exempt from attack—women, children, small shopkeepers, workingmen—the sacrifice of whose lives serves no military purpose either morally or mate-"The folly and futility of the raids

last week may well be imagined when it is remembered that the London dis-trict taken for convenience as the area administered by the metropolitan po-lice, is just short of 700 square miles in area. It was by hastily dropping at random in the dark explosive and incendiary materials somewhere on this enormous surface that the enemy professed to have accomplished an important military purpose.

No Damage to War Industries.
"The fact is that no public institutions of any kind were hit, nor was any power station or arsenal. No damage was done affecting the use of any building connected directly or in-directly with the conduct of the war. It is true that two hospitals narrowly escaped damage, but it is only fair to say in behalf of the of-cers of an army which has done its best to destroy the cathedrals of present they have succeeded in hitting only one church.

Moral Effect Failures. "So far as the moral effect of the raids is concerned, it is feared that from the standpoint of Berlin it was a complete failure. If Count Zeppelin himself accompanied the raiding aircraft as has been reported from Holland, he will be disappointed to learn that only a minority of the vast population of London was aware of the presence of his airships; that am those who heard the gunfire and saw the Zeppelins the feelings everywhere aroused were interest and curiosity rather than fear. That London and its suburbs as a community faced raiders is in no way a mitigation of the callous and purposeless brutality of their actions or the tragedies which

Effects of First Bombs. "Here are a few pictures of the ef-fects accomplished by the officers and crew of the last airship which visited the London district. Somewhere in don there is a little street with a public house at the corner. Outside it Wednesday evening after the place was closed, a man and woman stood talking. While the woman went away to buy supper the man waited for her, and there fell at his feet the first explosive bombs. They killed the man outright and blew pieces of the paving stone on to surrounding roofs. They blew in the front of the public house, reducing the stock to a mass of broken glass, over which still floats the indefinable odor of assorted forms of alcohol. They took off the top of a grand plane on the floor above, twisted an iron bedstead, injuring a woman who was sleeping there, and reduced what had been the carefully kept living rooms of a small family to a mass of soot. dust, plaster and broken glass. In what conceivable respect did this con-

Directly under the roof was a little flat in which four children were asleep. After being put to bed two of them got up secretly to make tea in an adjoining room. The bed they left now is a mass of charred and blackened sheets, with the mattress torn to pieces. They escaped by

He mentioned Mrs. Henshaw, Vancouver, is at Deancroft, and returns to Montreal tonight where she is staying with her sister, Lady Williams-Taylor. miss Mary Drayton has arrived in town from Ottawa on her return to school.

We have not been supported as we should be by the Church of England in Canada. The best way to accomplish the great work is to combine our strength with that of the Dominion Government and if they will Dominion Government, and if they will not combine with our superior wisdom we should follow theirs." It was explained that the grants of the Domin ion Government to the Indian mission for education and the general imquate. The speaker quoted James Russell Lowell's tribute of the noble work and the respect for the humble tribes. The speaker said, "Let us be-ware that we do not leave the children of destiny."

Efforts Will Be Repaid.

Chancellor Conybeare of Leth-bridge, in the diocese of Calgary, said, The seed which we may sow among the Indians in this generation may not germinate till the next generation, but our efforts will be repaid. The chancellor said altho he was not a missionary doctor he had been living among the great Miss Vorso Cronyn is in Hamilton with Mrs. P. D. He declared that the Indian missions should be taken over by the general church, and have a competent he recognized the generous assistance given this year by the M.S.C.C. and without which it would have been possible to carry on the work. H concluding remarks addressed to h grace were "that the good work woul continue until someone better was se-cured to fill the place of those now serving in the uplifting of the Indians. Archdeacon Tims of the Diocese o Calgary gave some statistics relative to the cost of maintaining the Indians. He said it now cost $160 per head to keep the children in school a year, and this amount was $50 greater than the cost four years ago.

G. C. Coppley in addressing the house on the immigration policy of the church, said that the great uegstion of immigration had never discussed by the Anglican Church in Canada. "The aim adopted at the last session of the board of missions was "to take part in the Christianizing of the non-Christian immigrant, to use to the full the work of port chaplains and by a closer adherence to the system follow up every church member to his or her ence to destination, to carry the church's ministrations into all the construction and other camp centres where men congregate for temporary purposes." The delegate said that quantity and not quality of the members had heretofore been the policy of the church.

Bishop Lloyd spoke briefly concerning the work of the mission board in the sister church in the United States.
