

(Mr. Houlliez, Belgium)

have already stressed, time is not on our side. This means that any other measure, even if it is effective in present circumstances, cannot replace a convention drawn up by 40 countries which represent the whole world in its geographical and political dimensions.

With the happy prospect of a convention taking shape in the fairly near future, I wish to confirm that Belgium remains ready to host the headquarters of the organization.