Conference May End Dublin Strike

Dublin, Oct. 12.—The peace committee which was formed for the purpose of finding a way out of the labor deadlock has secured the consent of both sides to confer with the committee on Monday, and it is confidently hoped that a settlement will be reached on that day. A majority of the employers are in favor of reinstating the locked-out men and the strikers, providing they agree to handle all goods without discrimination. While this would involve the abandonment by the men of their doctrine of "handed goods," it would involve the recognition of James Larkin and the Transport Workers' Union by the employers.

Four Badly Hurt By Electric Wire

Kingston, Oct. 12.—Coming home from church last night, a party of four walked into a live wire on Montreal street, and are now in the general hospital in a critical condition.

The victims of the accident are H. E. W. Nicholson, Grand Trunk station-master at the outer station; his wife and daughter and Thomas Phillips, baker, employed by R. H. Toye. The wife, evidently blown down in a heavy windstorm, was hanging over the sidewalk.

DIED SUDDENLY

W. J. Cooper, formerly of Walkerton, Stricken in the West.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Last night Hon. Arthur Meighen received word of the sudden death of his law partner, W. J. Cooper, K. C., Portage la Prairie, and left at once for the West. This will necessitate the cancellation of some of Mr. Meighen's meetings in East Middlesex, but he expects to take part in the campaign in South Bruce. The late Mr. Cooper was one of the best-known members of the Manitoba bar. He formerly resided in Walkerton, Ont.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Eli Stout was Struck by Grand Trunk Train at Rockwood.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Oct. 11.—Eli Stout, an old man, 80 years of age, was instantly killed while walking on the G. T. R. track near Rockwood, when he was struck by a passenger train. Mr. Stout resided at Rockwood, where he at one time conducted a hardware business. He was crossing the bridge near Rockwood, and as he was very deaf, apparently did not hear the train coming. He leaves two daughters, Miss Eliza and Mrs. Coran.

FAVORITE SPEECHES.

[Toronto Star.]
Watching the rush of Canadian cattle across the border, the Stratford Beacon recalls Mr. Foster's warning that by facilitating trade north and south, the well-filled arteries of inter-provincial trade will be drained until the whole system grows anaemic and flabby. Foster's speech against reciprocity, thus recalled, was really eloquent, but our favorite is his speech advocating a Canadian navy. In fact, we like it better than he does.

Pope Will Sign Revised Canon Law

Rome, Oct. 12.—Pope Pius will sign a document next year which will not only be the only important one to which he has affixed his signature during his pontificate, but one which is looked on as the most important in the history of the Catholic Church, and one of the greatest reforms attempted by any Pope. It is the codification of the canon law decreed by Pope Pius in 1904, and now practically completed.

An idea of the importance of the work may be gathered from the fact that the canon law at present consists of written and traditional constitutions of the church since the days of apostles, documents extending over practically nineteen centuries. Cardinal Gaspari, the practical codifier in charge of the work, says three of the largest rooms in the Vatican are filled with collections of decrees and constitutions, which will cease to have force when the Pope has promulgated the new code.

Woman Fainting Causes Death of 16

Lemberg, Austria-Hungary, Oct. 12.—The fainting of a woman in a crowded synagogue at Chodorow, Galicia, last night caused a great panic. Hundreds of women rushed to the doors, and sixteen of them were crushed to death. Scores were injured.

WYOMING.

Wyoming, Oct. 12.—Wyoming is to have a new industry in the near future. A by-law was passed to grant a bonus to D. Senecal for the erection and operation of a box and basket factory. That the proposed undertaking found favor with the villagers was evidenced by the fact that only four ratepayers opposed it.

Mr. Senecal sold 30 head of cattle, which were on his pasture farm, to Mr. Sheppard recently.

The convention held in Saratoga, N. Y., last night, was a very successful one. Mrs. J. Wallace Anderson, who has spent the summer with her parents here, is to join her husband in Bounty, Sask., where they will make their home.

E. Kill has had a pipe laid from the gas well at his residence to his office. This well supplies four establishments now.

Previous to the departure of the Misses Foster from town to make their home in Chatham, their friends met and presented them with a quarter-cut oak buffet, in token of the regard in which the ladies are held.

DRESDEN.

Dresden, Oct. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wells, of Detroit, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wells, Jun.

Mrs. Babcock and Mr. T. Hazlett, of Saratoga, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hawkins, here recently.

Mr. G. J. Fox was in Saratoga on Saturday.

Miss Carrie Peate, of Saratoga, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Peate.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Gonyon, of Chatham, spent Fair day at the home of Mr. N. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wright and little daughter, of Leamington, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Wright.

