Dalton McCarthy Criticizes the Action of Gov. Schultz or of the state of the state of the (From a member of the Sun staff.) Ottawa, May 9.-This afternoon Mr. Chariton gave notice of a motion to get his Sabbath Observance bill before the house next Monday, this course being necessitated by the fact that the committee of the whole rose last night without reporting progress on the measure. Hon. Mr. Costigan laid the fisheries report on the table today, and Hon. Dr. Montague introduced the government bill to make the present electoral revision do duty for next year.

Before orders of the day were reached Mr. McCarthy moved the adjournment of the house for the purpose of criticising the conduct of Governor Schultz and the dominion government in making public an opinion Gov. Schultz had obtained from Dr. Bouri-not on the Manitoba school question. He contended that while the governor of Manitoba could for his own information consult expert authority on public questions and submit such information to his constitutional advisers, he had no right to make it public without their consent, which had not been obtained in this case. Dr. Bourinot's deliverance had appeared in the Empire and Montreal Gazette, and he was informed that it had been given to these papers by the dominion premier. On this basis Mr. McCarthy charged that Gov. Schultz, wanting a second term of office, had conspired with Premier Bowell to overthrow the Greenway government, and that this was the first act in the programme.

The opinion which had been obtained from Dr. Bourinot under false pretenses he condemned as incorrect and misleading in every particular. He pronounced the course of Governor Schultz utterly unconstitutional, asserting that there was no parallel to this outrage since the days of King

Hon. Mr. Foster replied very effect tively to Mr. McCarthy. He pointed cut that the main part of the specch was based on information taken from the head lines and body of Ottawa correspondence, and that it was unworthy of a man in his position to endeavor to excite prejudice against Governor Schultz by repeating street rumors. As to the object of his recent visit to Ottawa, Hon. Mr. Poster showed that it was the right of a lieutenant governor to visit any part of the dominion, and that he might come to the capital at his own pleasure or by request of the federal government. In consulting Dr. Bourino Gov. Schultz had applied to the highest authority on constitutional ques tions in Canada, and the opinion he had obtained was absolutely non-po-The gravamen of Mr. Mc-Carthy's charge appeared to be that Gov. Schultz had not buttoned up his pockets so that reporters could not get hold of the document. If the governor had published an opinion of his own there might be cause for complaint, but no one could possibly be injured by sending broadcast Dr. Bourinot's deliverance on such a live question. He (Foster) admitted frankly that the opinion had been given to the press by Premier Bowell and ridiculed the charge that it was done to force Greenway's hand. There was no evidence to show that the governor had acted without the consent of his In conclusion the finance advisers. minister took Mr. McCarthy sharply to task for presenting a case that was all hypotheses, all put with a note of interrogation, all innuendo and insinu-

Hon. Mr. Dickey emphasized fact that Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Mills would deprive lieutenant governors of the right to consult high constitutional authorities.

Mr. Martin seized the opportunity to make a ferocious onslaught on Gov-ernor Schultz, and became so violent as to call forth a pointed rebuke from the speaker. When Hon. Mr. Daly rose in his place and denied the truth of one of his charges, Martin excitedly replied "I don't care whether it is true or not." In the course of his remarks he said he would take Mr. Mc-Carthy's opinions on constitutional that of Dr. Bourinot, and asked Mr. Foster if the Manitoba school question was not a To this Mr. Foster raised a storm of conservative cheers by asking "If it is, on which side is my hon. friend and

NOTES. The public accounts committee had a stormy session today, and the chairman had his hands full trying to maintain order. Messrs. McMullen, Lister, Davies, Mulock and other lib erals grew so outrageous in heir attacks on the travelling expenses of ministers that Sir Richard Cartwright had to call them down. He said in his most pointed manner that he did not believe in cabinet ministers travel-

(From a member of the Sun staff.) Ottawa, May 10.-The resumption of the budget debate was delayed till 4.30 this afternoon by a lively discussion which arose out of the remarks with which Mr. Davies supplemented his demand that the government should instantly inform the house as to the exact state of the negotiations Newfoundland. He took for his text telegrams from Newfoundland into-day's papers, and charged that the government were trying to perpetrate the crime of getting the ancient colony into the Canadian confederacy without an appeal to the people at the polls. He further enquired if the government of Newfoundland had asked for a reply to its ultimatum and what was the nature of the ulti-

