MORE THIRD CLASS TOURS PLANNED

CUNARD-ANCHOR-DONALDSON SCHEDULE FOR 1925 Montreal, Nov. 25th. — The season for trans-Atlantic passenger travel now ending has witnessed the growing popularity of third Cabin tours to Europe and steamship companies here have laid stress on the economic features in connection with this class of ocean travel. The possibilities of visiting Europe at a minimum cost in company with congenial companions has made an undoubted appeal to students, teachers and others who have hitherto been obliged to count the cost, said an official of the Cunard line yesterday. In this connection it was stated that the plans of the steamship companies and Agents in Montreal for next year's trans-Atlantic schedules have been strongly influenced by the demand for cheap accommodation consistent with comfort, and the result has been the announcement of three third cabin tours to Europe, specially designated to accommodate students, teachers and friends during the vacation months of 1925. The first of these parties to leave Montreal in 1925 is scheduled to sail on the Anchor-Donaldson liner Athena for Glasgow, under the auspices of Guy Tombs Limited. Its itinerary embraces the important beauty spots, historical and educational centres of five European countries, Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium and France and extends over a period of three weeks in Europe. The party is scheduled to return to Montreal on the Cunard liner "Asonia" from Southampton July 17th. The second excursion under the management and direction of W. H. Henry Limited is scheduled to leave this port June 27th on the Cunard liner Asonia and return from Liverpool July 24th on the Cunard liner "Acania," one of the latest and most up to date of the Cunard steamers. This party will disembark at Cherbourg, proceed leisurely through France, Belgium and Holland back to England where a tour of the southern and midland counties will terminate at Liverpool. The third tour is due to start from this harbor July 8rd, under the management of Guy Tombs Limited. The new Anchor-Donaldson liner "Letitia" launched recently on the Clyde, will convey the party to Scotland and the Cunarder "Andania" from Southampton, July 8th, is scheduled to bring them back to Montreal. The itinerary of this tour is almost identical with the first. All three tours will be supplied with experienced conductors. The scenery of the St. Lawrence and the two day's journey to the sea on the quiet waters of the river are expected to induce many American teachers and students to travel the Canadian route next year.

NEW BOOKS "Children Of The Shadow," By Isabel C. Clarke, svo. Cloth, Net, $2.25. There are many unusual features in this new novel, chief of them being the introduction and effective development of a mystery element. It demonstrates strikingly that in addition to her fine technique and high ideals Miss Clarke possesses almost infinite resources of material both for plots and characterization. Not only the people of this story, but the very atmosphere, is unlike any other created by the author. The story details the efforts of two young people, brother and sister, to cast off "the shadow," the vague but sinister atmosphere in which the crime of a parent has enveloped the family. The author sketches the characters in sensitive but clear strokes, filled with life and feeling. There is romance, of course—or, rather, a double romance—and the outcome is happy without being forced. The end comes with a description of a spectacular and historic scene that will thrill every reader. "Three-Minute Homilies," By Rev. Michael V. McDonough, svo. Cloth, Net, $2.25. In most of our churches conditions make brevity the prime requisite in sermons. Father McDonough here demonstrates that brevity need not be the only virtue of such sermons. These talks are not homilies in the strictest sense, but nevertheless they explain the chief lessons of the Gospel for every Sunday, every holy day and the chief feasts of the year. Although compact, and rich in suggestions for longer sermons, they are entirely suitable for delivery in their present form. An interesting feature of the book is that the Gospel of the day precedes each sermon. This makes the use of other books unnecessary in preparing a discourse, or even in reading the Gospel at Mass. Many priests whose varied duties permit them to devote little time to their sermons are looking for just such aid as this conveniently arranged volume offers them. "Our Nuns," Their Varied and Vital Services for God and Country, By Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., New De Luxe Edition. Imitation leather. Net, $3.00. When Father Lord's eloquent and delightfully interesting tribute to America's Sisterhoods first appeared a year ago it attracted the admiration of all Catholic reviewers, without exception. He describes his visits and what he observed on his pilgrimage to various institutions, with continual emphasis on the personal viewpoint. The result is a record packed with human interest, varying humor and pathos, more entertaining and satisfying to the average reader than if he had himself made the pilgrimage. The success of the book has encouraged the publishers to offer a new De Luxe Edition, most suitable for gift purposes, bound in dark blue imitation leather and boxed. Sixteen full-page illustrations supplement the text. Numberless appropriate verses for the book suggest themselves. Nuns, of course, appreciate it deeply. It has been recommended highly for fostering vocations. To inquiring non-Catholics it would give an unusual but illuminating insight into the strength and sanctity of the Church. But why give individual instances, when it is so obviously a book with a universal appeal? For sale at the CATHOLIC RECORD, London, Ont.

A Modern Floor for Churches Vestries and Recreation Rooms Church Boards of Management have found in Dominion Battleship Linoleum, a durable, economical floor, adapted to many branches of Church activity. The illustration shows its suitability as a floor for gymnastic purposes generally. It is also highly desirable in Sunday Schools, Halls and Vestries where its quietness, comfort underfoot and remarkable wearing qualities are constant sources of satisfaction. Indeed, many Churches have this modern flooring in the body of the edifice itself. Dominion Battleship Linoleum is a dignified floor, firm and smooth, with a non-absorbent surface that repels dirt and germs. It is odorous and deadens the sound of footsteps, imparting an air of restful quiet so greatly to be desired in places of worship. Dominion Battleship Linoleum is a permanent floor and requires no upkeep beyond the occasional use of a reliable floor wax. Made in four standard shades — brown, green, terra cotta and grey. Special colors for large contracts. Send for Free samples and literature Dominion Oilcloth & Linoleum Company Limited MONTREAL

The Catholic Record LONDON, ONT. Regular $1.25 Books at 50c. and 75c. A Limited Number ORDER EARLY 50c. Each Deer Jane, by Isabel Cecilia Williams. A sweet simple tale of a self-sacrificing elder sister whose ambition leads her to a life of poverty and hardship. A story of American life founded on fact. Hawthornean, by Clara M. Thompson. A story of American life founded on fact. Lady Anabel and the Shepherd Boy, by Elizabeth M. Stewart. A Catholic tale of England in which the love of an humble shepherd boy for the daughter of a noble English family is ridiculed. In the course of time various opportunities present themselves which bring him before her parents in a more favorable light, and results in her marriage. Merchant of Antwerp, by Henrick Conscience. A novel of impelling interest from beginning to end. Concerning the romance of a daughter of a diamond merchant and Raphael Banks, who, through the uncertainties of fortune, earns the parental approval of a marriage, which has been withheld on account of difference in social position. Straw Cutters Daughter, by Lady Georgiana Fullerton. An interesting Catholic story for young people. Wild Birds of Kileevy, by Rosa Mulholland, (Lady Gilbert). Studies in Church History, by Bertrand L. Conway of the Paulist Fathers. This is an eminently readable and useful book, for which there should be a wide demand. — Ave Maria. Mistakes of Modern Infidels; or Evidence of Christianity, by Rev. George R. Northgraves. 75c. Each Spiritism, the Modern Satanism, by Thomas F. Conley. The old Revelation is made new by St. A. Conan Doyle. But the fact still remains that the Jew as well as Gentile was exorcised in the Old Testament for "seeking the truth from the dead." The only novel feature of modern spiritism is its hold upon the present generation. Dr. Conley's work is the death knell of the Doyle idea that Spiritism is a religion. The chapters that compile his book are clear, learned and more all logic expositions of the evil of spiritism's claims, with a generous array of lucid arguments to defend Christianity's impregnable position.
