

State should provide, is the Church which, being that of the wealthy, can best provide for itself, and has the fewest poor to supply with gratuitous religious instruction. Another consideration which distinguishes the grounds on which such a question must be decided in old and new countries is, that the state of society in the latter is not susceptible of such an organization as is necessary for the efficiency of any Church-Establishment of which I know, more especially of one so constituted as the Established Church of England; for the essence of the Establishment is its Parochial Clergy. The services of a Parochial Clergy are almost inapplicable to a Colony, where a constantly varying population is widely scattered over the country. Any Clergy there must be rather Missionary than Parochial.

ERRATUM.

Page 16, fifth line from the bottom, for in holy communication with ourselves, read, in holy communion with ourselves.