Hon. Mr. Foster met the P. E. Island literal's attack by formally refusing to place anything before parliament with respect to the negotiations until they had reached the final stage. He then proceeded to show up the tactics of the liberal leaders, who, while posing as advocates of the union of Newfoundland, were doing all in their power to prevent its consummation by assuring the people of Canada that the islanders were paupers and the people of Newfoundland that Canadians had been robbed and ruined by conservative taxation and conservative extravagance. He said he would, however, give one piece of information, namely, that the government of Canada had received many telegrams and that a reply had been sent to the last telegram received. This pleasantry on Hon. Mr. Foser's part aroused the ire of Sir Richard Cartwright, who fumed to his feet and accused the finance minster of gross deceit, a remark that he had to retract on the call of the speaker. Sir Richard tried to make it appear that his words were only in reference to Foster's failure to produce the supplementry estimates on a given day, but the house laughed ironically at the gallant knight's explanation.

Mr. Mills of Bothwell contended that Mr. Davies stood on solid constitutional ground in demanding that parliament had the right to know the exact terms of the negotiations. He charged that the admission of Newfoundland in the way proposed would be the funeral of the conservative

Hon. Dr. Montague in a brilliant speech showed the ridiculous position which Mr. Mills had placed himself by affirming that parliament should be consulted before the completion of the negotiations, which could only take effect after the house had approved of their every detail. He said the opposition had only raised another tempest a teapot, and that no negotiations of this kind could be carried on if made public before the proper time. This was Dr. Montague's most eloquent speech so far this session, and he was repeatedly cheered by the conservative benches.

Mr. Laurier, who said Dr. Montague had evaded the real issue, backed up Mr. Davies' contention, so far as to urge that the people of Canada had as much right to know what was going on as the people of Newfoundland, He eulogized Mr. Davies' persistence in this matter, but regretted it was not equal to the inertia of the govern-

Mr. Foster in his reply carried the war into Africa in a manner that evoked cheer after cheer. He exposed the inconsistencies of the opposition on this and other questions, and tak-ing up the issue itself, demonstrated that the government were following the British practice in refusing to make public negotiations with another country before they had been concluded. After expressing regret that the opposition leaders in their zeal to attack the government and discredit it before the country had taken their stand so far from constitutional ground, the finance minister eloquently warned them they had hard work before them ere they reached the desired haven. They had to rid themselves of incapacity in the very vital parts of their policy. They had got to get a fisca! policy, something the better people could understand, something hey could understand themselves (Cheers.) He reminded them that their record was not a good one, and that not many years ago they sailed so close to treason that the people would never forget it. When the time came, whatever their policy, whatever their actics, the conservative party were prepared for them at the polls. (Great

Mr. Davies, red in the face trembling with emotion, jumped to his feet, and, pounding the desk, accused Mr. Foster of having demonstrated his utter lack of the qualities a premier should possess. Mr. Martin, who followed him, spoke after recess till eleven o'clock. He tried to rival Sir Richard Cartwright as a financial critic and Messrs. Mc Mullen and Davies in their denunciation of the finance minister.

Mr. Taylor moved adjournment of the debate, which will be resumed on Monday and continued from day to day till concluded.

NOTES. Premier Greenway and Attorney General Sifton will be here next week, no doubt in connection with the Manitoba school question. The inland revenue for April was $748,923, against $437,670 for April, 1894. Major Markham left this afternoon for Montreal. Mr. Perry has four notices on today's paper about the Miminigash breakwater, the collection of dues at Tignish breakwater, and the fog at North Cape. The tactics of the opposition in wasting day after day in idle and irrelevant talk lend color to the growing b lief that the session will run well through the summer. There is good reason for believing that before the Manitoba legislature meets again on June 13th a compromise on the school question will have been reached. It is said today on good authority that negotiations to that end are in progress.

