London Tenders Magnificent Reception to Dr. Oronhyatekha, Supreme Chief I.O.F.

Tremendous Gathering in Tackaberry, John H. Hambly and J. Bluethner, of this city, who played the piano in his usual artistic manner, and added greatly to the success of Grand Opera House.

Imposing Success.

Nearly 1,000 New Members Ushered Hambly, as secretary. Into the Order-Brilliant

Conservative estimates placed the number present at about 3,000. It was indeed a striking tribute to the popularity of the sterling order and its revered and honored supreme chief ranger. Of the crowd 300 came from St. Thomas on a special Pere Marquette train, 50 came from Stratford, from Ingersoll, 50 from Strathroy, and smaller parties came from other 987 Candidates Initiated.

The joint initiation, at which no less than 987 candidates were ushered into the order, was both brilliant and imposing. The joint initiation consisted of the initiation of Mr. Wentworth Stewart, of this city, who represented the entire 987 candidates, and the ceremony was performed by the Ladies' Guard of Honor of Toronto, assisted by Dr. Oronhyatekha. The stage was fitted up as a lodge room and decorated with British and American flags, and bunting, as were also the talconies and boxes of the house. Previous to the initiation, the Guard of Honor accorded a formal welcome to the supreme chief ranger, which was supplemented by a popular demonstration from the audience, which lasted several minutes. It was plain to all that Dr. Oronhyatekha is the grand old man of the fraternal orders of the Dominion. During the evening the supreme chief ranger was made the recipient of two very beautiful floral offerings, one from Court Hope No. 1, city, presented by a dainty little miss. Ethel Young, and from the general commitee, the presentation being made by Miss Kathleen Darch, a charming little mite in white. The doctor kissed both little girls and the crowd thun-derously applauded. Praise for Workers.

The speaker of the evening was, of course, the supreme chief ranger, and he was followed by the Hon, E. G. Stevenson, of Detroit; Hon, Dr. Montague, and several others, all of whom paid glowing tributes to the excellent work performed by the committees, who started out two months ago to
