Dear Sir, --- I wish to testify of the merits of that grand preparation known as Barkwell's Vegetable Healing Bronchial Balsam. I was told by a neighbor what a grand Balsam it was. My little girl was very ill with bronchitis, and a very few doses restored her and I believe saved her life. I feel it my duty to let others know that they also can be cured of this terrible afjection. MRS. MARGARET LOWTHER,

On Saturday Next.

At the Grand Opera House at the Saturday matinee and in the evening McKee Rankin will present "The Runaway Wife." It is spoken of as a beautiful and touching dramatic story, which appeals directly to the hearts of an audience by its homely pathos and humor. It illustrates life as it exists at the present day in the hones of the rich, us well as the poor, and contains that "one touch of nature which makes the whole world kin." The story of the play transpires in England and America, and the interest aroused in the first act is carried throughout the play. It teaches a lesson which all could profit by learning—it is, in fact, a play in which, judging from freely expressed opinions, no serious fault can be found. The plan opens Thursday.

Who's Got That Horse?

Sheriff Glass has issued a writ of replevin against John Peters, J.P., for "unlawfully taking possession of and detaining a horse, the property of Elizabeth Stinchcome, of London West." The horse in question, it is claimed, was given to Mrs. Stinchcome is six years ago by Mr. William Peters, with his brother's consent. There was a saie recently and during it the horse was pat into cently and during it the horse was pat into cently and during it the horse was pat into a stable on land which both the brothers,

It is as-serted by Mrs. Stinchcome that the horse was taken by Mr. John Peters, who said it Overwhelming Grief of the Father and Sister—A Terrible Bereavement. was taken by Mr. John Peters, who said it was his. Detective Graham searched the premises of Mr. Peters but found no horse. The search was certainly thorough as Graham went so far as to look in the house for the missing quadruped, but he found nothing. Search was diligently made for the animal and it was at last recovered in the Bernard House stables. Further developments will be awaited with interest. Squire Peters claims to own the property on which the horse was located, but denied possession of the animal.

Sister—A Terrible Bereavement.

Montreal, March 11.—The fire which occurred at St. Michel Saturday morning destroyed property to the value of $10,000. Mr. Collerett's burns are very serious and may result fatally. The names of the victims are Stephanie Panet Collerett, the mother, aged 36; Oneisime, aged 11; Cornida, aged 10; Wilfred, aged 8; Neonime 32 months. Thus all that is left of a family of eight children is Delia, a beautiful girl of 13 years, who for the past six years has been in the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Recollet, where she was at the time of the terrible tragedy. She was at the bedside of her suffering father yesterday mourning as if her young heart would break. Her sorrow is made even more pitful to her by the anguish of her father, who, seemingly delirous, constantly calls out, "Oh, my wife, my wife." A verdict of "Death from accidental burning" was returned by the jury, who agreed that the fire took from a stovepipe in the back kitchen, although there were reasons to justify the supposition that it might have taken from an exploding coal stove. Squire Peters claims to own the property on which the horse was located, but denied possession of the animal.

The Twelve Temptations.

William J. Gilmore's seenic, ballet and panoramic spectacle, "The Twelve Temptations," in three acts, was presented at the Grand Opera House last evening to a large audience of both sexes, who all appreciated the performance. While the ending of the first act was just a little flat, through what was apparently a hitch in arrangements of lime lights, the remainder of the show went with a snap. The ballet was a prominent feature and was very creditable. The scenic effects, however, are the mainstay of the piece. The scenery and mechanical apparatus were splendidly managed, the closing scene being particularly gorgeous. The story is built on the temptations of the hero who, under the influence of the Snow Queen, seeks to find treasure which eleven of his predecessors had lost their lives in attempting to discover. Gobbins, dragons, sprites, fairies and other supernatural characters afford the brightness which makes the piece interesting. Mr. Albert Hosmer, Jacques Kruger, Mai Estelle and Jessie West do the leading parts. The four policemen in their eccentric maneuvers with the first ballet gained hearty plaudits. To individualize on a company of such combined excellence is a matter of difficulty, however. To sum up a worthy representation or "The Twelve Temptations" as presented, it should be said that it is a spectacle which anybody can enjoy from the fact of the magnificent manner in which it is put on. Another large house should greet the company to-night.

DESPERATE DEEDS. A Wealthy Horse-Euyer Entrapped and Murdered—How the Body Was Disposed of, Pekin, Ill., March 10.—The body of Bernard Junghaus was found in the Illinois River Saturday. He was a horse-buyer, of Peoria, and a man of considerable means. There was an ugly wound on the head, and his watch, chain, ring and money were missing. Four policemon surrounded a den his watch, chain, ring and money were missing. Four policemen surrounded a den kept by Link Hummell and Bill Luckey last night and endeavored to arrest them for the murder of Junghaus. As the policemen burst in the doors the two ruffians dropped through a hidden trap door and escaped to the river by means of a sewer. Two Cyprians living with them were arrested, and the murdered man's watch, chain and ring were found on them. Junghaus was enticed into the den Friday, his skull split open and his body conveyed to the river by means of the trap and sewer. He had drawn $2,000 from the bank Thursday and intended leaving for New York Friday. He was 58 years old. The police have orders to kill Hummell and Luckey on sight, as they are desperate characters and have committed many crimes.

It is an Established Fact that consumption can be cured; but it is far better to prevent the cruel disease from fastening itself on the system, by the timely use of a remedy like Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which will speedily cure a cough or cold. Consumption often yields to its great power.

All competent judges of a good cigar are unanimous in pronouncing the "Norma" one of the finest 10-cent cigars made in Canada. This cigar has all the delicate flavor of an imported cigar, without any of its attendant faults. The cigar is the product of H. McKay & Co., of this city, who invariably use the best tobacco leaf, most carefully prepared. The result of this strict attention to quality of raw material is that the "Norma" stands to the front of all 10-cent cigars, and although there is a prevailing idea that a cigar manufactured at home cannot be equal to an imported article, this prejudice is being rapidly overcome by the growing popularity of the "Norma."
