Dr. Weizmann Says Jewish State Is Little League of Nations Itself.

New York, March 16.—A suggestion that Jerusalem be chosen as the seat of the League of Nations was voiced by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, at a luncheon given in his honor on Tuesday by a group of editors and publishers.

Terrible Headaches And Dizziness

Miss S. Raphael, 287 Kenilworth Ave., N. Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I used to suffer from terrible headaches and dizziness. Last summer, while I was walking up a side street, I got a dizzy spell and fell in the middle of the road. An old gentleman helped me to get to where I was going and told me to get a jar of Milburn's Laxative Pills. Well, I did, and they did wonders for me. I don't know how to thank you, as I don't get headaches or dizzy spells any more."

How to Use Vicks VapoRub For Deep Grip Colds

First, It Is Very Important That a Thorough Rubefacient or Counter-Irritant Effect Be Produced on the Surface of the Skin Around the Lungs.

This Draws the Blood From the Congested Lungs and Lessens the Danger of Pneumonia.

THEN TREAT WITH VICKS

Starting in the Southern States of the U. S. A., an epidemic of deep, grippiness colds has been spreading Northward gradually until just recently it seems to have invaded Canada. In some sections these colds have been called influenza, but they are so much milder than the influenza cases during the first epidemic that health authorities have not agreed as to whether these cases were all due to the same infection or even whether there has been any germ influenza.

"Flu" Germ Discovered. New light has been thrown upon these matters by the announcement by Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, that the germ of influenza has been identified. The Institute staff, thru experiments on rabbits, has found how this germ injures the lung tissue so that it is no longer able to resist health, to destroy the common bacteria of the nose and throat that cause bronchitis and pneumonia.

The Danger Is From Pneumonia. It, therefore, behooves anybody who develops a deep grippiness cold to take his case seriously and work fast if all danger of pneumonia is to be avoided. What is needed is something to decrease the congestion of the lungs. For this purpose there is nothing like a rubefacient or counter-irritant, as witnessed by the use of blisters, poultices and plasters for generations. This counter-irritant reddens the skin—draws the blood from the congested parts to the surface, the circulation is improved; there is a sense of warmth and the possibility of pneumonia is greatly lessened.

Quick Counter-Irritant Needed. The value of this counter-irritant effect is greatly increased if it is produced quickly. Nearly every family has its favorite method—onion poultices, turpentine stipes, mustard plasters and poultices of various kinds—all are good. A very simple method is to apply towels wrung out in hot water, as hot as the patient can stand. This not only reddens the skin quickly, but also opens the pores so that more Vicks can be absorbed. Some, however, prefer to use an ordinary mustard plaster, as the reddening effect lasts longer.

How to Heat and Apply Towels. Use an open kettle of very hot, not boiling water. Fold a medium weight towel, lay it into another towel, and holding the outer towel by its ends, let soak for two minutes. Wring out by twisting the outer towel. Apply the hot towel for two minutes, meanwhile heating another towel, and applying when the moment the first is taken off. Two applications usually will produce the desired redness, but use three or four if necessary.

Parts To Be Treated. Whatever method is used, the application should be applied over the throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. In very deep colds, the sides and especially the back from the middle of the shoulder blades to a point just above the waist, should also be treated. The patient should be given a good purgative, and, if convenient, a hot mustard footbath for ten minutes—one tablespoon of mustard to a gallon of water.

DENIES LABOR IS SOURCE OF WEALTH

Lord Leverhulme Discusses the Possibility of Earning £100,000 a Year.

London, March 16.—An interesting debate, conducted by mail, has been going on between Lord Leverhulme, soap manufacturer, and Thomas Kennedy, secretary of the Social Democratic Federation on the question whether it is possible for a man by working to make £100,000 a year.

Mr. Kennedy took exception to a statement by Lord Leverhulme that he knew of young men who were content with £5,000 a year allowances from their fathers while they might, by entering business and working make £100,000.

Lord Leverhulme quoted the case of Henry Ford to show that it was possible for a man to make not only £100,000 but £2,000,000 a year.

Mr. Kennedy rejoined that there was a vital difference between making £100,000 by exploiting other people's labor.

To this Lord Leverhulme replied that he could not for one moment accept the notion that he could not possibly have made that amount of money for himself.

When I was 33 years of age," he wrote, "I decided to go into the soap business. The only opening was through a business that had been losing money. I took over the same staff. These men had produced nothing but losses for my predecessor, but from the moment I took hold of the business the losses ceased and the profits began.

In the second year I found I had made £50,000. I was strongly of the opinion you hold, that I could not possibly have made that amount of money for myself. Reviewing the whole position, however, I could only find that I had the same staff who had lost money for my predecessor. I paid higher wages and higher salaries and had somewhat eased the hours of labor. It was merely the system and system I had adopted that was responsible for turning a loss of several thousands a year into a profit of £50,000 a year."

