Thanksgiving Sunday.

SPECIAL SERVICES.
Yesterday was, by proclamation, appointed as a day of Thanksgiving for the delivery of the world from the horrors of war and the return of the blessings of peace. In all the city churches special services were held, the theme being one of great joy and religious fervor. Large congregations attended and a sentiment of loyalty and spiritual uplift was predominant.

ANGLICAN CATHEDRAL.

The days services began with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7 a.m., Rev. E. Fletcher being the celebrant. At 8 o'clock Rev. Canon Healy administered the holy office. At 11 His Excellency the Governor and suite attended officially, being met at the west door by Rev. J. Brinton and the Church Warden. The Officers, Cadets and men of H.M.S. Cornwall, with the ship's band, were also present and a large congregation. The Special Thanksgiving order of service approved by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese was intoned by Rev. C. H. Brinton from the faldstool at the Chancel entrance steps, and was followed by a celebration of the Holy Eucharist. His Lordship the Bishop, assisted by Canon's eygate and B.Holt. The service being full choral was magnificently rendered by the choir. The Bishop, who preached selected for his text the words of the 11th verse of the 29th Psalm: "The Lord shall give his people the blessings of peace."

At the evening service which was largely attended Rev. J. Brinton preached an appropriate sermon.

ST. THOMAS'S.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at St. Thomas's at 11 o'clock Rev. C. A. Moulton being celebrant. Following the special order of service, at which a triumphant "Te Deum" was sung, Rev. Dr. Jones, (Rector), ascended the pulpit and preached a highly inspiring and inspiring sermon from the words of St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, "I thank God who giveth us the victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ."

ST. MARY'S.

At 8 o'clock special prayers of thanksgiving were recited by the Rector and a large number of Communicants received the sacred elements in remembrance of Christ's sacrifice. After the special form of service at 11 o'clock, there was another offering of the blessed Eucharist, with the Rector, Rev. A. B. S. Stirling celebrating, assisted by Rev. W. E. R. Cracknell, C.E., who was the preacher. The Evening Service was Combination of Eucharist and the special form, and was participated in by a large congregation. The Rector preached a powerful sermon from the words of the prophet Habakkuk, "God Came."

ST. MICHAEL'S.

Rev. Canon Field was the preacher at Morning Prayer when the special form of Thanksgiving service was sung, with appropriate hymns. At 8 o'clock His Lordship Bishop White preached to a large and attentive congregation.

R. C. CATHEDRAL.

His Excellency the Governor, Lady Harris and suite were present at the evening's service at the R. C. Cathedral. Being met at the steps by Major P. Cashin and Capt. J. E. Fox, A.D.C.'s and Rev. Dr. Greene, they were ushered to special seats. At seven o'clock there was a procession through the western ambulatory and up the main aisle of the church to the altar, headed by cross bearer and acolytes, followed by His Grace the Archbishop and Bishop Power of St. George's, fully vested. After Vespers, a solemn Te Deum of Thanksgiving, which was followed by Benediction, was intoned. After Benediction the Hallelujah Chorus was rendered by the C.C.C. Band. The National Anthem was also rendered. The congregation was the largest for some time, and the services throughout the day were most impressive.

COCHRANE ST. CENTENNIAL CHURCH.

The services in Cochrane Street Church were largely attended yesterday and were of a special character. There was a genuine brightness about the services which added much to the success of the day's Thanksgiving. At the morning service the Rev. Dr. Bond conducted the opening exercises and read the King's proclamation and after special prayer had been offered the National Anthem was sung. The preacher was the Rev. J. W. DesBarres, B.A., of Sackville University, who delivered an able and masterly discourse on the "Conversion of the Apostle Paul," taking as his text Acts, twenty-sixth chapter and nineteenth verse. The choir rendered the Anthem, "I will sing of Thy Power, O Lord," the solo being nicely taken by Miss Vincent. Miss Herder's solo, "O Land of Hope and Glory" was beautifully rendered. At the Sunday School Session in the afternoon there was a good attendance. Precisely at 2.15, Rev. Dr. Bond accompanied by His Excellency the Governor, Lady Harris and Secretary, entered the lecture room and having taken seats on the platform, the school arose and sang "God Save the King." Dr. Bond delivered a five minutes address on Thanksgiving for the cessation of hostilities and the signing of the Peace Treaty. Miss Jean Thompson then gave a recitation, followed by a solo by Miss Herder, and after singing the Newfoundland ode, Superintendent Peters introduced His Excellency the Governor, who after very hearty applause addressed the school, delivering a practical address and closed by exhorting all the hearers to always try and do something for others. A vote of thanks was tendered by Dr. Bond and seconded by Arthur News, Esq., C.M.E. As His Excellency was retiring the school lined up outside of the Church and sang the National Anthem and gave three cheers for His Excellency and Lady Harris.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

