Mercantile Summary.

THE first seals of the season have been observed off Cape Bonavista. The sealing steamers are preparing for their annual hunt.

A SMALL genral dealer of St. Jean des Piles, Quebec, named Euchariste Crete, who has revolved a good deal between Grande Mere, Grande Piles and his present address, during the last few years, has assigned to Messrs. Lamarche & Benoit, Montreal.—The affairs of J. A. Poulin, a general dealer at St. George de la Beauce, Que., are in the hands of a Quebec accountant. He began business in the spring of 1897, with the help of a well-to-do father. He owes $2,396.

COL. J. HUNTER DUVAR, of recent years a well-known Canadian literary man, died some days ago at his home in Prince Edward Island. Long before the Atlantic cable, he was a newsman in the lower St. Lawrence. Mr. Easson, the well-known news superintendent of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co., tells us that "Col. Hunter Duvar, carried on news-gathering operations in connection with the Cunard Line of steamers off Point Pleasant, while I, as a telegrapher, watched the Allan steamers, which came up the St. Lawrence off Father Point. Hunter Duvar sent his English news to D. H. Craig, New York; so did I. It will be forty years on the 28th April next since I left Toronto for Father Point. I worked my way down from Riviere Du Loup with the line builders, and reached Father Point on the 23rd of May, 1859—next day being the Queen's Birthday. Mr. James Foustie and I were remarking on it at the time, and I remember very well that Jim undertook to explain it to the habitants down thereabout, not one of whom had ever heard of the Queen's birthday."

UNDER the heading, "Effects of a Storm on Overhead Wire Construction in Canada," The Electrical Review, of New York, reprints one of our illustrations of 23rd December, and adds: "After the experience through which they have recently passed, the citizens of Hamilton, Ont., should be able to appreciate, at something like their true value, the advantages conferred by the modern street railway, electric light, telegraph and telephone systems. The unusually destructive snow and sleet-storm which passed over that city in December completely demoralized for a time all these electrical agencies. The accompanying illustration from The Monetary Times of Toronto, will show even better than a lengthy description the chaotic condition which the electrical companies were called upon to face in Hamilton and throughout the western peninsula of Ontario. The transmission lines between Hamilton and Niagara, and west to Sarnia and Windsor were badly crippled. One of the telegraph officials applied a rule to a No. 8 fallen wire at Burlington and found the diameter, inclusive of the coating of ice, to be 4½ inches, and the weight about eight pounds to the foot. It was impossible that even the best constructed lines could withstand such a burden, so that in the sections where the storm raged most severely there was a total collapse."