FIVE NEW LIGHT VESSELS. Boston Herald: Five light vessels now under construction at Bath, Me., will enable the bureau of the Department of Commerce to make important changes in beacons stationed in New England waters and particularly in Narragansett and Vineyard sounds. The Bath Iron Works has the contract well in hand, and trials of at least one fine steel vessel should take place next month.

The ships are from fifty per cent. to ninety per cent. completed, and, in every way, combine seaworthiness with comfort for crews. Their lights, too, and their signals are the best that Yankee ingenuity can devise.

FOG IN BOSTON. Wednesday's Boston Herald says: Fog yesterday forced a number of overseas ships to remain in the offing to await improved conditions, and the day early in the morning the City of Gloucester, from Gloucester, and considerably behind schedule in reaching her berth at Central wharf. When the fog lifted late in the afternoon vessels anchored in quarantine put to sea.

CHIEF OF POLICE. A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

And instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

Frank Simpson, charged with having been stronger than permitted under the act in his beer shop in Mill street, was before the Magistrate yesterday afternoon. Evidence was given by inspectors Killen and Carson, and the accused was fined $200. W. M. Ryan appeared for the prosecution.

DECIDE FILM OWNERSHIP. Supreme Court Gives Fight to "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse."

Washington, March 16.—In an opinion handed down by Associate Justice Holmes, the United States Supreme Court decided that the sole rights to the moving picture film "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" belonged to the Fox Film Corporation. It was understood later from representatives of the Fox interests that producers now showing the film with this title would have either to make a settlement or would have to cease exhibiting the picture.

During the argument of this case before the Supreme Court, W. J. Hughes, Alfred A. Wreat and Otto O. Scholten, attorneys for the Fox Film Corporation, contended that their client obtained exclusive rights from Carleton's executor and from Harper & Brothers. The decision in the case hung on whether the laws gave an executor the right of renewal of copyright. The defendants argued that they did not, and that, therefore, the copyright had expired. The United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, agreed with the contention, but today Mr. Justice Holmes reversed the lower court and dismissed decrees which it had issued.

Carleton wrote "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" and assigned his interest in these poems to Harper & Brothers, which published them in 1873.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling, ordinary digestive ailments which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any drugist a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia. It is a harmless, non-toxic, non-digestible food of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and blood right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD. Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

TRAFFIC RECORD ON PANAMA CANAL

168 Vessels, Including 81 War Craft, Through in Week of Feb. 17.

Washington, March 15.—A new high record for Panama Canal traffic was established during the week ended Feb. 17, when 168 vessels, including eighty-one ships, passed through the canal. The naval craft passed through to join ships of the Pacific fleet for joint maneuvers in Pacific waters without delay to commercial traffic.

Despite the heavy load, requiring operation of the locks until late at night, the traffic was handled by the regular organizations without any special arrangements being made, according to the current issue of the canal. "And no merchant vessel failed of prompt transit on account of the passage of the fleet."

The bulk of the traffic was one way, although the commercial business of the canal was heavier than usual for the week, aggregating 414,567 tons, while the naval vessels totalled 314,940 tons. On Feb. 14, Gatun locks passed through twenty commercial craft, six destroyers, a mine sweeper and two naval auxiliary ships in 16 hours and 17 minutes. On Feb. 21 a total of twenty-one lockages were made, setting a new daily record, in 15 hours and 38 minutes. Fourteen commercial ships, five battleships, three submarines, three mine sweepers, two barges and an auxiliary ship were sent through, making a total of thirty-eight craft, or a new daily record in that respect.

During the argument of this case before the Supreme Court, W. J. Hughes, Alfred A. Wreat and Otto O. Scholten, attorneys for the Fox Film Corporation, contended that their client obtained exclusive rights from Carleton's executor and from Harper & Brothers. PRINCE OF WALES SETS OWN MODES

Taste in Clothing Declared "Exotic" by Experts.

London, March 16.—The Prince of Wales is still arbiter of men's fashions. How the Prince's taste affects them was illustrated at the annual clothing exhibition at Agricultural Hall. Experts declared that the "Prince had rather an exotic taste in clothes, and whatever he orders in Jermyn street is slavishly followed by the 'knuts' in town."

An example of this is a sweater which the Prince has been wearing recently. It is of highly colored jazz material, and created a mild sensation at Hurlingham. Then there is "batswing tie." The Prince has set this fashion, the tie being drawn so that there was only a single loop visible on each side. He was also responsible for the one button-up coat. He has a very slim waist and this effect is produced by buttoning the top button. It looks well on him.

Other features for which the Prince has been largely responsible recently are the revival of the silk hat and the use of the hard felt hat. "What I like about the Prince," said one of the experts, "is that he will please himself. He is like his grandfather, King Edward, who, not caring for what persons thought, creased his trousers sideways instead of down the front and back."
