

April 30th—Operated at 11 A.M. Dr. Miller gave chloroform and Dr. Leslie assisted at the operation. A two-inch incision in the usual place enabled me to hook up the left ovary from Douglas' pouch; the pedicle was tied and dropped, the right ovary examined and found normal, and the wound closed. The operation occupied about twenty minutes. On returning to the patient a few hours after, I found her suffering from the most severe retching I ever saw. It was promptly relieved, however, by a half-grain hypodermic of morphia.

May 14th—The patient convalesced rather slowly owing to irritability of the stomach. The temperature, which was 100° on the day of the operation, has never reached that point since, and is now normal.

June 1st—Patient able to leave her room, and feeling quite well.

Since then (nearly a year ago) she has enjoyed perfect health, and has never had a pain since the day of the operation. The ovary removed was but slightly enlarged, and had three small cysts about the size of marrowfat peas.
