GENERAL WRANGLER HAS A THIRD ARMY INTACT IN UKRAINE

Hon. T. A. Crerar Fires First Shot in East Elgin By-Election Fight

ELGIN CAMPAIGN IS HOTTEST ON RECORD

IS VIEW OF CRERAR

But Canadian Farmer Is Cautious Against Getting Into Combines.

O. C. HAWKES' VIEWS

The assurance that in England Canada has a steady customer for all the grain that Canadian farmers will release at current prices, was given last evening by O. C. Hawkes, a visiting British capitalist, who has a wide knowledge of conditions in the old country. He was interviewed by The World at the residence in Rosedale of W. Perkins Bull, K.C.

Mr. Hawkes, after pointing out that the Canadian farmer could not by the formation of rings and combines attain the position in the wheat market that, by virtue of being the sole source of supply available to the old country, he had occupied last year in the oats and barley market, discussed interestingly the present industrial situation in England, particularly as it has been affected by recent labor developments.

Miners' Position. The miners, he stated, in the recent coal strike had faced an unsurmountable wall of public sentiment against the unqualified granting to them of their demands. The government and all those interested, realized that during the war they had improved their position to the extent of securing thirty shillings for work that was formerly repaid with six, and the public regarded as particularly significant the fact that, with over 100,000 more men engaged in the coal mining industry than had been employed before the war, the output was even less than shown by pre-war figures.

Mr. Bradshaw, formerly a member of the investment firm of A. E. Ames and Co., entered the city's service as commissioner of finance several years ago, resigning quite recently to join the Massey-Harris Co. as treasurer. As a finance commissioner he received $15,000 a year, and it was understood that in his new post he received a substantial salary increase.

DRIVING SNOWSTORM GREETED FORMER MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WHO ACCUSES GOVERNMENT CANDIDATE'S BACKERS OF LAVISH OUTLAY—DENIES FARMERS' MOVEMENT IS A CLASS ONE.

Port Burwell, Ont., Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Despite a driving snowstorm which swept the countryside from early evening, several hundred persons gave an enthusiastic reception to Hon. T. A. Crerar, ex-minister of agriculture, and other prominent speakers, who spoke in the local Odd-fellows Hall in support of S. S. McDermid, the U.F.O. candidate for East Elgin. It was the first appearance of Mr. Crerar in this riding during the present campaign.

Although the leader of the United Farmers' movement in Canada devoted much time to the tariff question and to criticizing the federal government, he considers will be the most important of the whole campaign.

W. E. Burnaby introduced him as the next premier of Canada and the crowd in one accord broke into cheers. In common with the other speakers, the ex-minister made comments on the number of speakers brought into this riding during the campaign. He said that he had seen many hot elections, but East Elgin certainly took the palm.

Speaking of the campaign which is being carried on by Mr. Stansell, the government candidate, Mr. Crerar said that the "hear-to-heart" talks would be led to believe that the great issues of the by-election are the salaries of the Grain Growers' Association while the navy or other great problems of the country.

CECIL MAKES PLEA FOR LESS SECRECY IN DELIBERATIONS

Member of French Delegation to League Opposed, and Wins His Point.

Geneva, Nov. 16.—How far the principle of open discussions might apply to the work of the assembly of the League of Nations, was a question which furnished the feature of today's sessions. It brought into contest for the first time in a sharp debate two of the chief figures among the delegates. Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa, contended for open meetings of the conventions as well as the full assembly. Rene Viviani, of the French delegation, stoutly defended the parliamentary tradition of private committee work, with subsequent publication of the minutes. His view prevailed after a prolonged discussion.

Lord Robert pleaded strongly that the assembly make a stand in favor of full openness of discussion when the question of committee work came up. M. Viviani pointed out that all precedents were to the contrary. In the despatch of a mass of business before their committees, he said, were obliged to talk questions privately. Lord Robert retorted that British precedents differed from the French.

A compromise finally was reached between the two, whereby the committees will be permitted to hold open sessions when they see fit, the minutes of the deliberations to be published as soon as possible after the sessions. Signor Tittoni, Italy, M. Viviani, Lord Robert Cecil and George Nicoll Barnes engaged in another lively clash after recess over the proposed rule that the questions of the agenda should be considered in the assembly with the committees before the latter deliberated. Yellow and White in a Canadian City

Another Glimpse at the Cafes in Which Chinese Men and White Girls Meet—Where is the Mixing of the Races Going to Lead Canada and Canada's Women?

THE moon hung like a silver hunting horn in the sky. It looked into the homes of all Toronto, preacher and priest, politician and judge, the rich and the poor, the happy and the sad—and gave of its dreaming beauty to all. How many ages has it made lovely for us! And how many ages have we lived unlovely beneath it!

Here on Elizabeth street it shone on two white girls and two Chinamen. I was on my way to the cafe of the suffron sign and they had just come down from the smaller cafe across the street which has no sign except for the call of unlowered blinds.

As I have suggested before these windows which open on boxes are apathosically interesting at times. Standing across the street one night I had seen a Chinaman kiss a girl golden as a bowl of sauterne up here. The four who had come down paused before pairing off. The Chinamen were both small ones of them—a rather gay dog. He had been drinking and his azure-eyed lissom companion was evidently taking care of him.

"I go," he consented, "if you take me home with you." This I heard so plainly there could be no doubt about it. She replied in an undertone and took his arm. She must of a certainty be under twenty-one. The girl with the other Chinaman was younger still—enough like this first one to be her sister; the same willowiness, blue eyes, and dark-colored hair. Her escort was unimpressive as a stale cup of tea, and miniature in size.
