

EXCELLENT ART WORK EXHIBITED

Showing of Local Art Club at Y. M. C. A. Building is Best Yet.

A splendid demonstration of the artistic abilities of the young people of St. John can be seen at the Y. M. C. A. building, where the annual exhibition of the St. John Art Club opened today. More than 400 pieces of work are exhibited and they cover practically all classes of art work, including several pieces of commercial art. In the opinion of C. H. Flewelling, who, with the teacher, Miss Bessie R. Holt is looking after the display, the exhibits are the best that have been seen in the city since the opening of the school.

The work includes water color and pastel drawings, charcoal work, pen and ink and pencil work and a few oils. In the commercial division are several posters and show cards, done in black and white and colors, which are creditable pieces of work.

The most numerous works of one pupil are those of Tommie Campbell, and they cover a wide range of subjects, including oils, water colors, charcoal sketches and posters. Miss Edythe Mitchell also has a fine collection of water colors and other subjects.

One of the most striking exhibits is a large framed water color done by Fred W. Ryan, who is sixteen years old. It depicts the scene from the Three Musketeers where D'Artagnan and the famous trio meet and do battle with the Cardinal's guards. It is an excellent study and shows a great deal of care and attention to detail; the coloring and shading are particularly well executed. Master Ryan exhibited a similar picture at last year's exhibition, but he was not entirely satisfied with the work, so the new picture is the result; it represents practically the whole winter's concentration of the lad, and is certainly well worth the time expended on it.

Wallace Brander is another whose work is well above the average. He has several charcoal, pencil and pen exhibits, all of them fine pieces of drawing. The most outstanding one is that of a church interior with several figures prominent in the foreground that is worthy of special mention.

Eight Year Olds.

The work of some of the juveniles is remarkable, considering their tender years. Little David Lynch, although only eight, has on display some water color and charcoal drawings that would do credit to a person many years his senior. He is a son of David Lynch of M. R. A., Ltd., who is himself well known for his commercial art work.

Another younger whose work shows her artistry is little Donald Jennings, eight-year-old daughter of F. L. Jennings, whose water colors are nice pieces of art.

Also amongst the juvenile work are some well done water colors by little Beatrice McKinnon, last year's St. John Princess, and Angelina Gregory, who is also a gifted elocutionist and dancer.

The following pupils of the school have work on exhibition: Teddy Campbell, David Lynch, Wallace Brander, Elizabeth Stead, Frances Gilbert, Gladys Fletcher, Edythe Mitchell, Robbie Stack, George Buckley, Catherine Paterson, Margaret Gray, Margaret Ayer, Mildred Chase, Dorothy Campbell, Edith Ellis, Nellie Ellis, Angeline Gregory, Elizabeth Peat, Elaine Cunningham, Mabel Smith, Ellen Gregory, Marjorie Evans, Edith Wilson, Fred Ryan, Alice Lee, Stuart Trueman, Donald Gunn, Miller Brittain, Helen McCready, Maxine Mullin, Lillian Price, Lillian Northrup and Edgar Hay.

VETERAN OF SEA PASSES AWAY

Captain Matthew M. Adams Dead; Was 60 Years a Mariner.

Another link in the chain between old and new times in St. John was snapped this morning when Capt. Matthew M. Adams passed away at the home of his son, Matthew G. Adams, 166 Waterloo street. Captain Adams was one of the men who made the name of St. John known on the seven seas and sailed many of the clipper ships from this port and from the port of New York.

He was born in the North of Ireland but came to Canada when a small boy with his parents. He adopted the seafaring life and for about 60 years followed the sea. About 12 years ago he retired and had been living with his son. He had enjoyed good health until the present winter.

He is survived by one son and two grandchildren. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon from his late residence, Waterloo street.
