NEW CANADIAN NOVEL

THE COW PUNCHER

AN English reviewer recently, in reviewing the poems of Robert J. C. Stead, said that while Canada's troops had done nobly in the war such writers as Stead were doing a no less valuable service in building up a genuine national literature.

THE LEGIONS OF THE WEST

A GREETING

Written in France, July 4, 1918.

THEY are coming! They are coming! We have waited and they come! The land where flames sunset is loud with life and drum: In shining light, a shining host, unnumbered as the corn, They are besting up behind us to battle for the morn.

The California rancher, the cowboy from the plain, Their bayonets are flashing in the meadows of the slain; The packer and the penman, a thousand thousand strong, They are falling in beside us and fighting with a song.

The roads of France are ringing with the old triumphal ring, They are stirring up the echoes of the songs we used to sing; With new and blazing torches they are rousing olden fires They have brought us back the magic of our first tremendous ire.

The warrior who was weary, the man who held the gate, Is strong again for battle, with arm and soul elate; The Rockies by the Highlands, and Broadway by the Strand Waiting to leap together at the lifting of a hand!

Come, come, ye Proud Barbarians! Fling you on this array, But know, before the slaughter, you will not pass this way. Olde England reunited, and France her ancient foe— The pillars of the Western Seas thrice give to meet the blow!

Watching behold the Iron Duke. And Lincoln. And the Maid: Freedom's unvanquished Victors advancing from the shade; Earth's deathless voices lead us, and we shall follow soon To avenge the dead who died at Mons, the sleepers of Verdun.

For many tongues, one silence—our sleep for all the brave; But there shall stand no bondman nor tyrant by their grave. The last loud shell is Freedom's, the Dawn shall sweep the Dark: The Races of the Western Seas will not forsake the Ark.

J. B. NICHOLAS, Second Lieutenant, King's Own Scottish Borders

AMERICANS JOIN IN BRITAIN'S RALEIGH FESTIVAL

London, Oct. 29.—Further evidence of the close ties binding together the English-speaking peoples was afforded by the Anglo-American festival held in London to-day to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the execution of Sir Walter Raleigh.

The chief feature was a public meeting held at the Mansion House and attended by many eminent representatives of Great Britain and the United States. The Lord Mayor, presided and among the speakers were Lord Bryce, Mr. Balfour, and Sir Ian Hamilton. Edmund Cossa delivered the oration of the day.

As a permanent memorial of the occasion it is proposed to establish in London a Raleigh House, to be used for promoting intellectual co-operation between British and American scholars.

In 1587 Raleigh sent out another expedition. John White was the leader, and he carried instructions to found a city bearing the name of Raleigh. Soon after his arrival he laid the log foundation of the "City of Raleigh."

Chronic Diseases Take Hold Slowly

Kidney and Bladder Troubles don't attack you suddenly. Chronic diseases of these organs are generally the result of neglect. Nature gives you plenty of warning when your kidneys are out of order and need assistance; you notice a dull pain in the back; you are drowsy, have headaches, feel languid, tired and listless.

There is no mistaking the symptoms, and when Nature warns you—obey—sooner or later you will regret it. Putting off never cures. Gin Pills do. At the first sign of Kidney or Bladder Trouble, buy a box of Gin Pills and take them. They will help your kidneys to perform their proper function and renew your previous strength and vigor.

leaving his family behind, to get more help. He arrived at Roanoke Island three years later, the scene of the city of Raleigh, to find absolutely no trace of the people, save that on the tree was carved the word "Croatoan," the name of an Indian Island.

Raleigh had lost upward of 40,000 pounds in his expeditions, but he swore that he would yet live to see an English nation where he had planted. He lived, indeed, to see a permanent English settlement in Virginia in 1607, and in after years the capital of North Carolina was named after him.

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it labelled his own product. This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the many that every Tom, Dick, and Harry has tried to introduce.

Ask for MINARD'S and you will get it.