Hon. Mr. Ives made a keen reply to Mr. Davies, and after Mr. McMullen had tried to tell a funny story, but miserably failed, the debate dropped. It will be some time, however, be-fore the effects of this, the hottest episode of the session, will pass away. Hon. Mr. Dickey then resumed th adjourned budget debate, and was folowed by Mr. Martin, who had the floor at six o'clock. Hon. Mr. Dickey made an excellent speech, calm, argumentative and well delivered. The report from Winnipeg that his excellency the governor general had confidentially made certain suggestions to Premier Greenway with reference to the situation does not excite surprise here. If any such con tions were made they would be entirely of an unofficial character and therefore not likely to be published. It would be only natural on the part of those who have most to do with guiding public opinion on this subject that they should obtain the calm and unprejudiced views, free from any party bias and therefore strictly impartial, of some such important personage as

The deposits in the government savings banks on the 30th April amounted to $17,055,044, the deposits during the month having been $261,367; drawals, $304,078.

The customs receipts during the nonth of April show a considerable increase, the figures being $2,896,500, against $2,442,538 in April last year. The expenditure on account of consolidated fund during the month was $2,375,801. During April, 1894, the expenditure was $2,183,624. The surplus of expenditure over ordinary expen diture in April was $520,699; in April. 1894, the apparent surplus was $258,914. For the ten months, however, the apparent surplus was but $1,228,806, as against $4,773,003 at the corresponding date last year. The retrenchment ac complished during the month of April is practically illustrated in the comparative statement of capital expenditure. This during April, 1894, amounted to $208,278, as compared with but $57,798 last month. If, too, the revenues have shrunk during the year the expenditure on capital account has also been kept down. To the 30th of April, 1894, the expenditure under this head was $4,060,618. At the close of the ten months of the current fiscal year it had reached but $3,330,994.

The opening of the season's cheese sales west at at 7 to 7 1-4c, or 3c below the opening a year ago, suggests to the Trade Bulletin a reference to the season of 1879-80, when the price went down to 5 and 6c. But that was abnormal, and there was a reaction to 11 and 12c, and one large holder bagged a profit of $200,000. Some Montreal exporters think the price will drop as low as 6c this season, but they do not look for any 11 or 122 rate

SACKVILLE CHURCH LADIES. A Sackville correspondent of May 11th writes: The young ladies of St. Paul's church, assisted by a few of their friends, gave a very successful entertainment last evening. The programme opened with Howell's farce, The Mouse Trap, which was carried through in a very spirited manner The shrieks at the discovery of the supposed mouse were sufficiently realistic to cause numerous sympathetic shivers among the feminine portion of the audience. The leading parts were taken by Miss Emillie Willis and Fred Walker with great acceptance. tableaux were all extremely well put on and were decidedly the best yet given in the Music hall. The costumes were very artistic, the posing good and lights well managed. The series Night and Morning, and the Two Sides of Life were particularly good ropsy Turvy was executed with great zead by a number of little boys, and the amusing alternation of a row of broadly smiling faces and a medley vigorously kicking heels brought down the house. The pantomime of Bachelor perhaps showed the histrionic abilities of the young people to the Miss Laura Deacon est advantage. of the Ladies' college kindly rendered the song Happy Days, to which Miss Heartz played a charming violin obligato. Miss Deacon's fine, full soprano roice never sounded to better advantage, and she responded to an enthus iastic encore with a very taking Spanish song. Miss Susan Cogswell acco panied on the piano very acceptably, bringing out in the second song the guitar like effect of the music very distinctly. Miss Alice White, also from Mt. Allison, gave a humorous recital, Tom Sawyer Administering Pain Kil ler to His Aunt's Cat, extremely well, and answered her hearty encore with Tit For Tat, also a humorous selection. The performance closed with a tiny little girl appearing in her robe de nuit, with a lighted candle in one chirbby hand, while with the other she threw kisses to the audience and wished them "good night." In spite of the storm there was a good attendince and a neat sum was realized.

Springfield, Mass., May 8.-The Young Men's Christian association in national convention was formally called to order at 3.30 this afternoon in the State street Baptist church. G. N. Bierce of Dayton, Ohio, the Ohio president, presided and opened with a brief address of welcome, saying that the Y. M. C. A. could look back over its past with thanksgiving and look forward to the future for better progress. The next business was the appointment of a nominating committee consisting of one member from each state, territory and province to bring in a list of officers for the convention. THE EXHIBITION.

Also That Winners of First Prizes Have the Option of Money or Diploma.

