

responsive Readings. Will not the societies avail themselves of these valuable helps and use them in your meetings. READ THEM, dear sisters and send them to your friends there is no better way to increase your knowledge and missionary spirit. Address for all missionary literature, Miss Myra J. Black, Amherst N. S.

MISSION BAND

This department of our work requires special attention. Do not REST until mission work is being carried on among your young people and the children instructed concerning mission fields, whether, it be in the Sab. School, in the junior Union or in any other way. We shall grow and increase in strength as this work is faithfully and successfully prosecuted. He who has said "Feed my lambs" will help you in your undertaking and give rich reward.

MONEY

While more money has been contributed during the past year than ever before the income is not equal to the expenditure. The work is growing and the demands each year will be greater. The Foreign mission treasury is empty. Five thousand dollars had to be borrowed to pay the missionaries salaries since Conventiou and the addition of eighteen hundred dollars to send out Mr. and Mrs. Corey and Miss Clark will require increased contributions on the part of all for the coming year. My sisters, shall we not show our LOVE for Christ by our willingness to work and give for His cause? Women of Israel help! The united efforts of all the women in our churches would bring forth most cheering results, that would gladden the hearts of our
