Canadian Mentions the Dropping Bomb as Mere Incident to Betting During Game—Were Waiting to Attack

London, July 25—A letter from the at 8.30 o'c hundreds of prisoners coming through wire enclosures until trains can take them back. I saw about three hundred officers and men yesterday. It reminded me of a big stock-yard, officers in one torall, men in the other. They wander-dealers are the stock of the stoc dame of a big stock-yard, officers in the corall, men in the other. They wandered aimlessly about the enclosure just like I have seen cattle doing at home. Our loctors were dressing wounds of prisoners hit. There is one young officer who it a distance is the very image of little Willie. For sure they got well fed and looked after.

The incessant roar of guns has almost become necessary to us now. We would wonder what had happened if they stopped. We thought one day our chance had come, as we were right up behind our trenches waiting all day, with sadles on, ready to move in five minutes. But the time was not yet. Where we halted was in a valley, with guns on very side. I have never been among much noise. Our poor horses for the dist hour did not know what was happening. The firing kept up all day, Belore we came away the horses had got quite used to it.

"I and four others in the afternoon were having a little session. I held for lixes and had just made it two fprines to draw, early when an anti-aircraft shell whizzed down a few yards off. I hunched my shoulders and bet five francs, which made them all quit but one. He raised me five and I saw him. He had four nines. We live in the open absolutely, sleeping on the ground, having the sky as a roof. Everyone seems more contented and bright."

I wanted the enclosure just like leader.

A. P. Libby went to New Brunswick this Wednesday afternoon to buy some good cattle for Mr. Hammond to keep during the winter, also to try and get some good ones for A. R. Gould, for his farm at Hobart Hill, beyond Presque Isle.

MAY BE ABANDONED
The search for the body of Miss Constance McGivern has been continued faithfully for ten days since the tragedy with no success, and it is probable that, if tomorrow brings no further success, the men will be laid off and the search abandoned.

"No, my definer my daring? I have hurt you!"

"No, my defirest," he replied gravely.

"The hart I feel is due to the fact that I know it hurts you to feel that you have hurt me!"

"Ah, no! Do not let_that hurt you for an instant. My hurt is because I know it hurts you to feel that I have hurt myself by hurting you."

"No, my precious. My hurt is because you are hurt over feeling that I am hurt, because you feel that you have hurt me, and are therefore hurt yourself, and—"
