The United States and Canada had many common interests, which he outlined, and there should be cooperation between them, he declared. "If I were a Canadian, I should never think of annexation," he said. Hon. Quin O'Brien Declares
That Canada Should be Better Advertised.

"If I were a citizen of the Maritime Provinces of Canada, I would say to the Government at Ottawa that it was poor business for a Canadian rallway carrying Canadian trade to have its terminal in Portland, Me." This was the declaration of Hon. Quin O'Brien, of Chicago; who took the very large Chautauqua audience by storm with his eloquence, and his knowledge of world affairs, last evening. His praise of Canada was given with the sincerity of conviction.

Previous to his lecture, the Smith Spring-Holmes orchestral quintett gave a programme of varled selections, grave and gay, on violin, cello, saxophone, trombone, cornet and filue.

Mr. O'Brien, who is a judge in a Chicago court and a former member of the Illinois Legislature, opened his address with a note of optimism that rang through all his remarks, except when he referred to the Japanese situation, brought about, he said, by unwise management on the part of those who were excluding them.

Canada, he said, would be advertised by him on his return to Chicago where he is attorney for the Continental Bank of that city with assets amounting to five hundred millions of dollars. He would direct investors to Canada with her boundless resources and wonderful possibilities.

The United States and Canada ham amy common Interests, which he

St. John Must Open Up

To get the remaining $120,000 stock subscriptions necessary to ensure the construction in St. John of the proposed Admiral Beatty Hotel, 66 business men of the city began a canvass yesterday that will last until Saturday. Approximately $900,000 had been subscribed before the local effort was launched. If by Saturday St. John takes the $120,000 in stock this city will have the big up-to-date United Hotel; if not this generation may not live to see such a structure. St. John must rise to the occasion.

While he derived some pleasure from parts of St. John which had remained unchanged in the last 40 years he spoke optimistically of the city's future. He believed from what he had read of St. John recently that the tide of its fortunes was now turning towards a period of great prosperity.