On Sunday night the Rev. Dudley B. Ashford spoke on a subject very appropriate to the day of Thanksgiving for Peace, namely, "The Church and Permanent Peace." He took as his text the words in Rev. 11, 15, "The Kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ; and He shall reign for ever and ever." That is the vision of a great far-off Divine event to which the whole creation moves. When that day comes and not till then shall we know what permanent peace is. Even the most optimistic people must feel that that day is still far off. Yet on this day set apart as a day of thanksgiving for peace, it is well for us to consider how that peace can be made permanent, and what part the church has in this great task. Nothing was more pathetically pertinent in Aug. 1914, than the inability of the church to prevent the war. And yet if there was any society which should have been able to do so, it was surely the church. But Christendom was so divided into national churches and denominations that when the crisis came she was both deaf and dumb and impotent. Peace has once again come to this war-wearied world for which we thank God. The horror and the crime of war has been burned into the heart and the mind of this generation. If humanity is not to be utterly destroyed and unless all our sacrifice and suffering has been in vain, this thing must never happen again. But how are we going to prevent future wars? This is the vital question. The old international methods, such as secret diplomacy and balance of power, have proved a failure. Some new form of internationalism is needed, if the world is to be made safe for democracy. Some claim that socialism is an international movement which can prevent war. Let us acknowledge that socialism and the great Labour movement have had a great influence, but they are not truly international, because they represent only a section of society, namely the working classes. And although against war in the military sense, they openly advocate the economic war against capital. I am not saying that they are not justified in this, but I do say that they do not represent a movement which can prevent war, and 1914 showed that it comes to a choice between one's country and one's socialism, one's country has it. The Church of Christ is the true international movement. It recognizes neither country nor class nor colour in theory at least. The essence of the church is that it is an international brotherhood, based upon a universal fatherhood, and the great need of the church today is that it should realize its international character. The course of the church in the past has been its division into national churches and sects, such as the Church of England, the Church of Scotland, the Lutheran Church, whereas in reality there is only one church, the Church of Christ. A truly catholic church could have prevented the war and could prevent future wars. Some people blame Christianity for the last war, but this is silly; it was the lack of christianity which made it possible. But if all Christian people in all countries could only have brought their united influence to bear upon the politics of their time, they could have prevented war. Hence the great need is that the various sections of the church should be united or at least allied. In the past they have been more like enemies, but there are signs of a great change coming. The walls that divide the various sections of the church are growing very thin; soon we may hope to see a united church bringing all her power to bear upon the work of establishing of permanent peace, not only international, but also social and individual is the work of the church.

War Souvenirs.

A month ago a Canadian soldier in France cabled his father and mother in Toronto, that he was returning home immediately with a Belgian girl. His father and mother, very prominent in the social life of Toronto, were somewhat embarrassed by the cablegram, for they thought their son of twenty-three, who had been three years at the front, had without notifying them married outside their social circle. This particular Canadian soldier arrived home the other day, and with him was a Belgian girl four years old. His father and mother were much relieved when he told them how he was walking through the streets of Brussels one day and the little girl ran and caught hold of his hand and said to him, "I want you to take me home." He could not resist the child's request, and Canada is the richer by one little Belgian girl four years old, and she is richer by a foster father and mother to take the place of those she lost during the war. A returned member of the Canadian Aviation Corps has a little French boy, whom he adopted under the laws of France, because the little chap was an orphan and had only his grandmother, dying of an incurable disease, to take care of him. The little nine-year-old French boy will grow up to be a worthy citizen of Canada.
