The Study of Nature.

We draw the attention of our readers to a notice which appears in this issue under the names of Messrs. Garrick and Bray. Its object is to invite to a meeting in the rooms of the Methodist College Institute all those ladies and gentlemen interested in the formation of a Natural History Society of Newfoundland. We commend the action of the promoters to all well-wishers of the Island. We have in our midst an Historical Society in Newfoundland which is doing good work, but we have no Natural History Society, and this is more than passing strange, for it is on the fish, animal and vegetable life that our main industries rest. Our fishermen, hunters, and lumbermen are keen observers of nature, and yet there is no collection of Natural History observations of what our people are noticing in their daily tasks. There is abundance of opportunity for a Society to collect and encourage such observations.

Train Notes.

The Bruce express left at 6 p.m. yesterday taking out D. F. Burns, Dr. J. F. Donnelly, Mr. McCowan, M. F. O'Toole, Mr. Bowdrey, Mr. Bowman and 5 second class.

The local arrived at 10.30 last night bringing J. Angel, Mr. Giovanni, Mrs. W. J. Herder, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. King, Mr. Vez, Mrs. Abbott and man and 50 second class.

Everyone deeply respects
A person who is guided
By cool judgment
And common sense.

If one finds that habits
Of food or drink are producing Hints of disease, he should Heed Nature's warnings and Adjust his diet to keep the Human machinery in order.
One doesn't always know
Where to commence
To correct a diet,
But one thing to stop is coffee.
An alluring, insidious enemy
That "sings one to sleep and then knives him."

The slow but sure effect of Coffeine—the active drug in Coffee—on the heart, finally
Produces weak pulse and a
Deranged, nervous system
Which grows slowly but
Steadily more pronounced
And ends in some
Fixed organic disease.
Unless the cause be removed.

Brigade Football.

C. C. C. Victorious by 3 Goals to 2. The postponed match of the Brigade Division was played at St. George's field before the largest audience which gathered there since the season opened. The teams lined up as follows:

C. L. B.—Kenrick, Barnes, L. Stick, Rendell, Stevenson, Bishop, Winter, Hayward, Hunt, Bartlett and O'Brien.
C. C. C.—R. Walsh, Hynes, Meenan, Walsh, Hart, G. Byrne, Sullivan, Rodgers, Caul, B. Hart and Murphy.

Winning the toss the Cadets kicked from the western goal with a stiff breeze of westerly wind, which moderated somewhat when the game was about 20 minutes old. Opening play was signalled by the Cadets making a rush on C. L. B. territory but were repulsed the Church Lads getting the ball to centre field. Here Byrne tried a long shot and placed the leather in the net and drawing "first blood" for the Cadets after 5 minutes play. The wind helped to keep the ball down dangerously near the C.L.B. goal. Kendrick deftly saved a couple of difficult shots, and several corners conceded Cadets were badly placed and borne no fruit. The Church Lads several times rushed up against the wind and visited Walsh, who saved well. Just here Gerald Byrne was knocked out and Cadets had to play 10 men for the rest of the game. Hands were given against both sides, and Hynes taking a shot from centre field it rebounded from the cross bar, dropped near Kendrick, who missed it and the ball rolled into the net. Score No. 2 for the Cadets amidst thunderous applause. The C. L. B. now put on steam, the leather was taken up on the right wing and Bartlett shot, beating Walsh and scoring the first goal for C.L.B. amid great applause. Half time sounding the teams crossed—C.C.C. 2; C.L.B. 1.

With but a few minutes' breathing space the teams were again hard at work and for fully 5 minutes play was confined to midfield. In this half the Cadets with 10 men played a far better game against the wind than with the whole team and the breeze in their favor in the first half. The Church Lads repeatedly bombarded the Cadet goal but the ball shot too high and soared over the goal each time. Walsh was kept busy and saved very well. The C. L. B. secured several fruitless corners and the Cadets a couple of times visited C.L.B. territory but without result. Fast play all over the field now transpired and the C.L.B. again secured several corners, but nothing came of them. Eventually the ball was sent right opposite goal and was quickly placed in the net, striking a C. C. C. man as it shot in. This gave the C. L. B. the equalizer and their stock went up. Both sides put out their best efforts now to secure the winning goal and the Cadets played a fast game, repeatedly visiting their opponents' goal. Suddenly Sullivan got a run up the left wing and sent a beauty across and into the net, scoring the third goal for the boys in red and blue. The game now waxed fast and furious, but after a short time the final solo sounded with Cadets 3 goals, Church Lads 2. Mr. W. J. Higgins refereed. Linesmen—Thomas and W. Clare. The gate receipts amounted to $65.50, the most for the season.

LONDON, June 21.—Sydney Charles Buxton, President of the Board of Trade, opened the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce to-day. Incidentally the British Cabinet member gave a dig to Theodore Roosevelt, recently the guest of the city and nation. Referring to the differences in national fiscal systems, Mr. Buxton concluded his comment on this subject with the remark, "But not being an ex-President of the United States, I am not going to tell you how to run your shows." The speaker promised on behalf of the British Government every possible assistance to the delegates, realizing, as he said, that such conference helped to counteract the influences of certain classes of politicians and journalists who respectively foam at the mouth and splutter ink in endeavor to embitter international relations.

NOTICE.—The postponed meeting of the St. John's Typographical Union will be held in the British Hall on Thursday, June 23rd.—W. SKANES, Secretary.—ad.11

The Darker Aspects of American Life.

As the character of the 20th Century will probably depend so much more closely than those which precede it on the temper and actions of the rulers and citizens of the American Republic, I need no apology for discussing these subjects in this new year. The mind is incapable of viewing dispassionately at one time all the conflicting influences at work. It is easy to paint the American community with its sharp contrasts of brightest light and intensest shadow, but give them all harmonized together, and in London itself do good and evil, wisdom and folly flourish more luxuriantly on the same soil awaiting the great harvest. The soil is rich and the fruits are very rich and very rank.

It is not a very difficult matter to classify this people—native and foreign-born—Americans proper, Irish, Germans, Italians, etc.—into farmers, miners, factory workers and shopkeepers. Into New Englanders, Southerners, dwellers in the Middle West. Into white, negro, Indian and Chinese. The lines of division are sharp and real and still true to Columbia's proud boast—E Pluribus Unum—there is a subtle unity of thought pervading the whole community. This is no mere rhetoric. A lecturer last year spoke on the higher culture within a couple of weeks to audiences in Maine, Texas and Washington Territory, thousands of miles apart without needing to modify his presentation of the subject. An impartial Northern publicist has recently returned from the South after visiting the scenes of the most brutal lynchings. He said it was well impossible to picture those heathen, church-going citizens with their cultured wives and daughters participating in such travesties of justice. Their regard for law and order and their business ability and industry in normal times were in no way below the average of the North. In the East—Philadelphia, New York, Boston and the large industrial towns nothing has impressed me more than the decorum and orderly conduct of the newly arrived aliens—Italians, Poles, and Russians. We British cannot begin to conceive their feelings—we are born like the old-time American into a heritage of rights and liberties—we feel no thrill as we step onto the American soil. To the Armenian, life here is a new existence. There is little wonder, then, if amid the most divergent interests and racial athletic field for young men to break laws provided they escape the umpire's eye. A criminal in Boston jail, condemned by a Federal Court for fraud, has been elected by 22,000 votes to the City Council. The way in which "graft" prevails in the political, financial and commercial world is too well known to all in England. Startling exposures of this could easily be produced from the most recent history of all the forty-five States, from Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Do not these facts and many more which would fill volumes prove decadence and moral obliquity? I hold no particular brief for the Republic, nor have I ever been wont to defend or palliate deliberate crime and viciousness. The problem involved is immense and many factors still defy analysis. The effect of the economic revolution of the last fifty years have been more marked here than in Europe. The severest test you can put the moral nature to is a complete break up of environments—witness the effect of Indian and Eastern life on many English men and women. The great bulk of the people of this country, both native-born and emigrants, lack the wholesome restraining influences of "home" surroundings—relatives, neighbours and church. The heaven of goodness in the newer communities had not had time to work. The difficulties of the good Samaritan—lay and cleric—have to face are enormous. Again large masses of the people have been lifted through the opportunities of an expanding country into social planes they have had neither the education, nor instinct to fill with complete safety. The disastrous effects are only too patent, and in the immediate future, with a full wave of prosperity, may be more marked still. And yet as one moves about among all classes, and ages, and creeds the conviction is very strong that these records of crime and folly do this people as a whole, an injustice, much as statistics of pauperism and drink cast an undesired slur on the majority of sober, hardworking people in England.
