John Macdonald & Co. Wellington and Front-streets East,

> THE WOMAN WHO DID. mned in a Sermon by the Canon of St. James'. Canon Dumoulin, at the noontide ser vice in St. James' Cathedral yesterday, contrasted the Bible with any other literature which the genius of man had produced. The world is flooded with books, magazines, newspapers. This is a reading age. Toronto has her half dozen ng age. Toronto has her half dozen laily newspapers. Then there is the rush of novels, of the making of which there is no end. Some are good and wholesome; others are evil and pernicious. Amongst the latter he instanced Grant s recent book, "The Woman Who And what did she? Discarded the boly sacrament of marriage, tore down, as it were, a godly institution. The heroide consorts with her lover without marriage. And this is the literature which it is sad to think is read with such avidity.

Then the Canon turned to another effect of the canon turned to another effect of the campivorous reading of the day. It led to the neglect of the greatest book—the well of English undefiled, the Bible. A former generation knew more of the Bible than the present one. This of the Bible than the present one. This is proved by the answers given by members of confirmation classes and Sunday Schools. These young people did not read the Bible as their grandfathers and grandmothers did. In this restless age there is the impatience of the old-fashioned method of teaching and preaching from the Bible. No one now hears the rustling of leaves as the Bibles are turned in following the teaching of the preacher. Sensationalism, rather than Bible subjects, is what is most popular in the pulpit.

The Canon then pointed out the evils of the neglect of private reading and meditation in the closet and Bible reading in the family. And yet in the Bible God speaks His mind and will concerning the human race, and daily life and conduct. The greatest philosophers, poets and cultivated men have been indebted greatly to their habitual study of the Scriptures, proof whereof the preacher gave in the cases of Shakespeare, Bacon, Newton, Milton, and to come down to a great living statesman, Mr. Gladstone, who, midst all the cares of his many positions, midst all the cares of his many positions, midst all the cares of his many positions, found time and a solace in the study of biblical literature. Out of the many well-known men who wrote recently of the books that had most influenced them, ten out of every twelve included the Bible or books having their inspiration from the Bible. In conclusion the preach-er spoke of the beauty of the Scriptures and the benefits to be derived from the morning and evening lessons in the Book of Common Prayer.

York Township Council. The Township Council met at the Town Hall, Eglinton, on Monday, and transacted a lot of routine business. It was decided to refer the case of the Township v ex-Reeve Humberstone to arbitration. Mr. Henry Duncan was appointed arbitrator in the Township in the matter of widening the Development. the matter of widening the Davenport-road on the lands of Henry and Joseph The Reeve and the clerk were authorized to execute the agreement of the Georgian Bay & Ship Canal Aqueduct Company as soon as the company had paid the charges incurred by the council in considering the matter. A petition signed by thirty residents of Deer Park was submitted, asking to prevent cattle running at large in the neighborhood. The clerk was instruct. prevent cattle running at large in the neighborhood. The clerk was instructed to prepare a by law dealing with the matter at the next meeting. The treasurer's statement showed that up to date $51,807 taxes had been collected, leaving an unpaid balance of $31,616. Mr. Gibson of Vaughan sent in a claim of $200 for damages sustained by a defective bridge on the second concession.

The case was left to the Township Solicitor. The people of Bracondale petitioned for a sidewalk from St. Clairavenue to the Vaughan Plank-road. The council postponed action until they could visit the locality.

The council adjourned till the 15th
