When to Take

Zutoo

The best time to take Zu-too Tablets is when you first suspect you are going to have a headache. In this way you will ward it off —nip it in the bud.

The next best time to take Zutoo is when you have a headache. The tablets will cure it in twenty minutes and do it every time.

Yet, after all, you need not have suffered those twenty minutes if the tablets had been taken at just the right time.

DESERT SHEEP HERDERS.

Their Lonely, Drowsy Life Tends to Drive Them Crazy.

Do you realize what it means to watch 5,000 sheep alone in the desert?
You have read weird, gruesome stories of the horror of the solitary lighthouse keeper's life, but compared to the days of the Mexican shepherd those of the average keeper of the light are filled with gaiety and noise. Even with their one or two dogs the shepherds often go insane, and were it not for the company of their shaggy collies the lunacy among them would rise to an almost incredible percentage. If we are to believe those who have followed the sheep in the desert and therefore may be supposed to know.

Once in old Santa Fe, N. M., I met a man who for twelve years had followed the sheep. His work was done. All day long he sat in a chair in the rear of a little dobe store, crouched over, gibbering to himself, bleating—an idiot.
He still saw his sheep away like a great white wave among the sagebrush, and ever in his ears sounded the killing monotone of their bleats. One boy, though fifteen years of age, is mentally no further advanced than the average child of five. His father is a shepherd, his mother died when he was four years old, and his father took him out upon the range. All his life has been spent among the sheep. He is one with them today.

How is it possible, then, you ask, that men are to be found willing to watch them? It is very easy. Sheep herding is a lazy job at best, and the "greaser" is the laziest creature on earth. For $20 a month he is willing to sit in the sand and listen to the never ending bleating until the little mind he has given way and they fetch him in from the range insane. He is glad to take the chance for $20 a month.

The greaser is not the only shepherd in the west. On the vast ranges of Nevada and Wyoming you may run across an occasional college man tending the sheep. Once, indeed, a college professor, ill of consumption, undertook to follow 5,000 bleaters for the summer. In autumn they found him insane, on his hands and knees among the sheep, bleating with them. Day after day his eyes beheld only a brilliant turquoise sky, in which hangs a sun of brass; an ocean sweep of sage flecked sand and a slowly moving, compact mass of sheep. His ears hear no sound save the steady "Baa, baa" day and night, affecting him as the Chinese criminal of ancient days was affected by the regular tap, tap of a hidden drum.
And yet so long as the desert continues to provide food for the "bleaters" so long will shepherds go mad among the flocks, and for ten years the desert's greatest value to man has been the food it has offered the sheep, nor yet is the store depleted.—Pilgrim.

The Wickedness of Growing Old.
Here are the three deadly symptoms of old age: Selfishness, stagnation, intolerance.

If we find them in ourselves we may know we are growing old, even if we are on the merry side of thirty. But, happily, we have three defenses, which are invulnerable. If we use them we shall die young if we live to be a hundred. They are: Sympathy, progress, tolerance.

The first is the hardest to most of us, because our own little prison of the actual is so immensely important to us. There is no denying the fact that when you have a toothache yourself it is hard to have to consider other people's aches. But it can be done, though it generally involves physical effort, for we must bestir ourselves and act. The mere feeling of sympathy expressed by action is a poor, useless thing, but the soul, determined not to grow old, can force the body to such physical effort, though there is no denying that it is hard work.

Toothache.

Toothache is something to be dreaded. Until a dentist can be consulted and the exact cause of the disturbance located and professionally treated it is an excellent thing to moisten the finger and, after dipping it into some bicarbonate of soda, rub it on the gum round the sore tooth. It is also a relief to mix a teaspoonful of this bicarbonate of soda in half a glass of warm water and rinse the mouth with some every little while, holding a little in the mouth for a few seconds so that it penetrates all the crevices. The soda, being an alkali, serves to neutralize the acids in the mouth, which are often the cause of toothache.

Knew the Crowd.

A street preacher in a west of Scotland town called a policeman who was passing and complained about being annoyed by a certain section of the audience and asked him to remove the objectionable ones.

