Mines DEVELOPING

The objects of the Company are to acquire and develop mineral claims in the Provinces of Ontario and British Columbia. It already owns, unencumbered TRILBY and PRINCE OF WALES in the SOUTH BELT at Rossland, upon which develop-ment work has been carried on during the past six months, with showings unsurpassed by any property in the district at the same stage of development. These mines are now about to be equipped with machinery.

Toronto Globe. There are no reforms in Africa nor China nor India except those planted there by Christian peoples. To remove the church from any community means the immediate deterioration of that community, although officially it may taken a stand against a single evil. Moreover, if the principle of eparation of church and state is true, the church is shut up to indirect and unofficial methods of influencing the course of social and political affairs. Bearing all these facts in mind, there s no doubt that, in common with all other social agencies, the church has come under the blight of modern commercialism. This it must escape from in order to the highest usefulness. We need a revival of everyday righteousness. We must look for it to begin in the church. # Look at Your Hands New Books

And Find Out What Vocation Suits You.

Take your own hand, follow the outlines and you will find your mission, or the vocation you are fitted for. The hand most used is the hand most marked. The young woman who so tartly replied that she knew she was a miss with a mission, and it was to find a man with a man sion, must have studied practical palmistry and possessed large hands.

Abnormally large hands indicate the ability to do one thing at a time, no are always kindly disposed and of a generous nature. The contour of the hand is also very expressive, and often a more amiable guide for hasty character reading. The square hand is the useful hand. It indicates practical ideas of life. The possessor

The mixed hand has a rather long palm, with short or long fingers. Its distinctive feature is its variety of nails, which includes the several types-square, spatulae, long or oval. Such a hand shows great versatility. It is the hand of the average workingwoman. It also can show traces of the originality of the inventor. These five types form the basis for hand reading, though in all there are seven. Women, however, possess but five. Special features govern character and play an important part. For instance, large joints denote a studious nature. A school teacher's hand should have such characteristic development. Such joints belong to women of an inquiring mind, to those who are slow to judge, and who do not act from impulse. Long, tapering fingers are distinctly the ideal. They indicate a carelessness of the little things in life. Shoe buttons may come off and stay off. The owner has no method. All such women should

TWO GOOD STORIES.

Sir Monstuart Grant Duff's "Notes from a Duary, 1851-1872," purposed to be, according to the author, "one of the most good-natured books of its kind ever printed." It certainly ap-pears to have met this intention, including much that is amusing and gos-stpy, with little or nothing to offend. Here is an entry in the diary for 1852: "Nov. 18 .- At the Duke of Wellington's funeral in St. Paul's. As the riderless horse, with the boots slung across it, was being led down St. James' street, Mr. Brookfield's little daughter said, 'Mamma, when we die, shall be also be turned into boots? A well known story about Carlyle and Emerson was given Duff by Charles Kingsley in the following version:
"The most dyspeptic of philosophers had been terribly bored by the persistent optimism of his friend Emerson. 'I thought,' he said that I would try to cure him, so I took him to some of the lowest parts of London, and showed him all that was going on there. This days I turned to him. there. This done, I turned to him, saying, "And, noo, man, d'ye believe in the deevil noo?" "Oh, no', he replied, "all these people seem to me only parts of the great machine, and, on the whole, I think they are doing their work very satisfactorily!" 'Then,' continued the sage, 'I took him down to the Hoose o' Commons, where they put us under the gallery. There I showed him ae chiel getting up after anither and leeing and lee I turned to him and said, "And, noo, He made me, however, just the same answer as before, and I then gave him up in despair!

ROSSLAND LABOR MARKET.

Rossland, B. C., Miner. Rossland is well supplied with female labor of all kinds. Numbers of girls have been taken in by families who have no need of help. These girls are not, in most cases, earning any wages, and their presence in the camp results only in a lowering of the scale of wages for all kinds of work for vomen. The outside press will confer a favor on the people of this community if they will inform the public that there are more laborers now in Ross land than can find work, and that there will soon be a little army of unemployed if laborers without resources continue to pour into the dis-