As announced in the Sun a few days ago, committees from the Farmers and Dairymen's association and the Exhibition association met in the office of the latter on Canterbury street Friday afternoon to discuss the adrisability of introducing the score card system for judging live stock, and lairy, agricultural and horticultural products. The Farmers' committee was comosed of W. W. Hubbard, Major Montgomery Campbell and H. B. White. mong the members of the exhibition association present were S. S. Hall, chairman, C. A. Eeverett, J. A. S. Mott, Dr. Thos. Walker, Dr. J. T. Steeves, Dr. Frink, S. T. Golding, Ira Cornwall and Major Tucker.

W. W. Hubbard introduced the subject for discussion by presenting the reason urged by the farmers' association for adopting the system, as foltion for adopting the system, as follows:

The score card system of judging assists in establishing—

(1) A uniform standard of value for each class of exhibits: By agreement a certain standard of value is taken; for instance, the St. John market, or in the case of cheese, the English market. The cards are made out by this standard and all exhibits judged by it. Where judges are put on under the old system it has frequently happened that each judge judged entirely by his own individual taste, oftentimes without regard to the demands of the market or any other other standard.

(2) The avoidance of different standards of individual tastes by different judges, and of partiality to exhibitors. The judge has to leave the record of his judgment on each exhibit, and he has not nearly the same chance to be partial where he has to deliver his judgment in detail, and so explain it as if he had no details to bother him, and did not have to leave a record.

(3) Greater fairness and impartiality than any other system. The decision, after the adding up of the points he has given is manifestly an account of the two arguments stated above, apt to be fair and impartial; and more satisfactory to the exhibitor, because the reason of the scoring is given on the card.

(4) A greater educational value for the exand more satisfactory to the exhibitor, because the reason of the scoring is given on the card.

(4) A greater educational value for the exhibition. The score of each exhibit, as it stands on the card, in comparison with a perfect score, shows at a glance to both exhibitor and visitor in what points the exhibitor and visitor in what points the exhibitor and visitor in what points the exhibition that cannot be got without this score card. It enables the exhibitor, from seeing his defect, to so correct his practice that he may buy articles another year that will score closer to the standard, thus giving an impetus to improvement in every class. And what is better, it will be an intelligent improvement; he will know just what points he most needs to improve, and it will enable him to duplicate his best products.

(5) A greater attractiveness for the visitor. The system of nameless exhibits and unexplained awards gives the visitor no information in detail. The show can be seen, but in much the same way as a book can be sen by looking at its cover. The score card system opens the book and gives all the details of the story.

(6) The means of providing a valuable record of the character and relative standing of exhibits. The press could arrange to tabulate the scoring of exhibits and present them to the public, and so provide a record of the exhibition that would not only be very valuable to the exhibitors themselves, but very interesting to all farmers.

(7) A valuable example to our local shows. And lastly from the point of view of our association it would be an illustration highly instructive to the officers of our agricultural societies and enable them to carry out the system in their local shows.

The subject was fully discussed by the gentlemen present.

The subject was fully discussed by the gentlemen present. Messrs. Hall and Cornwall stated that at the last exhibition the judging of horses and Jersey cattle, which was done by the score card, gave by all odds the most satisfaction. Major Campbell urged the value of the system from an educative stand-

After full discussion it was resolved that the conference recommend to the directors of the Exhibition association the advisability of introducing the core card system in all departments of agricultural exhibits.

Another matter was tken up, and it was also resolved to recommend the advisability of giving owners of first prizes the option of taking either money or diploma.

FOR SOUSA'S BAND. The management of Sousa's band have arranged with the Oratorio society for the society to give two choruses each night at the two concerts to be given by them in St. Andrew's rink in this city on June 4th and 5th. The society does not expect to give a concert this spring, but will probably arrange for a grand musical festival during the exhibition week in the autumn. The society will therefore make the band concerts take the place of its usual June festival. Never in the history of the society will it be heard to better effect, for it will be accompanied by the full band of fifty ieces, and the choruses being all popular ones and selected with care as to the different works, so as to give the audience a knowledge of the different composers. The society commence regular practice on Monday night, and will soon have them perfect, as they are familiar to each member. The choruses selected are: All Men, All Things, Hymn of Praise. Mendelssohn; The Heavens are Telling, Creation, Haydn; Thanks be to God, Elijah, Mendelssohn; Hallelujah, Messiah, Handel.
