

St. Andrew's College

"Chestnut Park," Toronto

A Presbyterian Residential and Day School for Boys

Boys are prepared for the Universities and Royal Military College. Full Collegiate work is done. Preparatory Form for Junior Boys, also Separate Residence under charge of Henry F. Meyer, Ph.D., who has had some years' experience in similar work in Repton, England.

The staff is large and efficient. In addition to the Principal, there are six masters, of whom five, with the Principal, live in residence.

The College grounds are over twelve acres in extent. Direct street-car communication with the Union Station. City conveniences, country advantages.

The aim is to develop boys morally, mentally and physically.

Re-opens for Autumn Term on September 10th, 1900. See Home Study Quarterly.

Write for Circular and further information to,

Rev. D. Bruce Macdonald, M.A.,
PRINCIPAL

Young People

of this practical age require practical training. No institution in the country offers better advantages than the

CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE OF TORONTO

With a dozen experienced teachers, splendid equipment, including Sixty Typewriting Machines, it holds no second position among Business Schools on this continent.

Members admitted at any time

Calendar free W. H. SHAW,
Principal