increase his activity in getting around the ring. There are many tricks and methods which Jim can freshen up on, and I think I can help him. But in addition to boxing bouts with me I think he should have two or three rugged heavyweights who can fight him in dead earnest. If I had had anything to do with his management I would have made Jeff take part in several real fights in order to subject him to a severe test. Boxing doesn't count much, you know, when a man is training for a hard mill. He needs actual experience in the giving and taking of heavy blows in order to test his stamina and harden his physique.

"Endurance is going to cut a big figure in this battle and I am very anxious to have Jeff perfect himself in this respect. He is a bear for work and is so determined to beat the negro that I am sure he will leave no stone unturned in his preparation. I know he will not shirk a single task set before him, for he realizes that Johnson is not a joke and will put up a terrific battle.

Corbett attributes Jeffries' cleverness to the early lessons he received from Tommy Ryan when the boilermaker was preparing for his first conflict with Bob Fitzsimmons. Ryan was engaged by W. A. Brady to go down to Jeff's training quarters at Allershurst, N. J., and show him some of the more scientific features of the game of hit, stop and get away. Ryan, a wonderful boxer and fighter himself, jumped at the chance. When he took hold of Jeffries he found the boilermaker was just a big lumbering giant who could take a licking and had a killing wallop if he could land it.

HOLY TRINITY THE WINNERS

Take Knights Into Camp to the Tune of 60 Timbers--C Lunney Wins Weekly Roll Off at Black's.

The scientific hardwood pounders from the Valley further demonstrated their claim to league leaders last evening by calmly capturing all four points from the much tallerers, who are known as the K. C.'s, in a rather tame exhibition on St. Peter's alleys. The game was utterly devoid of thrilling situations, the Holy Trinity five winning each point with comparative ease. Only in the second string did the Knights assume a dangerous aspect, and for a time it appeared as though through some sheer possibility they would carry off the point. The rally quickly ended, however, and the leaders finally romped away with nine kindlings to the good. In the third and last the tallenders were evidently all to the bad, while their opponents showed some little improvement and when the last timber had been moved down it was seen that the Holy Trinity quintette were all to the cream to the tune of 60 sticks.

Table with 4 columns: Name, Points, Sticks, etc. Holy Trinity: J. Doherty 60, 66, 83, 209, 69, 2, 3; O'Brien 56, 78, 75, 239, 79, 2, 3; Fohney 76, 79, 81, 236, 73, 2, 3; P. Doherty 79, 81, 73, 233, 77, 2, 3; Riley 84, 78, 84, 246, 82, 3.

Table with 4 columns: Name, Points, Sticks, etc. Knights of Columbus: McCafferty 101, 84, 70, 255, 85; Murphy 73, 69, 70, 212, 70, 2, 3; McCheskey 80, 78, 82, 234, 73; McDade 60, 68, 137, 63, 1, 3; Gallagher 60, 80, 75, 215, 71, 2, 3.

The monthly roll-off on Black's Alley last evening brought some competitors and some high scores were made. C. Lunney carried off the premier prize of a handsome pipe, making the steep score of 108, 89, 108 with an average of 101.3. D. McLellan was but a shade in the rear, winning a handsome Japanese set, with the score of 87, 89, 127, and an average of 101.3.

DOBSON AT Y. M. C. A. Cecil Dobson won the monthly roll off at the Y. M. C. A. alleys last night with a string of 79. The prize was a jack knife, presented by Mr. L. D. P. Riley.

LOOKS GOOD TO EXMOUTH Y.M.A. TEAM

A silver cup has been offered by W. H. Thomas and Company, Limited, to the team winning in the Independent Basketball League. The cup is now on exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. building and is very beautifully designed, standing about ten inches high. Judging from the present standing of the teams in the league it looks as if the Exmouth street Y. M. A. were certain to carry off the silverware.

BALDWIN AND MORAN TONIGHT

Englishman to Mix With Yankee in Return Bout at Boston Tonight--What the Wise Ones Say.

Boston, Feb. 7.—A number of bouts of interest to the local sports are billed for this week, but the return bout between Owen Moran, the English lightweight and Matty Baldwin, at the Armory A. A. tomorrow night looks best to the fans in this section. Whether Baldwin will be able to gain the decision again over Moran is causing considerable discussion, and the admirers of boxing appear evenly divided on the point.

