THEY WOUND UP THEIR WORK. THE SECRET OF GLADSTONE'S ORA-

He Talks Straight at the People—Not Afraid to Be Commonplace.

It is difficult to read one of Mr. Gladstone's non-political addresses without asking wherein is to be found the secret of the charm exercised by his oratory over all classes. There is no gorgeous rhetoric, no melody of words, no spice of epigram. Again, there is no attempt to show learning, there is no special depth of thought, and there is no great newness of view or originality of conception. All these powers of the mind Mr. Gladstone no doubt possesses in a high degree, but unquestionably, he

I think I have knocked one superstition of the doctors completely out. This is the belief that inveterate smoking causes heart disease. Out of a total of 468 deaths due to heart troubles that have come under my observation during the past two years, only two of the victims were regular smokers. Drink caused the largest portion of these diseases, and so the deaths. Fifteen years ago, when I was back in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, a doctor told me that I would be a dead man within two years unless I quit smoking. My heart was affected, he said, and the tobacco, by increasing the organ's movement, aggravated the malady. Six years ago that same physician passed through the city on the way to Colorado for his heatth. He was almost a complete wreck and his heart was in a very bad state. I happened to meet him, and almost the first thing he said was, "You quit smoking long ago, I suppose?" "Well, scarcely," I replied. "I smoke now on an average twenty-five cigars a day, and never felt better in my life." You never saw such an astonished man in your life. To make a long story short, I got that man to smoke a cigar, and before the morning was over he had smoked five. Tobacco put him out the uproad to heaven again and he is living yet.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat
