Philip D. Armour Credited With Controlling the July Market.

New York, June 25 .- Philip D. Armour, chief magnate of the Chicago beef trust, is credited by operators in the wheat market here cornered the July wheat market. There are less than 20,000,000 bushels of July wheat in the United States Three millions of this is in Minnesota, out of the market for grinding. Sixty per cent of the Chicago supply is held in elevators owned by Armour or those closely allied with him, and according to reports these holders have been rapidly increasing. With prospects of light re ceipts everywhere until the new crop begins to move, which will not be un-til August, many operators are wondering where the 12,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels of short wheat, alleged to be companies, and were to divide the inoutstanding, are to come from

CAN HEART DISEASE BE CURED

A London Specialist Whose Method of Treatment Seems to Be Successful.

London Correspondence. This is an age of specialists, and in no profession more than the medica one does the specialist attain either fame or profit, or a combination of the two. Every day one hears of some doctor or some surgeon who has made his name by the cure of this or that disease, or by the performance of this or that operation, but about many of them in London, at least, something more than a suspicion of quacker;

I heard the other day of some astounding cures due to an entirely new treatment of heart disease, which can hardly be passed by with the usual shrug of the shoulders, which so often attends similar delails. no doubt that among men of our own generation who are approaching the age of 50, the most frequent form of trouble in this country at least con sists in a weakened or otherwise ab normal action of the heart. It is this state of things which Dr. Thorpe—the batic team: Leary sisters, singers and dancers; Charles Mack, comedian and dancers; Charles Mack, comedian and lumbia Coal Company now held, and dancers; Charles Mack, comedian and lumbia Coal Company now held, and which was given to the British Co-panied by some precise valvular disease. His treatment is simplicity itself. ease. His treatment is simplicity itself.
It consists merely in the employment by the patient every day of some pe culiar motion of the arms, which are calculated to bring into activity certain sluggish portions of the circular tion. Accompanying these physical exercises baths are given of hot strongly impregnated with certain salts and chalybeates.

One of the most successful cures has been that of Lord Spencer, who not long ago was a hopeless invalid, but who now rides daily to hounds, and has resumed his place as master of the hunt. Lord Mount-Edgecombe also was told by two of the leading London physicians, when he insisted on having a definite answer to his question, that he had better put his house in order at once, as they could not de-finitely grant him more than two months of life. After a few weeks of the new treatment he found himself in practically perfect health, and has since remained in that pleasurable condition. A special ward in one of the London hospitals has been set apart for the poor patients suffering from heart disease, to be operated upon after this method, and demonstrations of it are given to medical men throughout the country by Dr. Thorpe. The merit of the discovery, however, rests, as is often the case in these matters, with a German professor.

AT DICKENS' GRAVE. Mr. Andrew Lang has somewhere said that it is a melancholy feature of the present age say that they canno read Dickens just as they cannot read Scott. This dialogue, overheard in Westminster Abbey on Saturday, lends some color to Mr. Lang's arguments: He (instructively, pointing with his cane to Dickens' grave)-Charles Dick-

June 20 .- The jubilee Sunday was celeright royal and patriotic style. Bishop ference to the Queen's piety of life. fidelity to duty and unfailing trust in only throughout Great and Greater Britain, but in all English-speaking-in all civilized-lands. Referring to the United States, he said politicians might try to build a wall of separation be tween the neighboring and kindred nations on this continent, but God had planted a goodly vine therein, which had grown on either side of that separating wall and climbed above it and mingled its branches in a higher unity of mutual sympathy and in brother- less. The following are the scores made hood and goodwill. The cabin was beautifully decorated with an inscription commemorating the Queen's long reign, and the ships flags festooned the shrouds. At 4 o'clock the whole ship's company gathered, and after a short religious service, the bluejackets, the Bisley team and passengers sang with enthusiasm "God W. Save the Queen," with a stanza speciland, ally written for the occasion, as fol-
