

PRESIDENT'S APPEAL TO ENDORSE LEAGUE

Declares Whole World is Awaiting Verdict of the People.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Wilson, in his first campaign appeal to the people, urged the endorsement of the league of nations and declared, "the whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

The president characterized as "absolutely false" assertions that article ten of the league covenant would make it possible for other nations to lead the United States into war. There was nothing in the covenant, he said, "which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of congress to declare war or not declare war according to its own independent judgment, as our constitution provides."

"My fellow countrymen," was the president's method of addressing his communication to the people. He made no mention of presidential candidates by name, but was confined to a brief defense of Article 10 and criticism of those who have declared, "grossly misled" the public with regard to the treaty.

The president said that those who had spent their lives, as he had, "in familiarizing themselves with the history and traditions and policies of the nation, must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which has been attempted to invent an 'Americanism' which has no foundation whatever in any of the traditions of the government."

The chief question is put to you is, of course, this: Do you want your country's honor vindicated and the treaty of Versailles ratified? Do you in particular approve of the league of nations as organized and empowered in that treaty? And do you wish to see the United States play its responsible part in it? You have been grossly misled with regard to the treaty, and particularly with regard to the proposed character of the league of nations, by those who have assumed the responsibility of speaking for you.

"The issue of the present campaign is of such tremendous importance and of such far-reaching significance for the future of the country and the development of its future that it is necessary to speak to you. Even the sick are afraid to come."

As with the Turk. The Serb vies with the Turk in atrocities. When the veil is lifted from the 'Ipek' country there will be found a condition of affairs which will come as a rude check to those who have put their confidence in Serbia, a correspondent of The Morning Post is writing from Cetinje, a town of false-hoods and misrepresentations.

ITALIAN CONFLICT ALMOST BLOODLESS

Premier Giolitti Praises Way Industrial Strife Was Quieted.

Rome, Oct. 3.—Italy has gone through a radical transformation in the relations existing between employers and workers with little injury to persons, property or order of things, says Premier Giolitti, in a statement to the Associated Press. He explains the significance of the settlement reached between the owners of industrial plants and their employees, and says that more cordial relations between capital and labor will exist in future.

Incidentally, the premier, upon whose initiative the controversy was settled, takes occasion to ridicule "alarming stories printed abroad relative to conditions in Italy during the past month."

"Many persons volunteered advice to the government as to its using force and employing soldiers, cannon and machine-guns for what they considered the necessity of making the rights of property respected. Considering the fact there were more than 500,000 workers involved in the movement and that over 600 factories were occupied, an attempt to dislodge the men by force would have plunged the country into civil war, and hundreds, if not thousands of people would have been killed."

The widening abyss between employers and workmen could not be bridged at first, but by following the counsels of moderation, prudence and conciliation, the number of those killed was about a dozen, including some victims of clashes between "red" and "white" workmen. Even this loss of life was deplorable, but "let him that is without sin cast the first stone."

What country has not gone through similar sad experiences, often with a much longer list of dead? Now, I rejoice to say, work is generally being resumed, factories have been evacuated and the men are co-operating with the owners and technical staffs to set things going again. We thus have succeeded in satisfactorily settling one of the worst economic conflicts in industrial history without grave losses and have initiated what is most important—better feeling between employers and men."