Miss Annie Bentley, of Wallaceburg, is here on her honeymoon.

Mrs. Richard Scott, of Detroit, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. S. Bentley.

Miss Gertrude Baxter, of Chatham, was here yesterday.

L. V. Peters and daughter, Miss Lottie, of Saratoga, attended the Fair here.

The Chatham-Dresden Fair was very largely attended. The weather was very good, and the exhibits in all lines were very high class. Financially the show was a splendid success.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taylor were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Wiley.

AMUSEMENTS

Cyril Maude Two Performances.

Cyril Maude comes to this city from a most successful engagement at Toronto. Tonight he plays "The Second in Command," and by request, tomorrow night, "The Beauty and the Beast." The Toronto World had the following criticism of tonight's play: "The Second in Command" is a masterpiece of dramatic writing, played with all the charm and finish of a first-class London comedy, and it swept the capacity audience with enthusiasm, sentiment and laughter. Not in years has such a triumphal climax been achieved as the close of the third act, when nine curtain calls were given to the persistently applauding audience. It was a most fashionable gathering, too, which filled the house, such as is rarely achieved at the close of the third act, when nine curtain calls were given to the persistently applauding audience. It was a most fashionable gathering, too, which filled the house, such as is rarely achieved at the close of the third act, when nine curtain calls were given to the persistently applauding audience.

Star, and again with 'Love's Old Sweet Song,' and the bugle call 'Lights Out,' the dialogue and action gained immensely from the numerous post-quite unobtrusive accessories. Montague Love was a soldierly and attractive Colonel Anstruther, and the support rendered Mr. Maude by the company was practically perfect. Miss Maude showed real power in her scenes with the major, and the colonel, and was as thoroughly charming when the stress was removed.

"The Parish Priest."

When the presentation of "The Parish Priest" was prepared this season, the task of choosing a worthy successor to the late Daniel Sully confronted the management, and Mr. Arthur Claire, whose acquaintance with the play seemed to fit him for the part of Father Whelan, was chosen. Supported by a carefully-selected company, including Miss Alice Hazen, there is no doubt but that this popular classic will enjoy a long and prosperous season. From the moment the curtain rises until the end of the play the audience is kept in good humor, and it is that kind of humor that is accentuated by the pathos which the early-drawn situations of the play story about. The Grand Opera House Thursday and Friday evenings. Seats tomorrow at 9 a.m.

"A Double Deceiver."

The story of "A Double Deceiver," which Norman Hackett will present for his engagement Saturday, matinee and night, at the Grand, runs as follows: The play opens in a Texas saloon on a Saturday night. Ambrose R. Fitzgerald (alias "Liano Kid"), bursts breezily in and "stars" the house as the loudest about the bar would have it. He engages in a game of cards. There is a dispute. A flash of revolvers follows. The light goes out, and when other illumination is procured it is seen that the Kid's opponent is stretched on the floor. The delightful village sheriff sends the boy away free. Then the sheriff finds a dagger in the dead man. It belonged to the dead man's sweetheart. The second act takes us swiftly to South America, and with the rise of the curtain the charming Spanish atmosphere is felt. Complications are unravelled, and the play ends that Ambrose is not responsible for Poncho's death. Seats Wednesday.

"Bunt Pulls the Strings."

The advance sale of seats will open at the Grand Thursday at 9 a.m., for "Bunt Pulls the Strings." "Bunt" will play at the Grand and Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night at special prices. "Bunt" is the one "big thing" on the theatrical horizon at the present time—it played here last season to a delighted audience. The Haymarket Theatre, London, has been playing "Bunt" for the past two years to capacity business, and it is expected that the comedy will run another year. New York and Chicago have had their "Bunt" companies playing indefinite engagements. The play is laid in Scotland, with a Scotch theme, and interpreted by an all-Scotch company of players.

THE DEW IS ON THE HEATHER! BLEACHING TIME IS HERE

Perhaps it might be interesting to know that maybe the reason your cottons and linens do not look as white on the clothesline as your neighbor's is that your neighbor buys the unbleached or half-bleached goods, and does her own bleaching. October and November are the months for perfect bleaching, when the heavy dews are on the meadows and the sun is not too hot in the day. No manufacturer can give you the beautiful white that nature will produce at this season, and the values in unbleached linens and cottons are so far ahead of bleached goods that the savings are worthy of your investigation.

This week's sale has been planned for by large purchases of Unbleached Cottons and Linens months ahead to be delivered in October in time for fall bleaching. We ask you if interested in sheetings to examine these and note the soft round thread and evenness in weave which can only be obtained from the Lancashire mills.
