Folling His Impulses.

A well-known preacher in the Irish church is justly famed for his eloquence. Particularly does he shine in this respect when he is making an appeal for any charitable object. Recently two country tradesmen went to hear him and on their way home were comparing notes.

"Man, Bradley," said one, "that was a grand discourse entirely! Oi cudn't help giving half-a-crown at the collection."

"Well, yez see," replied Bradley, "Oi hed the advantage ave ye this toime, fur Oi've heard him afore. Whin I was puttin' on me Sunday clothes, shure Oi left everything out ave me pocket but wan sixpence. Man, he has a powerful way wid him altogether!"

Fully Reciprocated.

In a national school near Ballybeg the principal ruled his pupils with a rod of iron. Although a really good teacher, he was somewhat harsh in his punishments and rarely appeared to have a due appreciation of youthful spirits. One day he had occasion to reprimand some senior boys for unseemly conduct and ended his remarks—

"Owen Girvan, you are a worthless lad, and there is a bad end before you; I am glad that I'm not your father."

"Yer nawt half as glad as Oi am, sorr!" was Owen's undutiful reply.

"I am very sorry to inform you," remarked the motor-man, "that I have unintentionally killed this hen of yours." He held the fowl up to her view. "Now I am quite willing to pay the value—" "Oh, I'm so much obliged to you!" interrupted the woman. "I have been trying to catch that bird for three days to cook it for dinner, and I never could so much as lay a hand the thing. Thank you, sir, thank you!"

"If She Had Only Known!"

An amusing reminiscence of the experiences of the King when, as Prince of Wales, he hunted with the Pytchley forty-six years ago has been recalled. After a good gallop in the crisp, wintry air the Prince accompanied by the Master, Earl Spencer, passed by Holdenby Lodge, a farmhouse, where the good-wife was preparing the mid-day meal. The appetizing smell of beefsteak and onions was filling the air as the Prince and Earl rode up. They entered the yard and Earl Spencer said to the landlady, who was unaware of the Prince's identity, "My friend here has been attracted by the savory aroma of your cooking, and fancies a taste of it."

"With pleasure, my lord!" said the landlady. "Ask him in and we will soon have it ready."

They were ushered into the kitchen and sat on the homely chairs. The cloth was laid and the farmer was called in.

A Pluralist.

Upon his accession to the throne the Emperor of Russia was appointed Colonel-in-chief of the Royal Scots Greys. Whilst dressing for dinner an enthusiastic subaltern communicated the information to his servant.

"Donald," he said, "have you heard that the new Emperor of Russia has been appointed colonel of the regiment?"

"Indeed, sir!" replied Donald. "It's a vera proud thing." Then, after a pause, he inquired—"Beg pardon, sir, but will he be able to keep both places?"

Their Power was Limited.

"Your cousin's medical practice, I suppose, is not very extensive as yet?"

"No, I am sorry to say. We relatives do all we can, but, of course, we can't be ill all the time!"

A Sceptic.

Elsie: "Melville is very great on platonic friendship, you know. He says he shall never marry."

Maud: "Oh, I used to know a man who said that, too."

Elsie: "Did you? Where is he now?"

Maud: "Upstairs—playing horse with baby."

A Rara Avis.

Recently a motor-car ran down and killed a hen. The driver, a conscientious man, instead of racing along unmindful of the owner of the hen, immediately stopped, got out, tenderly picked up the fowl, and rang the bell at a farmhouse near. A woman opened the door.

Caught a Cold Which Ended in a Severe Attack of Pneumonia.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that when a person catches cold it must be attended to immediately, or serious results are liable to follow.

Bronchitis, Pneumonia and Consumption are all caused by neglecting to cure the simple cold.

Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Pattullo, Ont., writes:—"Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of Pneumonia. Since that time at the beginning of each winter I seem to catch cold very easily. I have been so hoarse I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and before it was half used I was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Beware of the many imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Ask for "Dr. Wood's" and insist on getting what you ask for.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price, 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Eyesight Restored

Eyeglasses May be Abandoned

A Wonderful Discovery That Corrects Afflictions of the Eye Without Cutting or Drugging.

There is no need of cutting, drugging or probing the eye for the relief of most forms of disease, as a new method—the Actina treatment—has been discovered, which eliminates the necessity of former tortuous methods. There is no risk or necessity of experiment, as many people report having been cured of failing eyesight, cataracts, granulated lids and other afflictions of the eye, after being pronounced incurable.

F. W. Brooks, Bauchene, P. Q., Canada, writes: "Owing to having severely strained my eyes writing and checking at night, my eyes became very painful, and I could not bear the light. After using 'Actina' less than four months, I can read and write as well as ever."

Amanda G. Dumphy, Narhwaak Village N. B., Canada, writes: "I have used 'Actina' as directed, and I can truly say it has done more for my eyes than I expected. I wore glasses for five years and suffered much pain. Since using 'Actina' I can sew or read without glasses and my eyes do not pain me."

Mr. Harry E. Hendryx, Whitneyville, Conn., writes: "One of the leading eye professors told my wife that she would never see with her left eye again. But Actina has restored the sight, and it is now as good as the right one."

Hundreds of other testimonials will be sent on application. 'Actina' is purely a home treatment, and is easily used. It will be sent on trial, post paid. If you will send your name and address to the Actina Appliance Co., Dept. 848, 811 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo., you will receive, absolutely free, a valuable book—Prof. Wilson's Treatise on Disease.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 56, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged persons troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Metaphorical Murder.

"I wonder why time is said to fly?" "Probably it is because so many people are trying to kill it!"

Remarkable Generosity.

"You say O'Hannagan leaves the Orphans' Home a large legacy?"

"Bedad, it's purty large."

"How much?"

"Twelve children and a goat, be-gorra!"

Theory and Practice.

"Do you desire my professional advice?" said a doctor to a seedy looking visitor.

"I merely desire confirmation of a pet notion of mine that thorough mastication is essential to digestion?"

"Certainly it is!"

"Exactly! I am glad to find we are in agreement! Perhaps you could spare me a shilling? I'd like to put our admirable theory into practice!"

Deception one can not see through.—A glass eye.
