cal war, with a fusion of certain members of the syndicates known as the eastern and western burlesque wheels. The prompters of the popular-priced musical comedy enterprise are stated to be L. Lawrence Weber, Sam A. Scribner, J. Herbert Mack and Rudolph Hymicka, all important members of the Columbia Amusement Company. All save Mr. Mack: are associated in cowiership of the Gayety franchise, which belongs to the eastern burlesque wheel. The syndicate has already incorporated a booking agency thru papers filed at Albany, N.Y.

The other enterprise is being engineered by Gus Hill, Edward Rush, Henry Rosenpers. Aaron Hoffman, Wm. T. Keough and Messrs. Gordon and North Messrs. Rush and Hill belong to the organization which controls the Gayety, and Messrs. Gordon and North have an interest in the Star Theatre of the western wheel. It is an interesting move in the theatrical checker board which is said to have seen its beginning in a split between the partners. Weber and Rush.

If Toronto is to have new theatres it is said to have seen its beginning in a split between the partners. Weber and Rush.

If Toronto is to have new theatres it doesn't necessarily mean building more, as it is said that three amusement places are open possibilities for leasing.

Pointing his finger at the chancellor, who was seated only a yard away. Dr. von Heydebrand declared that the bold avowal of the Socialists in favor of a republic, which the country had heard, made it imperative that he (the chancellor) should not wait for the arrival of the revolution, but should take immediately such steps as would nip it in the bud.

The appeal of the Conservative leader to the imperial chancellor is, regarded as forecasting an attempt to secure the renewal of Bismarck's anti-Socialist laws, for the purpose of suppressing all forms of the Socialist propaganda. railed as to compel passengers to get delay, as the passenger who needed to make change would block the procession, whereas such unprepared individuals are now turned to one side on the

It appears that local 24 and local 1, imder whose auspices the meeting was being held, differ in their religious views. The former will not accept as a member anyone affiliated with a religious body, while local 1 do not make it a ruling ordinance.

A deputation of socialists from local 24 sat in the galltry, and led by Moses Baritz, their organiber, insisted on asking questions. When this privilege was denied them, they declared they would stop the meeting, and some lively talk ensued.

Order being at last restored, the speaker continued in the discussion of his subject, "The World's Unrest." He spoke of the unrest among religious and political bodies, dealing chiefly with the discontent of the laborins class.

Mr. Richards, formerly in the employe of the hydro-electric commission, gave an account of the progress which has been made in street lighting. As a bylaw is to be submitted to the people on New Year's day, empowering the council to install an electric house and street lighting system, Mr. Richards thought they would be missing an opportunity if they did not bring in something in connection with the hydro commission. At his request the following was voted on and passed unanimously: "That this meeting is of the opinion that a hydro-electric plebiscite should be submitted with and independent of, the street and house lighting bylaw."

Mexican Government Have Again Opened Country to Telegraph.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 25 .- The Mexican Government last night lifted the embargo on the use of all telegraph wires, and furnished the Associated Press with its leased wire to the City of Mexico. For the first time in five days a full press report is going into the republic. This is taken as an indication that the situation is now well in hand there, and that there is no further fear of an outbreak, especially in the interior.