"Well, ye see," replied the cautious officer, "it would be a hard job for me to spot them, but I'll tell ye what I'll do if I were you."

"What would you do?" eagerly inquired the preacher.

"Just gae round w' the hat!"

His Line.

"Yes," said the lecturer, "I'm dealing in furniture these days."

"How is that?" asked a listener.
"Making one night stands under a lecture bureau, with the help of the time tables."

When to Cut Weeds.

She—When should a young widow discard her weeds? He—Oh, I don't know, but I suppose she should cut them out just as soon as she wants to raise a second crop of orange blossoms.

Decision of character will often give to an inferior mind command over a superior.—Witt.

Northward, Ho!

The Iron Horse has made another advance into the cold regions of the north. On Saturday last for the first time the shores of Ontario and Huron were made resound by the shrill blast of the same locomotive.
The morning sun shone out clear and cold as we moved off from the Bay street station, the thin air permitting a distinct view of the opposite shores of the lake. . . . We soon reached Bell Island, on the shores of Lake Simcoe, which, though yesterday reclaimed from the wilderness, is a place fast assuming the appearance of civilization and active business.

In a short time we found ourselves at Barrie station, and here we must confess we were disappointed. Having never seen Barrie before except on paper, we had formed in our mind a picture, whose truthfulness the reality was far from bearing out. We were told, however, to suspend our judgment until we had seen it in summer, when its beauties are marvelous, and we took the hint. . . . The road being in good order, we made up for the loss of time, running through the sandy plains of Sunnidale and other towns ships at a rate which would have astonished the primitive owners of the soil had any of them remained to witness the exciting scene. The only clearing we noticed on this part of the road is one which, we were told, is the nucleus of a youthful colony planted by the enterprising firm of Messrs. Jacques & Hay, who are about to erect a mill. . . . Owing to the heavy snow which had fallen the previous day, the workmen had been prevented from laying down the ties and rails on a short portion of the road, so that we had to dismount and traverse the remainder (to Collingwood) on foot.

We all returned in safety, thanks to Mr. A. Brunel, after a very pleasant trip—a trip not intended as a formal opening of the road, but simply with the view of inspecting the line, which will not be practically in use until about new year.
(The road, then called the Ontario, Simcoe & Huron Railroad, is now part of the northern division of the Grand Trunk. Mr. Brunel was the superintendent.)—From The Globe, of Dec. 5, 1854.

Represents Fort Simpson.

W. Finlayson of Fort Simpson, B.
C., is able to boast that he has on him a piece of the skin of nearly every resident of the coming Pacific terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. In a launch explosion in which one man was killed, he being frightfully scalded, to save his life he had to have 375 pieces of skin grafted on him. At first the male residents of Fort Simpson were backward in giving up tissues of their epidermis, but the ladies came gallantly forward and endured the pain inseparable from the sacrifice of integument. Of course all the men quickly followed suit.

Children and Sleep.

One of the greatest mistakes of parents and those who have charge of children is that they are likely to allow the young ones too little time to sleep.
With one excuse or another the youngsters are up later at night than they should be, and as they must be off to school betimes in the morning and there may be duties to perform they are called before they have finished their morning nap. Children, as a rule, ought to sleep ten or eleven hours, and to do this they must be put to bed early enough at night so that they may get this amount of uninterrupted rest.—Modern Women.

Doctors generally prescribe

They haven't a good word to people who know what these prepa-doctors.

But it is different with Dr.
Hugo's remedy.

Honest physicians are obliged to admit its merits.

They themselves prescribe many of its ingredients. Some give

They Make Healthy Women

After consulting my physician and being told that I was suffering from a run-down condition which accounted for many other ills, with which I was suffering, I was presented with a box of brown tablets. I took them and in less than a week began to improve, and before two weeks had elapsed was so much better that I felt congratulations were due my physician. Upon complaining him I was honestly informed by him that I had been taking Dr.
Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. It is of little consequence how I obtained the medicine, but of one thing I am certain, I have received greater benefit from it than any other medicine I ever
