G. G. S. Lindsey's eleven of the gentlemen of Canada is the only other Canadian cricket team that visited Great Britain. All the players were Canadian born and averaged 23 years of age. It will be noticed they played somewhat stronger elevens than the Fleury team will meet.

PARK NINE WINNERS

Defeat Royal Oaks by 2 to 1 in Nine Innings.

Royal Oaks and Park Nine battled the full nine innings in the City Amateur League at Brock-avenue Saturday afternoon before the Park Nine squeezed out the run that gave them a 2 to 1 victory.

It was a pitchers' battle and there was little to choose between McDonald and Clements, the latter was going the best towards the end. A bad error by Legier, which was followed by a hit, allowed the winners to tie it up in the sixth, when they looked like a beaten team.

In the ninth N. Ross doubled, but the Oaks scored their only tally in the first on Leg's double and Spencer's single. The winners played errorless ball, Pringle, N. Ross and Nye making fine plays. The score:

Table with columns: Name, A, B, R, H, O, A, E. Lists players like W. Benson, Nye, etc.

COSTLY WEDDING GIFTS THE RAGE IN ENGLAND AMONG NOUVEAU RICH

Half a-Million Dollars Spent on Miss Drexel's and Miss Mildred Carter Will Receive Nearly As Many.

From a Staff Correspondent. LONDON, June 25.—Not less than $500,000 is the value put on the wedding presents to Lord Malden and Miss Marguerite Drexel on their marriage. A smaller figure will estimate the value of those given to Lord Acheson and Miss Mildred Carter, but in any case it will be uncommonly large.

The string of pearls given to Miss Drexel by her mother has been pronounced by experts to be the most perfect specimen as regards color, size and uniformity in the world and is valued at $100,000. Other Americans possess strings of pearls five times the length of this and pearls which are twice the size, but they cannot compare with Miss Drexel's for the qualities mentioned, more especially in regard to color, which is the most desirable of all essentials where pearls are concerned. For months past experts have been searching all quarters for these stones, Mrs. Anthony Drexel having given the jeweler from whom she ordered the pearls carte blanche, emphasizing only one condition, namely that they were to be precisely what she wished.

Motto of Brides.

The motto among fashionable brides of the day is that a thing may be simple, but it must be perfect of its kind if it is to be acceptable to them. They have no place for anything which is not above reproach and genuine of its kind. At a recent tea which was given to show the bride elect's presents it was noticed that the best things were all in a conspicuous position while the others were stowed away into a dark corner and no one's attention drawn to them.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Charley Bacon of the New York Athletic Club broke the world's record for the one-fifth mile mule race at Coney Park this afternoon, covering the distance in 43.2 seconds, 3.5 second faster than the old mark.

Fashionable brides have to put up with a good deal from those who buy wholesale and by the dozen certain articles which they pass on to each friend about to marry. Clocks are among the objects which certain people in Mayfair 'stock' by the dozen in the cupboards in which are stowed away other items for future use.

Perhaps this was why Miss Drexel received nine clocks and fifteen rose bowls among her gifts. Some of the latter were so beautiful that she no doubt forgives the donors for duplicating. The late King Edward and Queen Alexandra started this notion of purchasing gifts by the dozen. In their case no doubt it was excusable inasmuch as by the giving of the present to each friend they avoided jealousy—the object aimed at.

Babies Prevent Strike Breaking

French Mothers Place Infants on Railway Track to Prevent Removal of Trucks.

SPECIAL Cable to Sunday World. PARIS, June 25.—One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mary-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, on Friday. The wives of the striking quarriesmen drove so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months, and on Friday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work. Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women paced their babies on the rails just as goods trains were about to start on the track.

"Now," they shouted, "let the trains pass if you dare."

There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babies from the rails on the engine's approach, which they knew that the driver would not do to mutilate the innocent little ones.

So it proved, for when the engine had got to within a few yards of the tiny tots it drew up amid shrill yells of triumph from the women.

Police, gendarmes, and railway officials argued with their strikers, who were arrested, but that had no effect. The sub-protect and several high officials of the company, and tried to bring the strikers to terms, but the babies remained on the rails and the men lay down on the track.

All idea of removing the trucks was given up, and in the evening the strikers who still held possession, dragged together a heap of sleepers and set fire to them to keep themselves warm. Their wives meanwhile took their babies home in triumph.