Moran should again be the loser if he can make as good as he did in the previous bout. At Frisco, he had a chance for some important bouts in California, and it will class Baldwin among the topnotchers. With so much at stake both boxer and promoter will make Sullivan show all he knows.

The other bout between Joe Nelson and Eddie Conly will be another rugged contest. Their last meeting was a hard bout, but only was not in the shape he is for this contest.

Bill Bailey. Writing of the go in the Boston Post Bill Bailey says: "Jack Sheehan says that Owen Moran is no longer featherweight champion of England, but that Matty Baldwin has taken the title from him when he defeated him at the Armory Club two weeks ago. I think Jack is 'kidding'—either himself or me—but that's neither here nor there. Baldwin and Moran meet again at the Triple A next Tuesday night, in what will be their 'rubber' contest. Each has won one decision over the other, and a stake on the result of the fight between Moran and Baldwin have both received offers to go to California, with either Baldwin or Ad Wolgast named as the prospective opponent, but the chance to make the trip to the coast will go to the winner of Tuesday night's bout.

Moran was bitterly disappointed at his defeat by Baldwin, although he took it like a good sport, admitting that he did not box as well as he should, and that Baldwin was at his best. So important was the rematch that Baldwin's manager secured a postponement of Matty's contest with Ray Bronson, which was to have come off at New Orleans yesterday. Moran has put in the past few days at his training quarters near New York, and as he knows the hard task he has before him he will have only himself to blame if he is not in perfect shape and suffers another defeat at the hands of the boy from Bunker Hill.

EMPIRE RIFLE MATCH IS ON FOR JULY

London, Feb. 7.—It was announced today at a meeting of the National Rifle Association that at the Bisley meeting, July 4 to 10 a team from Australia would be present, also a contingent from the Malay States Guides and Singapore Rifle Association. The empire match, in which members of the British team took part in Australia in 1907, will be in the first week of July. In regard to the service rifle, it was decided that the service rifle of any pattern other than

More Giants Sign--Hoping to Get a Second Matty Among New Pitchers--Coffroth May Get Nelson Mill.

New York, Feb. 7.—John J. McGraw, the manager of the Giants, who has been wide awake to the importance of strengthening his team in the box, has high hopes of developing a second Matty or, at least, a pitcher who can take his regular turn in the box, from the recruits he has picked up with the help of his trusty scout.

Six more signed contracts were received at the office of the club, in the St. James building, yesterday, bringing the total up to fourteen. At Frisco, well, than whom there are few better shortstops, was satisfied with the terms offered, and his contract was among those received yesterday, while Harold Daley, who signed last Wednesday, the others were from Arthur Fletcher, the utility infielder; Charles B. Spencer, a first baseman, from the Portsmouth team of the Ohio State League, and three new pitchers, who are seeking fame, fortune and the confidence of the "fans" in big-league company for the first time—H. L. Buck, Robert Scott and W. P. Parsons.

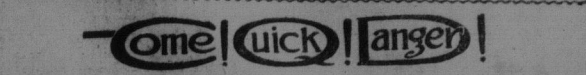

Parsons comes to New York with an excellent record, and of the five or six new pitchers who will be carefully nurtured through the winter, which includes Daley, who signed last Wednesday, his chances to "make good" look exceptionally bright. He pitched for the Marion club of the Ohio State League last year and won fourteen games out of twenty-one for a percentage of 667. He had a fielding percentage of 972, and according to those who have seen him work he is a natural ball player, with a most deceptive delivery.

Buck pitched for the Adrian Club of Michigan, last season, and comes here well recommended, although his record of eight games won and seven lost was not particularly brilliant. After being secured last season, he had had enough experience to have overcome stage fright.

Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, who has done a heap of talking lately, has refused point blank to accept the challenge of Paddy MacFarland, who went to England last month for the purpose of fighting Welsh. The Briton says MacFarland is too heavy for him while the latter is willing to make the English lightweight limit. Meanwhile Jim Driscoll has cornered Welsh for a match and public opinion may force the English lightweight champion to sign articles.
